Taxpayers To Get Appeals Hearings

Some 45 Garrett County taxpayers, who have been waiting several months for property tax assessment hearings before the Garrett County Tax Appeals Board, should soon get their long-awaited hearings, according to Jerry Moyer, supervisor of taxes and assessments for Garrett County.

Behind the delay was a misunderstanding on the part of the assessment office and the Garrett County Commissioners who thought, first, that all three members of the Appeals Board had to be present to legally hold tax appeal hearings, and secondly, that only one name needed to be forwarded to Gov. Harry Hughes to fill a vacancy on the Appeals Board.

Earlier this year, the name of Max Messenger was sent to the Governor for his endorsement for the Board. To date, no appointment has been made.

However, Michael Silbers, supervisor of all Maryland Appeals Boards, said Tuesday that Garrett County under state law "must definitely go ahead with hearings with two members present. Two members are a quorum when there is a vacancy."

He also pointed out and informed the Garrett County Commissioners that according to Article 81 of state law, three names must always be submitted to fill any state board vacancy.

Garrett County administrator Marshall Rickert said that the county commissioners were forwarding two more names to the governor to clear up the misunderstanding and expedite the appointment.

Meanwhile, county taxpayers were urged to pay their tax bills, which are expected to be mailed out within the next two weeks. A refund plus interest would be paid to taxpayers whose assessments might be lowered during tax appeals hearings, according to Silbers.

Two Arrested, Deputy Injured In Disturbance

Two persons were arrested and one deputy was slightly injured in a fracas at Joe's Place near Oakland Friday evening when the deputy was struck by a shoe-wielding woman.

Deputy Paul Pratt responded to the tavern after a call from employees reported disorderly subjects causing problems there. When Deputy Pratt arrived, he had some difficulty apprehending the two subjects, and called for reinforcements from the sheriff's force.

Deputy Van Evans responded to the scene, and was injured when he was struck with a high-heeled shoe. The wound required two stitches at the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency room.

Arrested and charged with assault and battery, resisting arrest, and disturbing the peace were Gary Tinsley, 29, and Tammy Fitzgerald, 22, of Loch Lynn.

The two arrested were transported to the Allegany County jail, where they remain in lieu of bond payment. No trial date has been set.

Fire Damages Kitzmiller Home

Quick response by three volunteer fire companies last Wednesday afternoon prevented serious damage to the residence of Joseph Ervin, who resides on West Main Street, Kitzmiller.

Central Alarm dispatched Kitzmiller, Deer Park and Elk Garden volunteer firemen and Southern Rescue Squad to the scene at 1:03 p.m. Smoke reportedly was visible when firemen arrived.

Robert H. Shimer, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, said the fire originated in a stuffed chiar located in the living room. The fire was discovered by a neighbor, Kenneth Knotts, who called the fire department.

Shimer noted firemen found it necessary to force open a window on the front porch to gain entry. Upon entry, they found the chair burning in the living room, and removed it to the outside.

The blaze had spread to a nearby partition, however, and burned to a second floor area. The living room wall and a bedroom wall were damaged.

The house is owned by John and George Hudson, who reside outside the area. Shimer added Ervin is in the process of moving from the building.

The investigation by Mr. Shimer for the state fire marshal's office recorded that the fire was most likely caused by a carelessly dropped cigarette.

Occupants Escape Unharmed As Fire Claims Workshop

A Gorman resident and his son narrowly escaped injury when fire claimed a workshop and its contents on their property on White Church-Steyer Road early Friday afternoon.

According to a spokesman for the Gorman volunteer fire company, Clarence Stemple and his son were working in the building when suddenly there was a "ball of flame" between them and the door. Mr. Stemple ran through the flames to the outside, while his son fled through a window.

Firemen from Gorman, Deer Park and Oakland were called by Central Alarm shortly before 1 p.m., and Gorman responded with two pumpers. The other companies were turned back before they reached the scene, as was the Southern Garrett rescue squad.

Firemen found the structure almost totally destroyed when they arrived. Also destroyed were tools, car engines and transmissions, paint, and hay stored in the building.

One pumper remained at the County Turns Down Current State Plan For AMERITEC Mining Facility

Garrett County has decided it wants no part of a $12 million AMERITEC regional coal mining training facility, under the present proposal from the State Department of Economic and Community Development.

A report on the proposed AMERITEC coal facility was so "patched together," according to a Garrett County planning official, that about half of the report named McHenry or Garrett Community College as the proposed site, while other pages in the report refer to a Westernport site for the deep mining facility.

Besides the actual location of the mining center, Garrett officials pointed out other inconsistencies and assumptions that would make such a project out of the question for the county, as proposed.

County administrator W. Marshall Rickert said the rationale for building such a facility was based on "highly improbable growth prospects for Garrett County, and involved some $400,000 in hidden costs for the county."

County planning director Tim Dugan also said that because the state underestimated proposed operating costs for the facility by about 50 percent, it overlooked $250,000 in operating costs.

The state even failed to mail the Garrett County Commissioners a copy of the AMERITEC proposal, according to Mr. Dugan, who managed to secure a coverless copy of the proposal through another party.

Sen. Edward J. Mason (R-Allegany, Garrett), who was involved in the AMERITEC project for over a year, said the coal facility would most likely be built in the Westernport area to best serve the regional needs of Western Maryland, West Virginia and parts of Western Pennsylvania.

Sen. Mason reportedly said in an interview a month ago that the AMERITEC project was brought to his attention through the state departments of education and Community and Economic development.

Basically a state and federally-funded project, the AMERITEC facility, if developed, would offer a deep mining technology program what would employ simulated deep mining conditions.

Sen. Mason also said last month that revenues from the mining industry would far outweigh any costs to the counties involved.

Robert Trantham, Dean of Garrett Community College, said that the proposed AMERITEC project would not have, in its present form, enhanced the present program of coal mining technology at the college.

He noted that the college had prepared an alternative plan for AMERITEC, but no word has been received on whether the alternative project was incorporated into the state plan.

Dean Trantham noted that college officials felt that by placing the complex in Westernport, Garrett and Allegany could share the project and that as a resource center, AMERITEC could be a very adequate and unique addition to mining technology for both counties.

The Dean also said that although the AMERITEC concept was fine in theory, groundwork apparently was not as adequate as it could have been.

Bolden Files Order To Prevent Tax Hike; Gregg May File Counter Suits

Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden (R-Garrett, Allegany) has filed a suit in Garrett County Circuit Court seeking a temporary restraining order to prevent the county commissioners from hiking the county's tax rate from $2.45 to $2.66 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Bolden filed the suit late Friday afternoon through attorney Thomas B. Dabney, with Circuit Court Clerk Clifford DeWitt.

The restraining order would prohibit the commissioners from imposing the increased tax rate, and Arzella Parsons, county treasurer, from collecting taxes at the recently-approved increased rate.

The Commissioners have until July 17 to file an answer.

The suit is based on the premise that the commissioners failed to comply with stipulations in the state's constant yield tax rate law, in that they failed to announce at a public hearing the ordinance or resolution adopting the tax rate, and also failed to announce the actual time and place the tax levy would be adopted.

Although the counties are not obliged to strictly adhere to tax rate amounts dictated by the constant yield guidelines, the state does spell out certain procedures to be followed if a rate other than the constant yield is formulated.

A simplified definition of constant yield rate theory is: tax rate multiplied by property assessments equals revenues needed to maintain government services. The following year, increase in the assessable base, after one-third of the county properties are reassessed, would allow the tax rate to be cut, while total revenues would remain the same. Hence, a "constant yield" of revenue with lowered tax rates levied.

The constant yield theory apparently does not take into account any needed increases due to inflation, wage increases, hikes in costs of gasoline and supplies, etc.

The constant yield rate for Garrett County for fiscal 1979-80 would be $2.37 per $100, which would yield exactly the same amount of revenue as last year's $7,880,422.

Commissioners Truman Paugh and H. Lester Hunter approved this year's $10,016,444 budget June 19, while Commissioner Ernie Gregg refused to sign.

Bolden said that in light of the public hearing which drew over 500 persons overwhelmingly opposed to the tax increase, and in view of other counties in the state who received piggyback income tax and a redistribution of the moot vehicle titling tax, he feels the increase is unjustified.

He went on to say that particularly disturbing to him is action by Baltimore City and other subdivisions in Maryland to lower tax rates or keep the rates the same as the previous year.

Bolden also said Gov. Harry R. Hughes' action to redistribute $28 million of state surplus money to the counties was aimed at providing direct relief to taxpayers. "Garrett County received $547,000 from the refund of motor vehicle title tax money from the state, and with the increase in the piggyback revenue, the county received over $600,000 for the new year."

"It seems ludicrous that Garrett County would increase its rate when all other subdivisions either reduced their rates or stayed the same. The municipalities of Grantsville, Oakland, and Mt. Lake Park have gone with the constant yield tax rate, and Mt. Lake Park even increased its discount rate to 15 percent for persons paying tax bills by October 1," Bolden continued.

Tax bills for the county were to have been mailed within the next two weeks, but Del. Bolden was unsure what the effect of his suit would be. "I don't know if the county will be prohibited from collecting taxes or what," he noted.

According to Jack Turney, county attorney, the tax bills will be mailed out within the next two weeks at the $2.66 per $100 rate. However, if adjustments are to be made following a Court order, rebates or credits would be issued, as determined by the Court.

On Monday, Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Jr. announced his intention to file an equity suit against the county commissioners in an attempt to prevent the collection of property taxes based on the $2.66 rate.

Mr. Gregg said he supports the petition filed by Del. Bolden, and took the opportunity to point out that since the commissioners' office did not follow the procedure provided by law, "this is just another example of the need to bring in new and more competent people and to make a complete change in the administrative staff."

Mr. Gregg has retained Robert Watson, Oakland attorney, to look at the Maryland laws in light of information he gave him regarding the method in which the county budget was made, and the manner in which public hearings were held.

Despite the fact that Commissioner Gregg registered his opposition to the tax increase, he is named in the suit by Bolden as a defendant.

Commissioner Gregg has also instructed Watson to investigate the possibilty of filing a cross complaint against the other two commissioners who voted for the tax increase.

In a press release announcing his intentions, Gregg said that during his campaign he predicted that the courthouse project would wind up costing the taxpayers money, and said that "the county is now required to put up some $600,000 for completion. This entirely wipes out the windfall income tax money grant from the state provided for the purpose of tax relief. That money could have provided a tax rate cut of nearly 20 cents or it could have virtually wiped out the proposed tax increase."

In concluding his statement, Gregg once again asked the other two commissioners to "bring in new people capable of running county government without tax increases and to cut the budgets across the board so that the new tax rate is no higher than the constant yield rate of $2.37 per $100 of assessable base."

Commissioners Truman Paugh and Lester Hunter made no comments about the suit filed Friday, saying only that they were "surprised" by the action, and that no prior indication had been given by either Delegate Bolden or Commissioner Gregg of their suits. Mr. Paugh noted that the first he had heard of the suit was when papers were served on him by county deputies.

The commissioners planned to discuss the matters Tuesday following a Community Action hearing with Brad Rinard.

County administrator Marshall Rickert had "no comment" about the suits or the allegations against him.

Nine County Rescue Squad Members Are Certified As CRTs

NEW CARDIAC RESCUE TECHNICIANS — Pictured are recently certified Garrett County Cardiac Rescue Technicians and instructional staff from Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Five of the new CRTs will serve with the Northern Rescue Squad and four are members of Southern Rescue. Standing, left to right, are Peggy Trimble, supervisor of the cardiac care unit at Garrett Memorial; Lori Grant, R.N., who assisted with in-service training at Garrett Memorial; Dee Thomas, Bruce Taliferro, Fran Pope, Steve Hamilton, Elizabeth Friend, and Jeff Fratz, all CRTs. In the foreground are George Brady, Jackie Wachter, and Carol Daily, also CRTs.

David Ramsey, Region I Emergency Medical Services Coordinator, announced that nine members of Garrett County Rescue Squads have received notification of their certification as Cardiac Rescue Technicians (CRT) by the Board of Medical Examiners. Those certified include Carol Daily, Jeff Fratz, Steve Hamilton, Bruce Taliaferro and Dee Thomas, all of the Northern Rescue Squad, and George Brady, Elizabeth Friend, Fran Pope and Jackie Wachter, all of the Southern Rescue Squad.

As certified CRTs, the squad members will be able to provide advanced life-support care to patients in the pre-hospital setting, under the direction of a physician. This care includes cardiac monitoring, venipuncture, IV thereapy, administration of medications and cardiac defibrillation.

Training for the CRTs was jointly sponsored by the Garrett Communtiy College-Oakland Center, Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Service Systems. The course was under the direction of Dr. George Stoltzfus and Calvin Tracy.

CRTs received 60 hours of classroom instruction, which included heart physiology, arrhythima recognition, venipuncture techniques, drug calculations and administration. Assisting in this instruction were Dr. Paul Williams, Dr. Thomas Johnson and members of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff.

In addition to the classroom sessions, each CRT was required to gain 80 hours of clinical experience in the local hospital. Mrs. Charlotte Bock, Director of Nursing at Garrett Memorial, coordinated this in-service experience, which included time in the emergency room, cardiac care unit and cardio-pulmonary lab.

Ramsey stated, "The efforts of all those involved in the program are to be praised." He stated that the CRTs serve as volunteers and "provide a high level of emergency medical care to the residents and visitors of Garrett County."

Safety Commission Lists Rules For Power Mower Use

Perhaps as many as 80 million Americans cut their lawns every year with power lawn mowers. Of these, more than 60,000 persons are injured seriously enough to require hospital emergency room treatment each year as a result of a power mower accident. Many of these accidents are preventable — IF you know what to do and what NOT to do.

Here are some "Do's and Don'ts" that may keep you from being the next power mower victims. First, the "Do's":

1. Read the operating instructions until you know them by heart; follow these instructions during use.

2. Clear the yard, every time. You never know when a rock, stick, wire, can or piece of glass may get into your mower and be thrown with great force.

3. Always watch your footing, particularly on slopes. Golf shoes or shoes with cleats can help keep you from slipping. Steer a hand power mower across slopes, never up and down.

Now, here are some important "Don'ts":

1. Don't allow young children to operate power mowers.

2. Don't mow a wet lawn; you can slip and hit the blade.

3. Don't ever unclog grass from your mower while the blade is still moving.

4. Don't change the cutting height while the blade is moving.

These are only a few of the rules for safe mowing habits. For further free information, ask your mower dealer, safety council, health department, library, or write to the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D. C. 20207. Or call the CPSC toll-free hotline: 800-638-8326; Maryland residents only: 800-492-8363. Alaska, Hawaii, Pureto Rico, and Virgin Islands residents, call 800-638-8333. A teletype for the deaf is available, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Est, for people who call the hotline.

Freedom Day . . .

July 4, Independence Day, should be a day of real celebration, for it was just over two hundred years ago, on July 4, that the United States became a nation. It became on that day a free, separate nation, one which would have to answer to no other country, one whose citizens would decide for themselves just how they would be governed.

The road leading up to that memorable day was rough and dangerous. A war was fought, many lives were lost and there was a great deal of rigorous, tedious planning and organizing by lots of people, the majority of whom are now referred to as our Founding Fathers.

Perhaps Independence Day is not the most suitable label for the July 4 holiday. It's true, we have our own government, we make our own laws and we are free from the direct oppression of other nations. We have become a great nation, and in nearly all respects, the most powerful nation on earth.

However, we are not, by the strict definition of the word, independent. We do, in fact, depend on other nations for many things, one in particular which is so real in our lives this very day is petroleum. One of our greatest economic problems right now is that our imports are exceeding our exports.

On an individual basis, no one human being is totally independent of others. A nation is composed of many dependent human beings. In the words of George Bernard Shaw, "Independence? That's middle class blasphemy. We are all dependent on one another, every soul on earth." Alfred E. Smith stated, "Without the help of thousands of others, any one of us would die, naked and starved."

Maybe July 4 should be referred to as Freedom Day, for in the signing of that special document, we were then able to persue and guarantee the freedoms which had long been suppressed. It is our freedoms that make America a fantastic place in which to live.

Several examples of these freedoms may be seen in this newspaper. The column just to the right of this editorial is a good example of the utilization of freedom of speech, even freedom of speech against our own government. Page 26 symbolizes freedom of religion. In various newsstories we read about persons exercising their freedom to assemble. The right of trial by jury is often revealed in front page stories.

Amid the drudgery of inflation, poverty, crime, gasoline shortages, a high divorce rate and the hens not laying, there still exists the basic freedoms which were made possible on July 4, 1776. Let's pay tribute to those persons who worked so hard for these freedoms and offer our thanks to God, who makes all things possible.

"The gas shortage seems to be affecting everyone."

Letters to the Editor

Sir:

"Tired of Listening" needs a nap. It was poor poetry pushing a pernicious claim that public officials know best and peasants should shut up. People using freedom of speech is always music to my ears.

That paint your article put on the Sanitary Commission is flaking off. For all those words about cooperating with towns, the Commission arrogantly defies town rights to negotiated rates. They are trying to slap new water rates on Mt. Lake Park - Loch Lynn.

Look at these rates at work: A low-income retired person or couple, using 5000 gallons of water, will pay $2.70 - $4.70 a thousand. Most people will pay only $1.70 a thousand. The Sanitary Commission, now dominated by real estate types, picks on the old folks.

Nor can they break their habit of discriminating against Oak Park. People there will pay $19 - $23.50 minimum compared with $13.50 elsewhere in town. I have looked at Oak Park inhabitants up close and can assure you they are human beings just like you and me.

So now the Sanitary Commission has thirty projects on the stove. That requires thirty separate revenue sources, thirty accounting systems for every foot of pipe, every hour of labor, every gallon of gas used. All wage and salaried employees, work crew and office, administrative and even their lawyer, will now have to keep carefully kept time cards showing exactly how many hours and minutes were spent each day on what projects. Some unexpected day someone's going to pop in and look at those cards.

Politicians and bureaucrats take note: Mt. Lake Park spent only 60% of last year's budget and is reducing taxes 15%. I found that news on Page 4.

Dear Editor,

It was with some amusement that I observed a member of the local education establishment's response to my letter of two weeks ago calling for an end to using tax supported vehicles for personal use by county employees. It seems that the best response to an issue that touches a raw nerve is to cloud that issue with an opinion about someone's personal character. The point of my letter was not to point a finger at specific people and attack their personal qualities, but to sensitize an agency to possible abuses of the taxpayers' money. I would have reported the incident to the proper officials, but the very person that should have received the report was the person I observed using a county car to do some shopping on Sunday morning.

The Garrett County Health Department has already restricted the use of government cars after normal business hours. I hope that other agencies will take similar positive steps in saving money in areas that are not essential in delivering services to the public.

In response to the charge that I lack "intestinal fortitude", I requested that my name be withheld because I have children and will have children in the local school system. I am familiar enough with the local school situation to know that there is a possibility that my actions will result in prejudicial behavior and attitudes being taken against my children. Plus knowledge of my name is not going to correct policies that are allowing personal use of government vehicles. Only the agencies desire to use taxpayers' money efficiently as possible will result in corrective action being taken.

With no guilt feelings about the condition of my digestive system.

Sincerely yours,
Name withheld by request

Dear Editor,

In June 27 issue of The Republican I was glad to see a Representative of Teachers' Federation speak out for the way they feel about the opening of school August 28.

Last year I spoke to Dr. Buser about opening of school August 31. He told me it had to open then in order to get 180 days in. Look how long they went this spring, June 20th.

What has happened to the law which used to be in effect stating school could not open until Tuesday after Labor Day?

I feel Dr. Buser and all concerned should take a closer look at the calendar.

Parents, speak up before it is too late for your child's future. We have a few in this county who would like to have school the year 'round. Not Me.

Sincerely,
Marjorie A. Lee

Dear Editor:

Being a taxpayer and resident of Garrett County, I felt it my duty to inform your readers of the rip off which has gone unnoticed at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Few of your readers probably even know that for the past five years there has been under construction, a marina at the park. The purpose of the marina was to provide the boaters of Deep Creek with launching and docking facilities. The project is now completed after being started three times and two contractors at the ridiculously high cost of over $200,000. The state park brochure has said for the last two years "a launching area is available within the park."

It now seems that a few businessmen on Deep Creek Lake suddenly realized that since the park now offers free launching facilities their own launching facilities for which they charge $3.00 in and $3.00 out would probably lose business. They therefore talked their state representative, Mr. DeCorsey Bolden, into having the DNR close the facility to the public before it even opened.

I can sympathize with the businessmen in that they would lose revenue but where were their pleas when the project was originated? Now that the taxpayers' money has already been spent, the very people who have payed for the marina are being prevented from using it! This is the most irresponsible and blatent rip off from a public agency, especially the DNR and a state representative, Mr. Bolden, that I have ever heard of.

I urge people concerned with this situation to voice their disapproval by writing to Mr. Bolden and to Mr. Paul Russic of the DNR at the State Office Building in Annapolis.

If taxpayers' money is being spent on a facility, we should be able to enjoy full utilization of that facility.

Sincerely,
Michael O'Brien

Dear Editor:

The unusually strange weather pattern we have had this past week should be a reminder to many, and a warning that God still rules.

I wish to state also that the truck drivers said they would strike with no violence, but (it) seems (the) next thing (was) war; fighting over diesel fuel and gasoline. I admire their effort in the roll-back in price. But the only, and sure thing to keep produce flowing and spoilage down, and a happy and peaceful America, is to impeach both Jim Carter and Schlessenger, before our county goes deep in debt.

It will soon take all available funds for gasoline, fuel, oil, etc., with nothing left for food or medicine.

I say there is no more time left to let Carter call for peace in other countries, and run out on us just when an emergency arrises here.

We fellow Americans have (to) stick together; pray to God for guidance; pray for a better future for us, our children, grandchildren and those to follow.

Violence, crime, and stealing from our neighbors is certainly not the answer.

Sincerely,
Bertha Oester

Dear Sir,

Doctors are human, and make mistakes like the rest of us. However, they should realize that mistakes made in "print" are still accepted by the general public often times as gospel. My motive for writing is to give due justice to Esther Herman and the article published in your paper about home delivery.

Dr. Leighton has asserted that, quote - "The article is not really talking about having babies in the mother's home." - unquote. Does Dr. Leighton know Esther Herman personally, as I do?

Actions speak louder than words . . . this is, in part, Esther Herman:

La Leche League leader and specialist in child development and relactation for over twelve years;

Parent counselor for The Maternity Center Associates;

Leader of a monthly forum devoted to the postpartum period ;

Most important - The mother of four children, two of which were born in her upstairs bedroom at her home in Takoma Park . . . and a cofounder for the international organization known as H.O.M.E. (Home Oriented Maternity Experience). Her husband, Gene, is on H.O.M.E.'s Professional Advisory Board as a pharmacologist.

(Drafted on all H.O.M.E. literature is the statement of its purpose: "We are a group devoted to helping couples achieve the optimum experience of a safe home birth. We bring together those who have had home births, those who want home birth, professionals and childbirth educators.")

Esther Herman is talking about having babies in the mother's home.

Anyone interested in H.O.M.E. may write to me. (Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope).

Mrs. Leon Butcher

Dear Sir,

In spring 1977 (the beginning of its third year of service to women and their families) The Maternity Center Associates had actively supported over 400 women who delivered in their homes in the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan area. (Averaging at that time 20-25 home births per month.)

That women "come" to a home birth center (for a certain quality of birthing experience) means the same as women who "come" to a doctor's office. Only the Maternity Center Associates can say truthfully where its women deliver. The article in your paper was not misleading.

The Maternity Center Associates (5411 Cedar Lane, Suite #107B, Bethesda, Maryland, 20014) was started by three Certified Nurse Midwives: namely, Jan Epstein, Marion McCartney, and Barbara Vaughey. Now associated with them are several OB-GYN's, general practitioners, lay midwives, and various emergency squads and hospitals. All are working 'unitedly' to provide safe alternatives in childbirth to families who will not tolerate hospital status quos being forced upon them.

Garrett County has made some knowledgeable advancements in birthing and family-life areas in recent years. Childbirth education classes, trained rescue volunteers, the hospital administrator, doctors and nurses who go out of their way to support different methods of delivery-room practices, father participation, and infant 'rooming-in' are all deeply appreciated by many families. (Garrett Memorial's rise in births testifies to satisfaction.)

Home birth is not for all just as C-section is not for all. But education and support must be there to make either safe. Questions: When will we have a pediatrician who understands "bonding"? Why was our midwife not allowed to deliver (causing her to leave)? Will doctors and midwives continue to be censured in Garrett County or will they be allowed to help 'some' families grow and live and die and love together????

Sincerely,
Linda Butcher

Editor:

In the 6/20/79 Republican the G.C.F.T. asserted that the use of nonprofessionals as substitute teachers was "ludicrous" and constituted a "mockery" of the educational process. I disagree.

Having been a substitute teacher in Garrett County (qualifications: Degres in psychology, political science; University level teaching experience at U.S.M.A. West Point, N.Y.), and knowing area teachers of all ages personally I state with little trepidation that as teachers salaries have increased over the last fifteen years, the quality of education proffered has significantly decreased. The attitude of this teacher body is representative of all governmental bodies in its reflection of contempt for local opinions and efforts and unabashed romance with "experts'" and "professionals'" opinions. These teachers tend to be better at commiserating around coffee, making excuses, than they are at classroom instruction or effecting remedies for real community problems. The community doesn't have problems; they have problems.

All that I perceive to be "ludicrous" is the fact that these ineffectuals get more money than those teachers of past generations who were always underpaid and often unappreciated while offering superior educations to students. These teachers of the recent past had something money can't buy — pride in their work and dedication to public service.

Today the community must suffer a body of teachers which refuse to set the example by putting the students' problems first, and who have little regard for a fundamental education of reading, writing and arithemetic. A group which is mostly incapable of offering a first class education to our young people, and which searches for excuses and not answers to problems. They are charging a much higher price, in every way, for lesser services. This is what I call making a "mockery" of the educational process.

Look to yourselves and not substitutes to offer quality education to our young.

Sincerely,
William L. Welch

State's Allocation Of Gasoline Will Drop 17 Million

ANNAPOLIS (UPI) — Major oil companies have told state officials that Maryland will receive slightly less gasoline in July than it received in June, one of Gov. Harry Hughes' top energy advisors said Monday.

Frederick L. Dewberry, the deputy transportation secretary temporarily assigned to coordinate gasoline supply information for the state energy office, said gas supplies for the usually high-travel month of July will be at least as tight as they were in June unless gas allocations are unexpectedly increased.

He said delivereies for the month will total an estimated 154.5 million gallons, or 17.5 million gallons below the amount Maryland motorists burned last July.

Actual deliveries could be even less, but not more, he said.

Only if the state wins its lawsuit claiming that the federal gas allocation system is discriminatory could those deliveries be increased, he said.

June deliveries of 155 million gallons were 22 million gallons below the June 1978 figure, but Dewberry said the appearance that the monthly shortfall will be less in July than it was in June is misleading.

That is because gas consumption in July 1978 — the base period for determining this July's allocation — was lower than consumption in June 1978, while estimated deliveries for this July have slightly increased from the June figure.

On Paper, the state will receive a higher percentage of its "base period" gas in July than it did in June, but fewer actual gallons of fuel will be delivered to the pump.

Dewberry said the decline in consumption last July was probably attributable to motorists leaving the state's metropolitan areas or leaving the state altogether for vacation — a trend he said the gas crisis is likely to reverse this summer, thus compounding the problem.

"People are afraid to travel," he said. "People are staying home in the metropolitan areas because they are afraid they'll get stranded."

Dewberry insisted the various emergency gas plans now in effect — such as required minimum purchases and odd-even rationing — seem to be helping to reduce the size of gas lines.

But he said, "More gasoline is the real answer."

After a long morning meeting with Hughes, Dewberry said the state is prepared to expand its Sunday gas station opening program from 50 to 100 stations for each of the remaining four Sundays in July.

As an incentive to say open, the state will allocate each station 4,000 gallons of gas from the state's emergency "set aside" allotment, which in July is expected to total 8.8 million gallons.

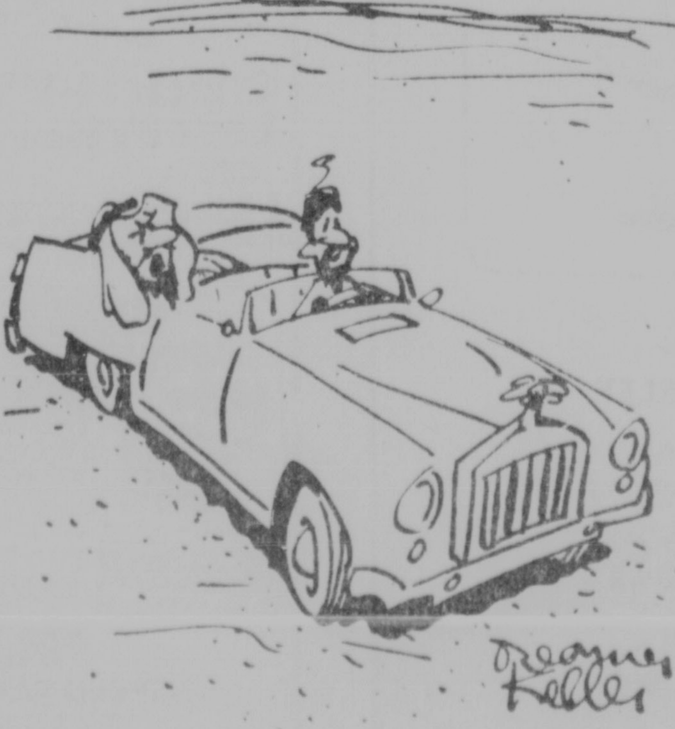
Three percent of the federally required 5 percent "set aside" — about 5.8 million gallons — will be held in reserve for emergency uses. Dewberry said whatever gas is remaining at the end of the month from that allotment will be released to specific stations in areas that need it the most.

The bulk of the remaining 2 percent (about three million gallons) will be used for the Sunday station opening program, he said.

Most of June's "set aside" gas was diverted to the Washington and Baltimore metropolitan areas, with distribution based on motor vehicle registration, he said.

The state has also requested stations to operate on Sundays at staggered hours, but Dewberry conceded the voluntary request has not shown much results.

"They are independent business people who lease their stations and they have business decisions to make," he said. "All I can say is that we have called upon them to do it on a voluntary basis."



"What do you mean, we're out of gas?"

New Maryland Law Affects Merchants, Loan Companies

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Maryland merchants and loan companies who do not specify their rights in credit contracts can now be charged with theft if they repossess merchandise from delinquent customers.

A new law requiring merchants to claim their right to repossess goods bought on credit took effect July 1, Consumer Credit Commissioner Alan T. Fell said Monday.

Fell said businessmen can no longer repossess goods without specifying in written loan contracts their right to seize merchandise from delinquent customers.

He said many businssmen were taken by surprise when toid the measure would become effective Sunday. The measure was passed by the 1978 General Assembly as an amendment to the state criminal code.

Fell predicted the new measure will force businessmen to rewrite loan or sales contracts to include repossession rights.

A spokesman for the Automobile Trade Association of Maryland said the new law will give more protection to people who buy expensive items on credit with little intention of paying for the goods.

Garrett County's "Artist-In-Residence"

Library Hosts Aza Stanton Exhibit

by Bart Naylor

Aza Stanton, Garrett County native, and resident of Deep Creek Lake, is exhibiting recent works at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, for the next several weeks.

Now 56, Stanton was first introduced to art by his father and an aunt. At Frostburg State College, he took as many art courses as possible and in the Navy worked as a sign painter. He then studied in Baltimore at the Maryland Institute of Art under Jacques Maroger.

Under Maroger's tutelage Stanton refined his skills as a protrait and still-life painter, at which Garrett Community College professor, Michael Zuckerman, feels is his best.

"A portrait is not the flame of life," writes Zuckerman, "it has not the flash nor the flair. It is more the foundation, the glowing coals. Here the brooding Stanton may be found, looking deeply into the vital embers of the fire. Sometimes he sees ashes, sometimes the very spark of life; the human personality is revealed."

Much of his adult life Stanton worked for H-P Stores, Inc. He began in 1951 and eventually became advertising manager. For the first ten years he did little painting but his marriage in 1961, however, reinvigorated his private ambition; his wife encouraged him, and as he says, was his "best critic." He retired in 1974 to pursue his painting more actively.

Stanton's background in still-lifes and portraits from his Baltimore days, and graphics from his tenure with H-P, is well represented in the Ruth Enlow showing. So varied is the exhibit that it is difficult to believe all the paintings were done by one artist. Not only do the paintings differ from each other in content, but they differ in approach as well.

The easy lyrical lines in one untitled painting of a piece of driftwood are rendered almost abstract by a rich red undeterminable background. In a similar work of a barren stump, Stanton has painted a frozen lake and snow covered bank in the background. Here the lines in the wood are as full of character as an old man's face.

The portrait of a middleaged woman is both a fine rendering and repleat with psychology—there is a sense of thoughtfulness, of reserve—a brooding perhaps.

Overtly narrative is "No. 9," depicting a maple syrup harvest, probably near Grantsville, Stanton's birthplace. Attractive for its detail, the painting is as rich in personality as a Renoir. The trees stand patient, dormant, while the waiting horses twitch nervously before the great red syrup barrel, feeling the coming winter in their bones. The men carry buckets from this tank to the steamy shed where the syrup is being purified.

Stanton also experiments with focus. In "No. 2," he has chosen to detail the center figure of the work—the lone horseless buggy and shed, both carpeted lightly in a layer of snow; the fringe left in a haze. "No. 1" on the other hand, focuses on the perimeter—on the bare snow-lined branches, and shy deer which peek from behind them. The stream in the center of the work, the life blood for these life forms, is unhighlighted, stoic, almost inconspicuous.

Not all of Stanton's landscapes are winter scenes. One striking departure is the haunting skeleton of a barn on a grassy hilltop with a shell of boards and peeling corrugated metal roof.

Next is the graphic, "No. 5," showing sailboats shooting across the lake in the brief gusts of wind. The boats are handled simplistically, with long visible brush strokes.

An experiment in linear graphics and color is "No. 4." Stanton has weaved rectalinear solids, allowing their respective colors to blend during impasses.

Many of these diverging characteristics come together in a painting of a black Amish buggy in profile, bouncing off to church on a silent winter morning, behind a brown horse. The elements are arranged graphically: four equal-size trees wallpaper the background, and on the near side of the box-like buggy is a well repaired barbed wire fence.

The organization may sound contrived, but there is an air of organic elegance. The snow rests in carefree rolls of carpet; the wire of the fence is not ruler straight; the horse moves fluidly (by no means frozen in paint), and the branches of the defoliated background trees wander freely.

In all of Stanton's paintings there is the common quality of a subdued energy, a restrained potential. He uses brilliant colors, but hides them behind subtler blues and grays. His brush strokes are sometimes violent and long, but they are often at the fringe of attention. The wind in the sailing picture is only gusty, transient. The solids in the graphic "No. 4" do blend. The horses in the maple syrup harvest twitch nervously, but remain stationary. Aza Stanton's works are of a controlled force, and it is this tension that is so appealing.

The exhibit will be on display at Ruth Enlow Library throughout the month of July.

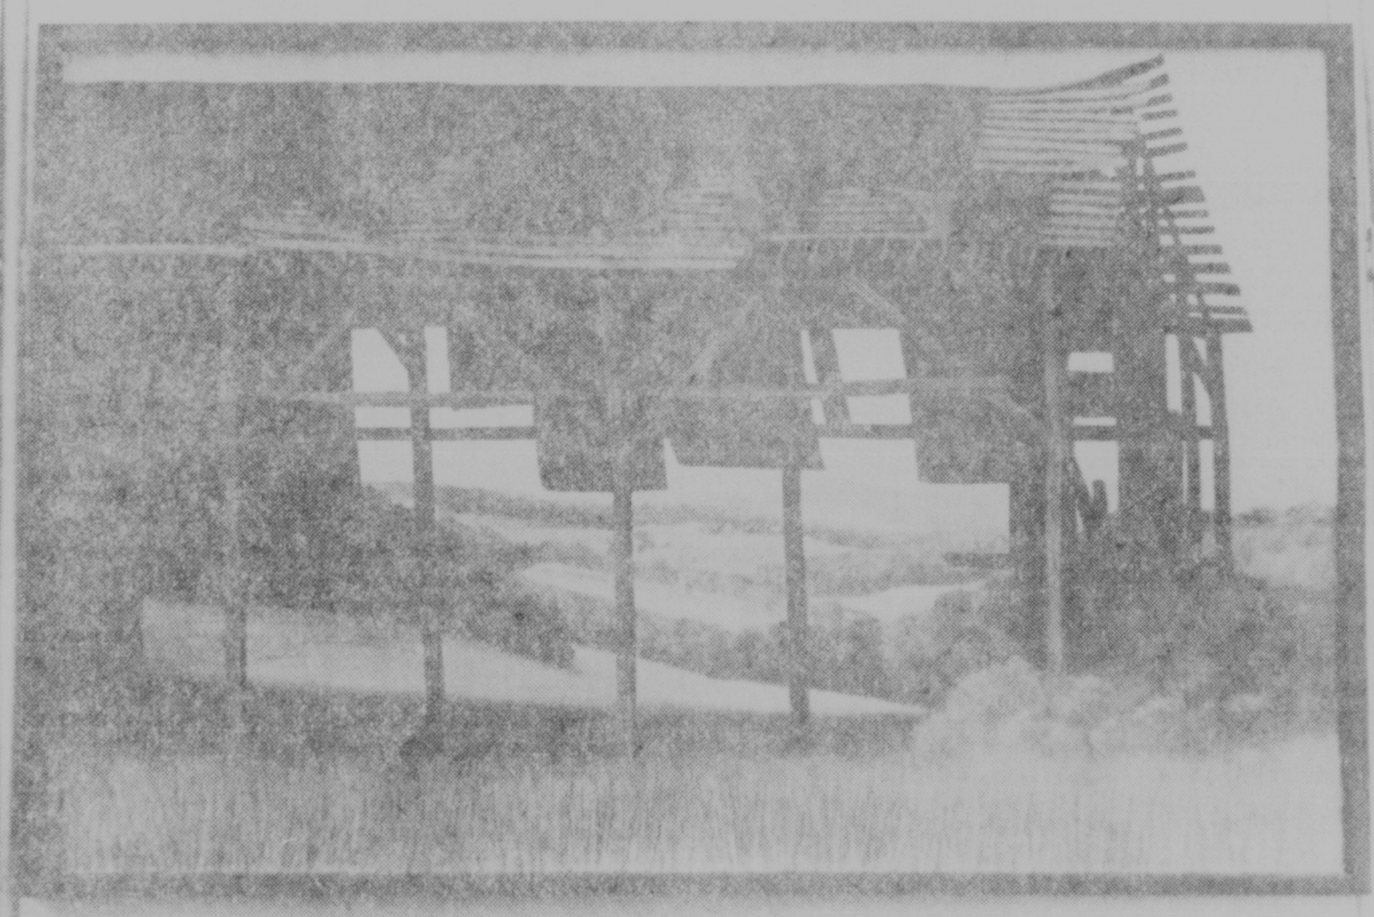
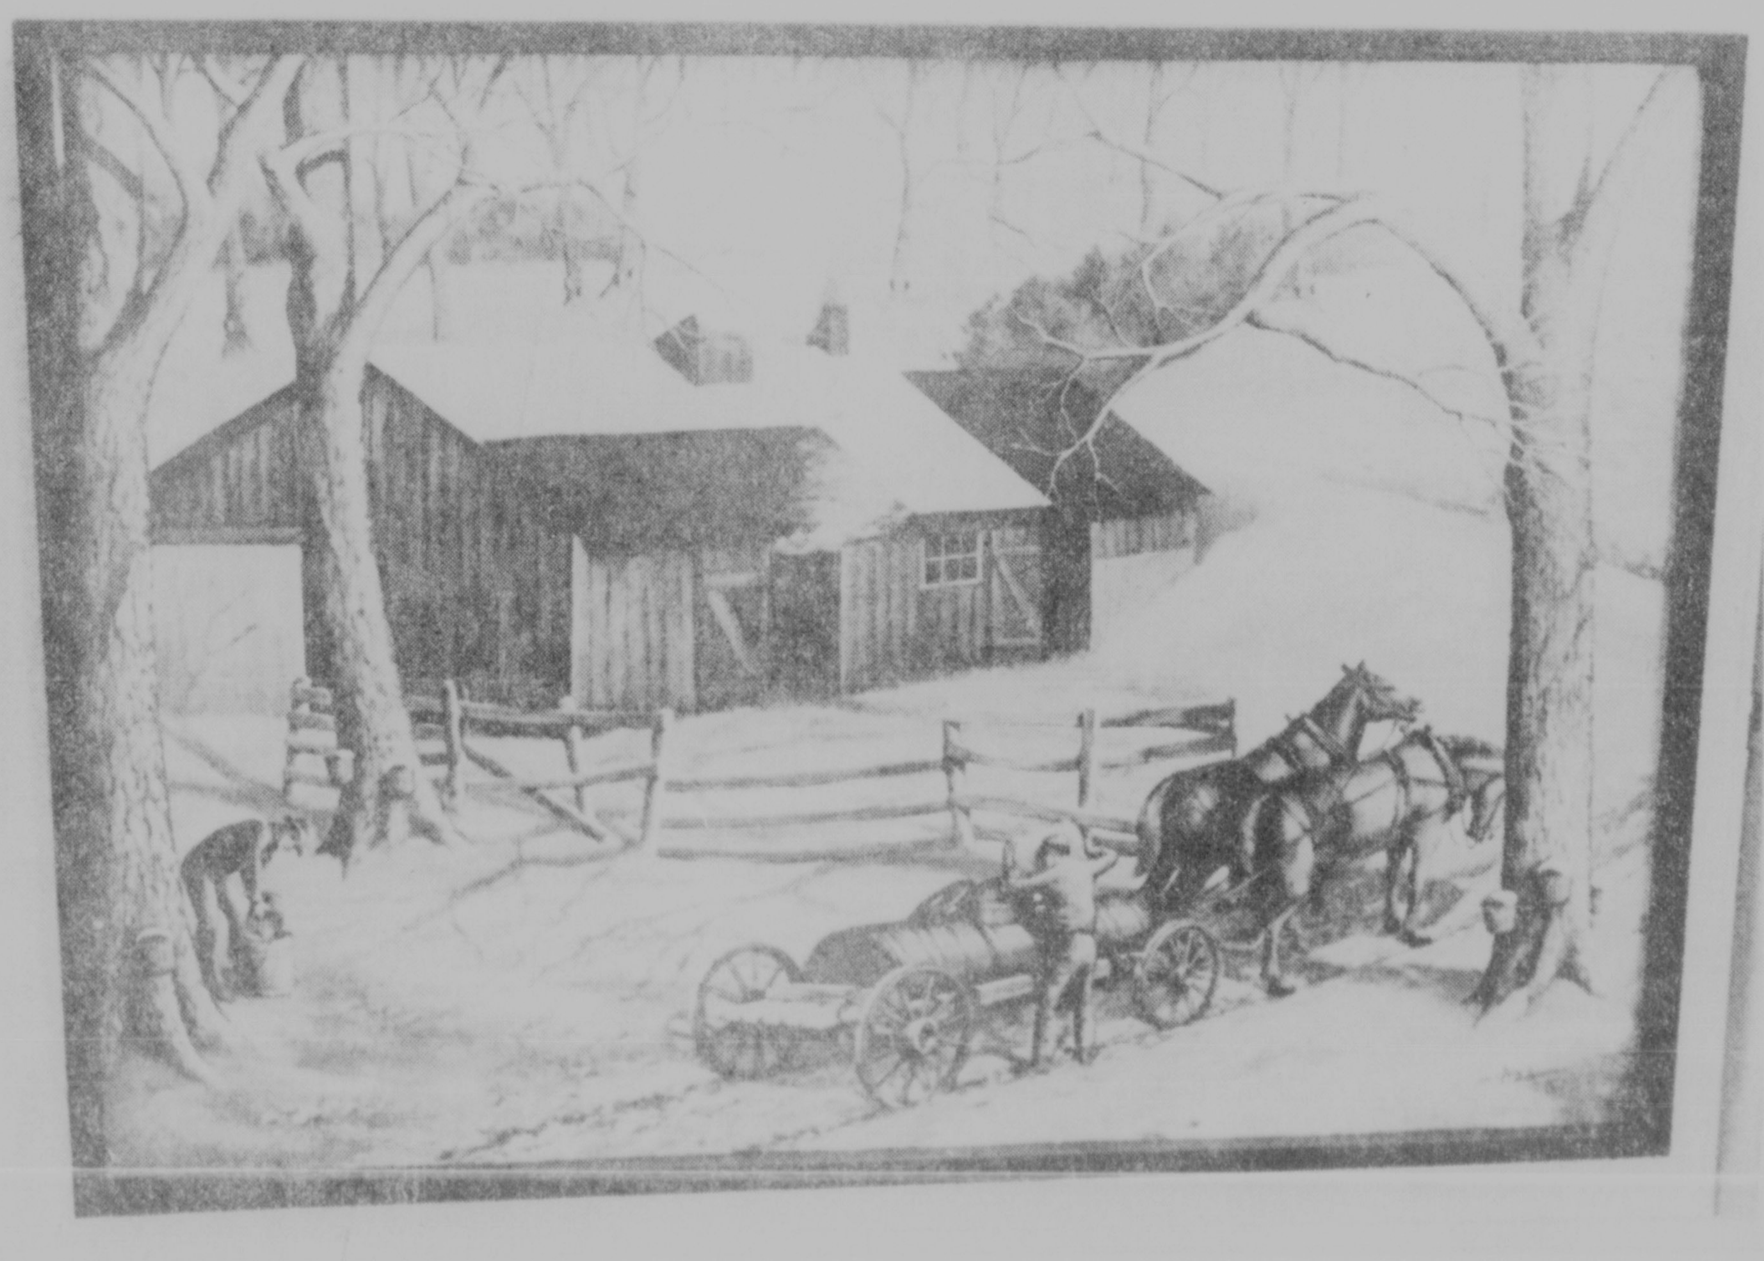
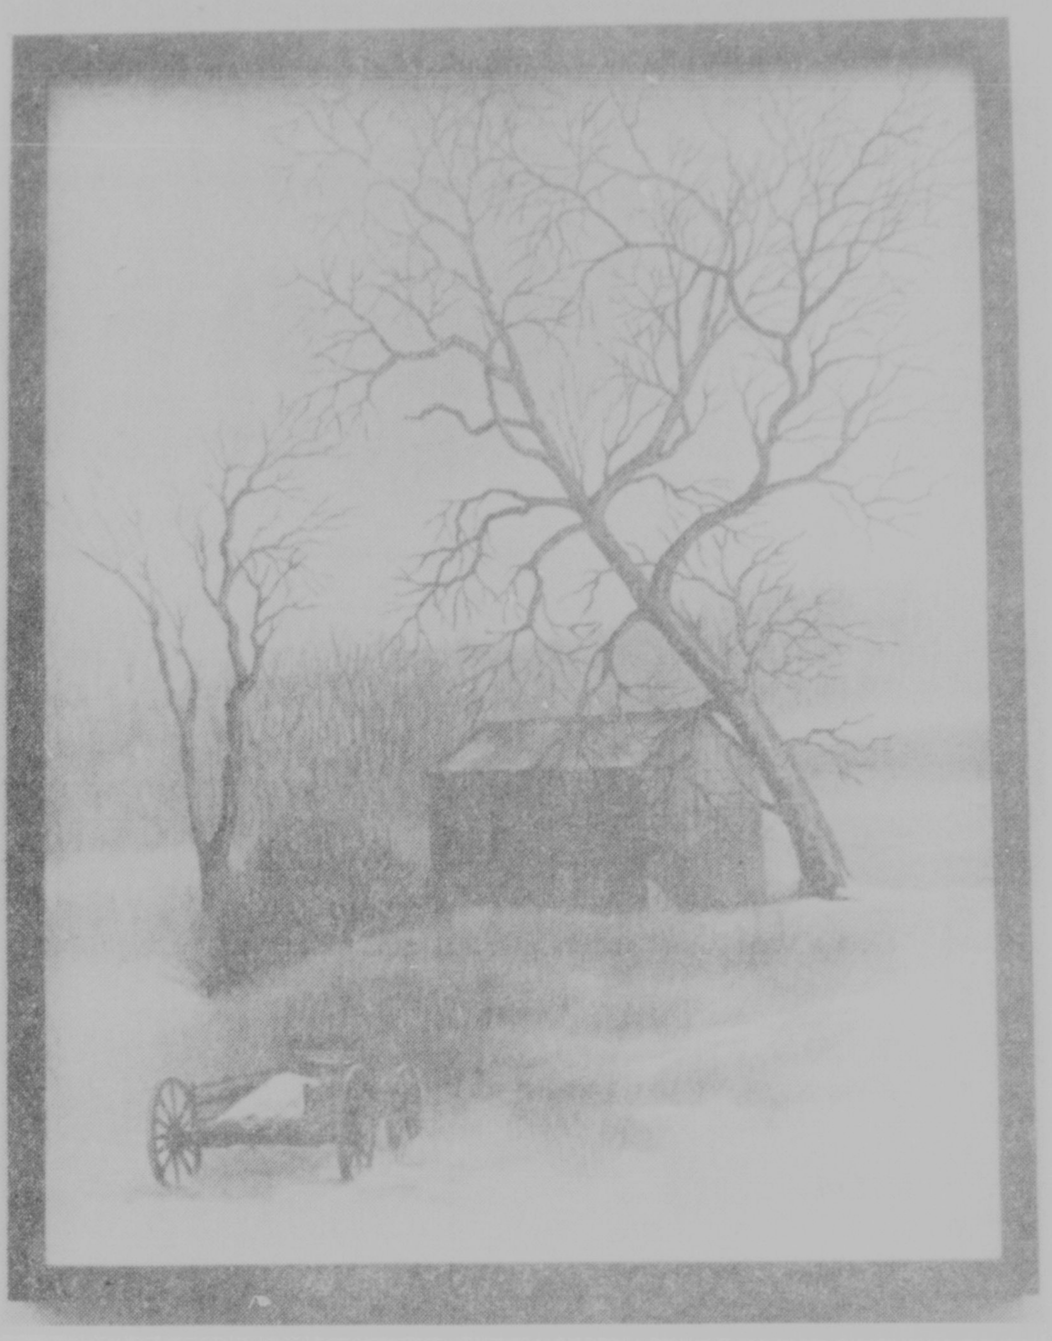
"The elements are arranged graphically."



"Not all of Stanton's landscapes are winter scenes."



"As rich in personality as a Renoir."



"Stanton also experiments with focus."

Local Woman Is Sr. Citizen Representative

Mrs. Bernard Guy, Bloomington, recently spent two weeks in Washington, D. C. as a Senior Citizen Legislative Intern sponsored by Rep. Beverly Byron from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland. There were one hundred and sixty-five interns in the group from thirty-four states. Maryland had five representatives.

During the two weeks the group attended presentations involving the explanation and discussion of programs for the elderly. They also heard Rep. Claude Pepper, Chairman of the House Select Committee on Aging; Dr. Nelson Cruikshank, Counsellor to the President on Aging; and Rep. Lawton Chiles, Chairman of the Senate Special Committee on Aging who spoke on An Aging Overview.

The group was given passes to the House and Senate Galleries, a pass for a Capitol tour, discount card for riding the Metro.

Along with a "class photo" taken on the East Front steps on the Capitol, the group received photos of their VIP tour of the White House and their meeting with President Jimmy Carter in the Rose Garden.

This program which began in 1973 with nine interns is primarily sponsored by Rep. Elwood Hillis, Indiana; Senator William Roth, Jr., Delaware; and Rep. Tony Coelho, California.

Anyone interested in participating should contact one of their Congressional Representatives.

Vandalism, Property Destruction Under Police Investigation

Property destruction and vandalism were among the crimes under investigation in the past week by members of the Garrett County Sheriff's department.

Bruce Shahan, Route 1, Oakland, reported that his Ford tractor was damaged and various parts removed while the vehicle was on Pine Hill Road, Swanton, between June 22 and 26.

Missing were the voltage regulator and the battery, tire chains, and an eight-foot chain. Estimated loss was $130.

Sue Weber reported that during the night of June 26, someone broke the lock on the front door of her summer cottage on Glendale Road. The cottage was entered, but nothing appeared to be missing. Damage was confined to the padlock on the door.

Vandals ransacked an outbuidling at the home of Carl Harvey on Sand Flat Road, Deer Park, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. June 29. Items were thrown out of the building into the yard, but nothing appeared to be missing.

Charity Janssen, Route 2, Swanton, reported July 1 that someone had struck her mailbox with a club or similar object, causing $15 damage.

Chauncey Friend, Hazelton, W. Va., reported that between June 23 and 27 someone had entered an abandoned property in Garrett County by prying open an upstairs window. Missing were oil lamps and a clock with a total value of $150.

A breaking, entering and larceny was reported at the apartment of Doug Upole, H Street, Mt. Lake Park, during the night of June 26. Someone removed a tape player and two hunting knives, with a total loss value of $130.

Lutherans Believe ...

Material things are good.

In fact, they believe all creation is good and it is wrong to despise the material things of life.

Shall we go back to the beginning . . . the beginning as related in the creation account of the Bible?

There we read, "And God saw everything that He had made, and, behold, it was very good." Not evil. Not to be despised.

Material things are not evil. Man possesses the potential to sinfully mis-use them.

A hasty consideration will make that clear. For example, the golden heads of grain, waving in the sunshine, are a glorious sight to behold, and taste mighty good when they find their way onto our dinner tables in the form of bread. But that same grain becomes a curse if a man allows the whiskey that is made from it to wreck his life.

The gold and silver from God's hills are a blessing when they provide food and clothing and shelter; but man makes them gods when he takes the life of a fellow man—or even tells a little white lie—for the sake of them.

A poppy is a colorful bit of creation and is an answer to a prayer when its opium is used as a pain killer in a pain-wracked body. But when a man becomes a dope addict through misuse, it certainly becomes a curse.

God's material creation is good—all of it. Man's freedom to sin all too often makes God's good creation into evil.

Christians teach that God intends His creation for the blessing and enjoyment of humankind. We are to despise none of it.

The Friendly Faces of Russia

Editor's note: The following article on the country of Russia was written by Bart Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Naylor, formerly of Oakland. Mr. Naylor visited Russia in April of this year.

Attention will be focused on Russia this year, as both the politically important SALT talks will dominate the Senate debates this year, and the Olympics will attract many visitors to the U.S.S.R. next summer. New, and perhaps deeply beneficial, impressions will be made during these cultural and diplomatic exchanges. I found a host of often surprizing images when I visited there this spring.

My first was one of unbreached vastness. During the descent on the plane, the vast, untouched expanse of the world's largest country (spanning 13 time zones, compared with America's four), was already apparent. Even with Moscow in view, a city of eight million, much of the surrounding country was densely forested. The bare sections were uniformly white with snow, almost void of either buildings or roads.

This vacant characteristic is due largely to the long intense winter — the same one that stopped Napoleon 150 years ago, and Hitler in the second World War. Our subsequent train ride between Moscow and Leningrad detailed this initial impression. The last of the snow was melting during that 400-mile journey. This was giving way to a pervasive and stagnating muck-mud which, near the roads, looked like black frozen waves, as in the wake behind a ship. The trucks that must have shaped them, however, were seldom seen. Even scarcer were the villages. Those we did see consisted of about 20 buildings. All were made of timber, some were even log cabins. The roofs were corrogated metal. Little industry was apparent; timber harvesting and summer agriculture were probably the major revenue sources. The brown spring could only mean, though, that the summer season is all too short to support many in these endeavors.

In fact, there is a great exodus of people from the villages to the cities. The pressure to leave these small snowbound communities is so great that the government has imposed quotas on city populations to keep them from sprawling uncontrolably. These restrictions are sometimes circumvented by elaborate schemes. Village couples have been known to each marry a city dweller, move in with the, then divorce and remarry once established in a city apartment.

Moscow is the largest city which attracts villagers. True, there is no muck there; the wide streets are among the most fastidious in the world. The buildings are all rather uncreative architecturally. Few are sky-scrapers. Most are stocky and seldom over 15 stories, built of brick, with plaster edifaces. Some are stone. The new ones are of reinforced concrete.

Moscow is an old city, and was the capital of Russia as early as the 14th century. Strewn throughout the city are the orthodox churches, with the characteristic onion shaped domes. The highest concentration is in the city center, in the kremlin (fortress). All but one have been turned into museums.

Leningrad is similarly re-

pleat with museums, but most of these are converted tsarist palaces. Leningrad, formerly St. Petersburg, is a unique city, in that it was planned in the early 18th century, and essentially built from one design. Most of the architects were imported from western Europe, so the city seems to be a vast Versaille. Baroque design abounds.

These and other cities have attracted Russians from all over the country. The diversity of ethnographic groups — there are 110 nationalities in the U.S.S.R. — provides for an even more varied group than found in the melting pot U.S. Some are blonde with slender faces, others are dark haired with stoutly boned cheeks. Still others from the Mongolian regions have an oriental appearance. Siberians are identical with the American Alaskan eskimo.

This diversity is obvious in the ubiquitous soldiers. There are hundreds walking on the streets. Some are doing police work, some are guarding the kremlin, some are marching informally in groups, but most are in couples or trios, shopping, talking, and looking for entertainment.

If the streets are full of soldiers, they are overflowing with bustling civilians. On the major streets, the rush hour intent is accompanied by pushy hand, shoving shoulders, and flying elbows. Most aggressive are the elderly women, who seem to be wearing padding under their robes.

In the evening, the crowds on the streets fill the entertainment halls. The ballet and concert we saw were of excellent quality, but greeted with little enthusiasm by the audience; the applause was embarassingly modest. For the circus, folk dancing and sports events, the response is far more excited.

The crowds are transported to auditoriums and shops by an enormous transit system. The Moscow Metro is the best example of this. The stations are relatively deep in the ground (there is speculation that they are constructed to double as nuclear fall-out shelters — photography is forbidden there), and elaborately decorated, each station being unique. The pillars are broad, and most have marble facades. On the walls are bronze bas reliefs. The trains themselves are comfortable and come frequently, one every 30 seconds. They move quickly once underway, making the system thoroughly efficient. The cost is four kopeks, or about six cents, the subway is widely used.

Also used by the masses are the museums. In addition to students and tourists, common visitors in western museums, the Russian museums have hoards of peasants, old women, soldiers, and workers as well, viewing the galleries.

Many museums display western and Russian fine art. Many others are devoted to the state and its heroes. Notable in Moscow is the Lenin Masoleum, and associated Lenin Museum. The mosoleum houses Lenin's body, where he can be viewed, though the queue is always hours long, one can only walk by, and the face is pretty much a plastic reconstruction.

State doctrine and official explanations come intermittantly and with different emphasis depending on the guide. In Leningrad, our guide was enthusiastic about Bolshevic history. She explained that the 1917 revolution was the completion of a century of dissent against a repressive tsarist regime. The success of this revolution depended on the execution of some Tsarist leaders. When questioned if this meant the communists were really just continuing the tsarist practices, she replied, "No, we had to kill them. I repeat, we had to kill them."

The presence of the communist state can be seen everywhere. Aside from the soldiers, most obvious are in the great bill boards and posters that line the streets. Some admonish workers, some glorify the military, some commemorate achievement, others quote Lenin.

Another manifestation of the state is in the homogeneity of clothing. The businessmen do not dress in the exact same cut suit, but they are all dark, mostly in the 50's style. Women's dresses - those that are visible under the bulky coats - are mostly nylon. The handbags are invariably vinyl. In fact, everything that can be, it seems, is vinyl: vinyl briefcases, vinyl hats, vinyl belts. The seats of the trains and buses led to severe "vinylitus." The homogeneity of dress is most uniform on the head. Everyone wears a hat, even though at the time the weather may be warm.

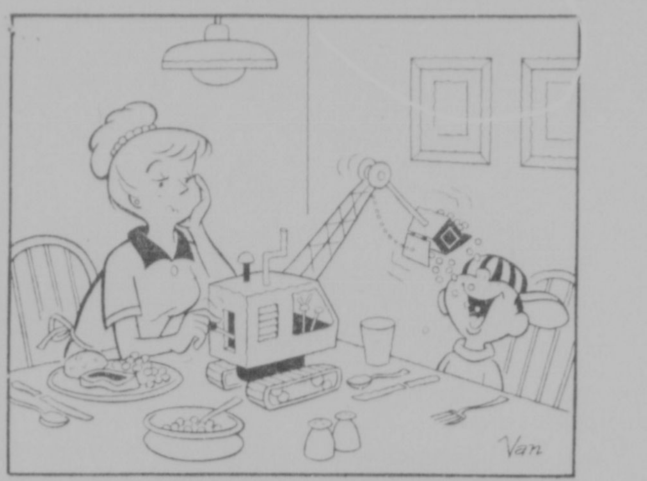
Shopping in the stores where these and other items are sold was a new experience. After choosing an item, which a clerk behind a counter displays, you must then go purchase a receipt at a Kacca (pronounced Kasha). This is then presented to the clerk who hand over the package. During rush hours, 12-1 and 5-6 p.m., the waiting can be interminable, as even the biggest stores are understaffed. There is one advantage over western stores, in that 'shopping around' is an absurd activity: there is little to no difference in the quality of a particular item from store to store, nor in the price.Ice cream which is delicious there, is the same, 19 kopeks (30 cents), in a back street grocery, or in a posh concert hall.

The black market is equally interesting, though in a different way. A tourist is approached and asked for chewing gum, cigarettes, jeans, and less often, for foreign currency. Three packs of chewing gum will buy a high quality military belt: a pack of cigarettes gets a rouble ($1.60), and a pair of new bell-bottomed jeans, 80 roubles, or over a hundred dollars. Currency is bought at more than triple the official rate. Three roubles to the American dollar is common. While chewing gum and cigarettes are traded overtly, jeans and currency are always bartered with great secrecy.

One man that approached us was interested in American magazines - Newsweek, and Playboy. Though time did not permit, he invited us to his apartment, where he lived with his wife, and as most city dwellers, with his parents. (Overcrowding, along with the dearth of consumer goods are the greatest domestic problems). I did have one English magazine in my hotel room, but he was unwilling to accompany me there as he felt he would be watched. During a phone conversation the next day there was such loud static that I was forced to use the lobby phone. There, he explained that our conversation had probably been monitored. He was hungry for western information, and because of his excellent English, it was with him that I had the most prolonged conversation, other than with a tourguide.

Most of our conversations were rather superficial. One Russian enjoying vodka in a restaurant called us to his table as we were leaving. After establishing we were Americans, he began repeating in a loud voice, "Bajas! Bajas!)) One of my more acute companions realized he was saying BeeGees, and that he wanted to buy one of their records if we had a copy.

Interest in foreign goods is keen among many Russians, but in addition, there is a sincere interest in tourists as visitors. In part, because of our novelty, and in part, because of their nature - almost all were cheerfully helpful when asked for directions. Because of the language barrier, the Russian would often walk you the first block, and point out the last few, calling down to friends to help you once on the way. As you set out, they smiled and waved goodbye, as if you had become a friend.



Of all my experiences, this friendliness impressed me the most. Perhaps I was least expecting this. Perhaps I had not really thought Russia had people. The names I knew were Breshnev, Stalin, and Solzhenitsen; I had not thought about the shop clerk that sold me a chess set, or the crowd of kids that asked for chewing gum. And I will surely remember the great baroque buildings of Leningrad, the characteristic onion domed churches of the Kremlin, the vast unpopulated land, the snow and subsequent stagnating mud fields, the museums of art and history, the great number of soldiers, the huge propoganda billboards, the uniformity of store prices, and of clothing.

But I shall remember most the friendliness of the Russian people. I felt a biting sense of frustration reading the newspaper on the plane back. Several articles, as usual, spoke of the mutual fears between Soviets and westerners. Each are spending enormous amounts on defense because of fear of expansionism. All of this seemed to result from a communication problem, the reliance on the imperfect medium of leaders to determine our accord. If we could commune directly with the populace, surely the need for our great armies and defense budgets would be seen as ludicrous.

Perhaps the upcoming Moscow Olympics will bring a massive enough cultural exchange to affect detente somehow. This is a pipe dream, but we might come a step in the right direction to appreciate each other's friendly faces.

Area Man Charged With 10 Violations Released From Jail

A Mt. Lake Park man charged with four criminal counts and six motor vehicle violations was released from Allegany County jail Sunday after posting 60 percent of $1,500 bond.

David Aaron Mountain, 26, was arrested after an alleged incident Saturday in Westernport. He is charged with malicious assault with a motor vehicle, assault and battery, two counts of resisting arrest, failure to obey the order of a city officer, reckless driving, fleeing or attempting to elude a uniformed police officer, exceeding the posted speed limit (75 in a 25 mph zone), going the wrong way in one-way traffic, and failure to have registration card in possession.

Cpl. John E. Duckworth of the Westernport police filed the complaint against Mountain. The officer said the defendant entered the intersection of Routes 135 and 36 traveling westbound in an eastbound lane during a parade in Westernport which had all traffic stopped. The officer further stated that after he advised the defendant to pull his car to the side of the road, Mountain allegedly accelerated suddenly, knocking Duckworth backwards and forcing him to lose his balance.

Duckworth said he and Deputy Louis L. Nies of the Allegany County sheriff's department then pursued the defendant westbound on Route 135 through Luke, and Mountain came to a stop at the Garrett County line.

Surprise Action By Supreme Court Upholds Carter's Wage-Price Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a decision so rapid it caught the White House by surprise, the Supreme Court has left intact President Carter's authority to enforce his voluntary wage-price guidelines.

After adjourning on the final day of its 1978-79 terms Monday, the court announced it would not review an appellate decision upholding Carter's power to withhold government contracts from companies that violate the anti-inflation guidelines.

The action, on a 6-3 vote, came as a surprise. Justices William Brennan, Byron White and Thurgood Marshall said they would have liked to hear arguments and issue a formal ruling on an AFL-CIO appeal challenging the administration's enforcement power.

They would have needed only one more vote to do so, since four are required.

The White House had no immediate reaction to the ruling, and administration officials indicated surprise at the speed with which the decision was handed down.

The court's procedure was unusual. Before adjourning, it issued all remaining opinions of its regular term but Chief Justice Warren Burger announced the term technically will remain "open" until the day before the new one starts in October.

Five hours later, the court issued a brief order on the wage-price issue, which both sides had urged it to resolve as quickly as possible. One employee in the court clerk's office said the procedural action was so rare, "I've never heard of it happening."

Earlier, U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker had ruled the president unconstitutionally assumed powers not given him by Congress when he issued an executive order declaring companies that have violated the "voluntary" guidelines to be ineligible for government contracts exceeding $5 million.

Supreme Court Turns Over State Abortion Statute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new Supreme Court decision on teenage abortions gives the states some strong hints on how far they may go to control minors' decisions on the emotional issue.

The high court Monday, 8-1, struck down a Massachusetts statute requiring an unmarried girl under 18 to seek parental consent for an abortion. If she is denied that, the law allows her to seek a judge's approval.

But four justices, who with dissenter Byron White could make a majority on future such cases, included in their opinion some advice to states that leaves "the door open" to adopt other statutes "that will involve both parents and the courts," noted Janet Benshoof of the American Civil Liberties Union.

"While the Supreme Court struck down the discriminatory Massachusetts law, the justices have taken a step backwards today for minors' rights by sanctioning laws that are equally burdensome to teenagers," said Karen Mulhauser, executive director of the National Abortion Rights Action League.

But Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, called the high court's decision "a grave blow" to parental rights and family relationships.

Justice Lewis Powell, in an opinion joined by three others, said states may require parental consent for a minor to obtain an abortion if they provide an alternative procedure, more meaningful than the one in Massachusetts, under which an abortion can be authorized.

A teenager must be allowed to show she is "mature enough and well enough informed to make her abortion decision in consultation with her physician, independently of her parents' wishes," or that "the desired abortion would be in her best interests," he said.

The procedure "must ensure the provision requiring parental consent does not in fact amount to the absolute, and possibly arbitrary, veto."

The court said the Massachusetts law was unconstitutional because it allowed a judge to block an abortion even when the teenager could establish her maturity and competence to make such a decision, and required consultation or notice to a teenager's parents in every instance, regardless of whether it is "in the pregnant minor's best interests."

Acceptance Of New Susan B. Anthony Dollar Is Varied

By United Press International

Many people lined up for the new Susan B. Anthony dollar coin Monday, the first day of issue, but many others shied away from it because it looks too much like a quarter.

Banks in Baltimore, Seattle, Norfolk, Va., and Washington, D.C. — to cite a few areas — reported a brisk demand for the copper-nickel coin, the first U.S. coin to bear the likeness of a real-life woman.

Jeanne Johnson, an official with the Lincoln First Bank in Rochester, N.Y., said, "We are swamped. We've had people asking for them all day. One man got $100 worth and most people are getting two or three."

"We had a pretty big turnout," said Carol Bednarzic, a teller at the First National Bank in Baltimore. "We sold about three rolls per teller." Each roll contains 120 coins.

And Betty Davidson, superintendent of the Denver Mint, which made up $200 million worth of the new coin, made a point of using the new dollar in making change for visitors at its Numismatic Room. But, like everyone else, she had to send out to banks early Monday to get the new coins.

At some banks the demand was pretty low. In Boston, for instance, one officer of the New England Merchants National Bank said, "I would have expected a lot more people requesting them."

Robert Herig, a teller at the Shawmut Bank in Boston, said, "I put a stack of them (the new dollars) on the counter so people would see them, but most people think they're quarters."

That was a common complaint, and understandably so.

Debra Pendleton, who got one of the new coins in change at a Providence bank, offered it as payment for a purchase at a discount store, but the salesperson turned up a nose, thinking it was a Canadian quarter, and said, "I can't take this."

John Breen, vice president of the Little Rock, Ark., branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, said interest in the new coin has been high among banks for the currency's "promotional and novelty aspects." He said many that were distributed Monday probably will become souvenirs and won't make it into circulation.

But U.S. Mint Director Stella Hackel, speaking Monday on the steps of the house where Ms. Anthony lived in Rochester, N.Y., insisted, "The economic purpose of this coin is very important. This is not a token coin, it's a real coin, a coin to be circulated."

About 30 women from the Feminist Caucus of the Susan B. Anthony Memorial demonstrated in front of the house, carrying signs reading, "Women Will Not Be Bought Off" and "Educate All Women To Rebel."

"The image of Miss Anthony has been distorted with the release of this coin," said protester Kathryn Denison. "I'm against the notion that the coin has been issued for economic reasons."

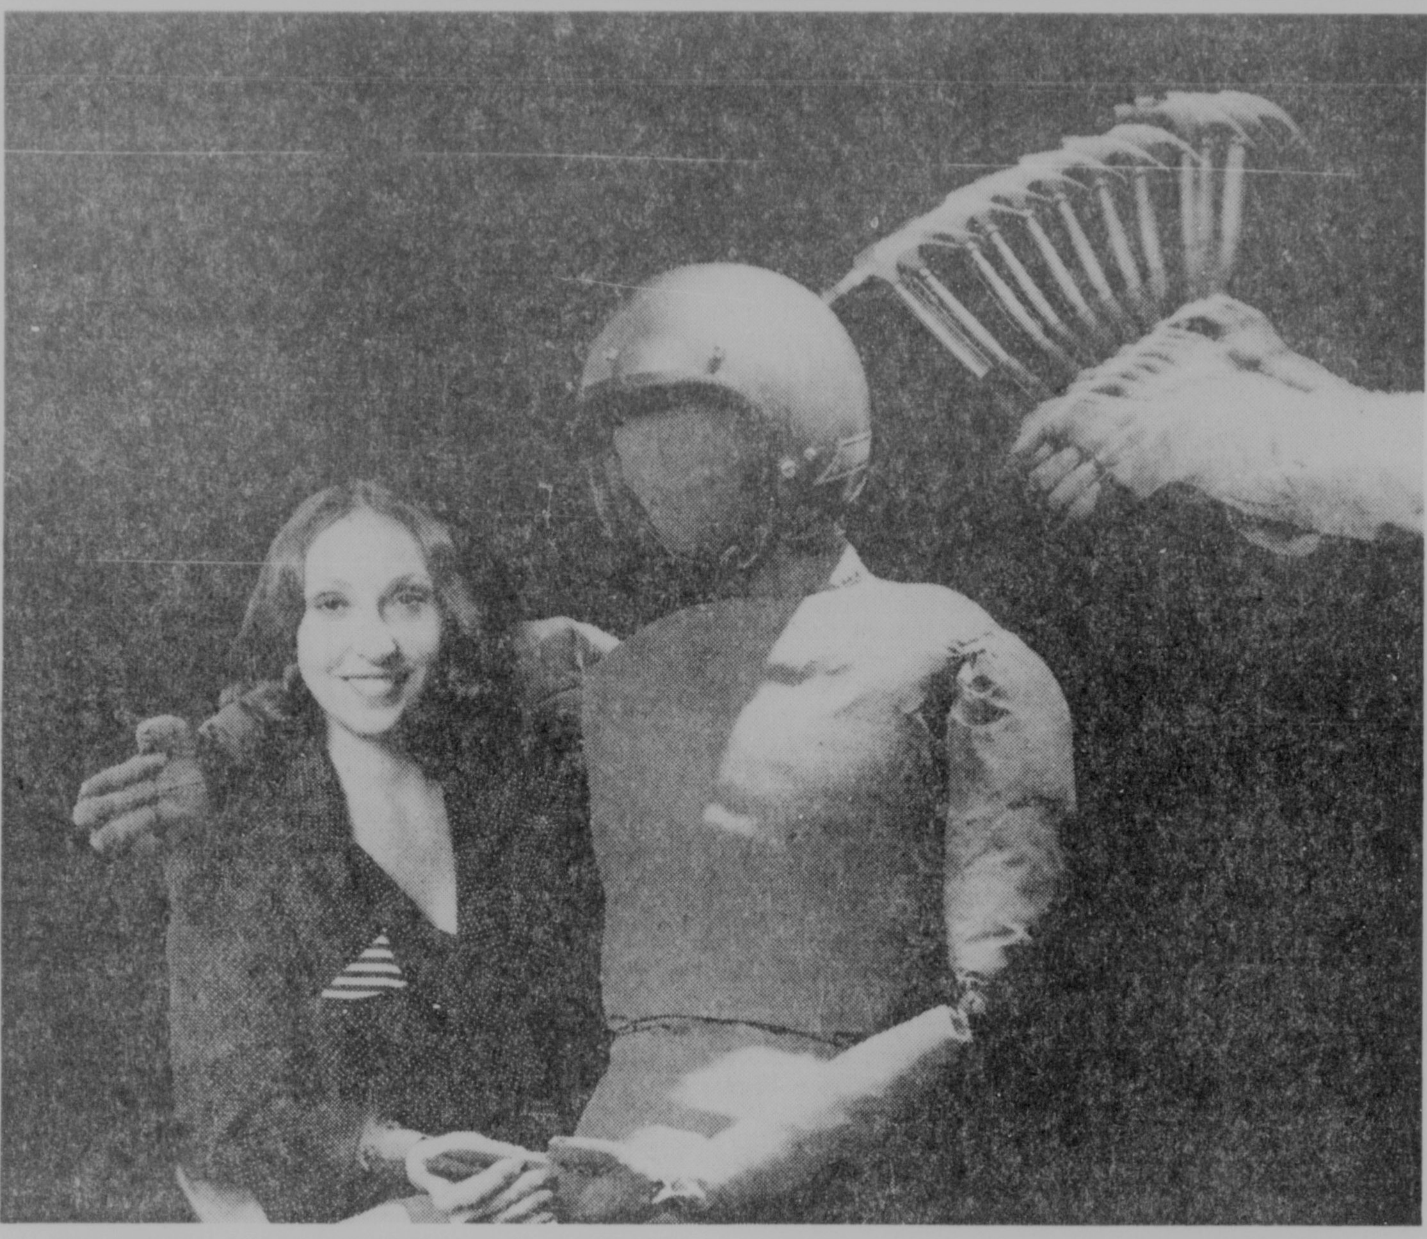
But that didn't stop the Cal Neva club in Reno, Nev., from installing a carousel of 17 Susan B. Anthony dollar slots and having them in use bright and early Monday morning.

Susan B. Anthony — not the original, but a 50-year-old cocktail waitress from Levittown, Pa. — was on hand at a Chock Full o' Nuts luncheonette in Manhattan to hand out free Susan B. Anthony dollars to the first 100 customers.

Mrs. Anthony, who has five children and 10 grandchildren, was quick to point out she's not related to the suffragette and the similarity in their names "is just an accident."

Does she like the coins?

"Of course I do," she said, "but I'm a little prejudiced."



NO DUMMY — In spite of the hammer blow simulating the impact in motorcycle accidents, this dummy was able to keep his head because he's wearing a protective helmet. Since there is more than a 50-percent chance of head impact during an accident, the Motorcycle Safety Foundation recommends that all Maryland cyclists wear helmets even though the state no longer requires their use. Christine Radiske, the Foundation's director of public affairs who appears in this demonstration, said helmets are specifically designed to absorb impact, but do not hinder vision, impair hearing or cause neck injuries. Of every 10,000 registered cycles, 333 will be involved in an accident this year. Maryland repealed its mandatory helmet-wearing law for motorcyclists over the age of 18 as of June 30, 1979.

Truckers, Government Near Settlement

By United Press International

Participation in the independent truckers strike dwindled today and a national leader said the truckers are close to a settlement with the federal government that would put all 100,000 owner-operators back on the roads.

Independents returned to work in increasing numbers Monday, although hard-core strikers demonstrated noisily in some states for more government concessions.

"We're not that far apart on the issues," said Bill Hill, spokesman for the Independent Truckers' Unity Coalition and one of the most vocal proponents of the strike since it began June 7.

Hill left Pittsburgh for Washington for another round of talks today with the Interstate Commerce Commission, which regulates the industry. He said the majority of independents "will hold out until all the grievances are resolved."

"Perhaps there is room to compromise on some issues," Hill said. "We're looking forward to further negotiations and to getting the shutdown resolved."

Truckers in New Jersey, South Dakota, Colorado, Ohio and Montana voted to return to work Monday. Mandy Olson, president of the Minnesota Independent Truckers Assocation, said many drivers quit the strike because they are "broke."

"It's been three weeks without an income for most of them," he said, predicting many would schedule shorter and less-frequent hauls than before the strike. "They'll make an occasional trip to put food on the table."

National Guard troops were sent home from duty in Minnesota and Kentucky, where they had protected gasoline distribution centers that had been blockaded by independents since the early days of the strike.

The board of directors of the Exempt and Independent Truckers Association, a that represents produce haulers from Jacksonville, Fla., to South Florida, voted to end its strike for at least 90 days to give state and federal officials time to meet their demands.

Independents in Georgia returned to work, but threatened another shutdown Sept. 15 if the government fails to heed their demands.

Indiana drivers pulled their rigs into the Statehouse parking lot for a meeting with Gov. Otis R. Bowen, who told them he supports their demands for full fuel allocations and higher freight rates, but opposes their efforts to increase highway speed and weight limits.

About 30 tractor trailors circled the Daley Center in the heart of Chicago's Loop to protest negotiation tactics used by Carter administration officials in dealing with trucking spokesmen in Washington.

"We're going to let the working truckers know that they should join us in our work shutdown for their own good," Bill Hayes, president of the National Council of Independent Truckers, said in Chicago.

Truckers stopped picketing oil terminals in central Arkansas, but said they plan to maintain the strike until their demands are met.

"They (the government) will have to come up with something before anyone can go back to work," said Wade Rowlett, a trucker spokesman.

Rural Areas Receive Half Of State's Gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maryland energy officials have allocated about half of the state's emergency gasoline supplies to rural areas while metropolitan areas are plagued by long gas lines, it was reported today.

The Washington Post reported that state emergency gasoline that goes to the rural areas is earmarked for "hardship" users, but admitted the state doesn't check many of the hardship claims it receives.

The newspaper said the metropolitan areas of Washington and Baltimore received 1.4 million gallons of emergency gas in June, and quoted a federal energy official as saying the state "should be using this stuff in the cities and giving it to station after station that is willing to stay open."

Martin I. Caplan, the state's energy resources administrator, defended the allocation system, saying "I've got to keep construction going . . . In rural areas, the small construction companies build bridges and roads.

"I've got to keep agriculture going, too. Without it, you don't have food . . . My obligation is to the economy of the state."

Nation Prepares To Celebrate The 4th

By United Press International

Cannon fire will complement the crescendo of the "1812 Overture" in Chicago's Grant Park, a mile-long fireworks flotilla will light up New York's Hudson River and the folks of Seward, Neb., will observe a "good, old-fashioned, clean-cut" Fourth of July.

The nation's 203rd birthday Wednesday also will be marked by more closed gasoline stations than in years past. But because Independence Day falls in the middle of the week for the first time since 1973, less than the normal amount of long-distance driving is expected.

No shortage of gunpowder was evident. Virtually every community in the nation planned some sort of fireworks display, ranging from the spectacular to the homemade — and often illegal. A grand jury in Chicago Monday returned a first-ever felony indictment accusing a couple of stashing more than a ton of illegal fireworks in their suburban home, allegedly to sell to neighborhood children.

If the hoopla is anything like last year, about 100,000 people will gather around the Grant Park bandshell on Chicago's lakefront to watch a fireworks festival and listen to Peter Ilich Tschaikovsky's heart-thumping "1812 Overture."

The Chicago symphony orchestra added four cannons to its stable of instruments last year to add a bit more realism to the Russian composer's work, which actually commemorates his homeland' repulsion of Napoleon's armies.

New York's official festivities include speedboat races, street festivals and musical events in the Wall Street area — capped by the floating fireworks display. It will consume a 20-block battery of rockets, flares and shells that officials said will create a man-made version of the Milky Way over Manhattan's West Side.

New York transit officials beefed up bus and subway runs for the day, expecting more gas-starved residents than ever to attend the daylong party.

Residents of Seward, Neb., a Great Plains town of 5,300, got state officials to proclaim their community "America's Official Fourth of July City — Small Town USA."

Their celebration, which culminates a year-long community effort, will include a greased-pole climb, a log-sawing contest, colonial-style anvil firing, a 13-mile "half marathon" race, a horseshoe pitching contest, band concerts, flea markets, antique car shows, children's theater and a "mellerdrama," a buffalo and beef barbecue, an ice cream social, a frisbee contest, and, of course, a square dance.

"It's just a good, old-fashioned, clean-cut Fourth of July," said Clark Kolterman, 28, a Seward businessman.

Holocaust Stirs West Germans To Abolish Law

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — West German lawmakers, stirred to action by the American TV series "Holocaust," today weighed legislation to abolish the statute of limitations for war crimes committed by Nazi murderers.

The legislation was expected to pass but the vote probably will be close. Its backers predicted it would pass the Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, at the end of an all-day debate today.

"This film compels all of us to ponder critically and morally the decision we have to make this year on the statute of limitations," Chancellor Helmut Schmidt said, after seeing the series on the Nazi entermination of Jews.
tion of Jews.

Sentiment both in and out of Parliament had been against any change in the statute of limitations, which expires on Dec. 31. Then "Holocaust" was shown on West German television and it shocked the country. Some members of Parliament are seeking to abolish the time limit for prosecuting war criminals to ensure Nazis may not escape punishment.

"Those who had doubts about the wisdom of letting Nazi crimes lapse have even more now," said Erik Blumenfeld, a Christian Democratic survivor of the Auschwitz concentration camp.

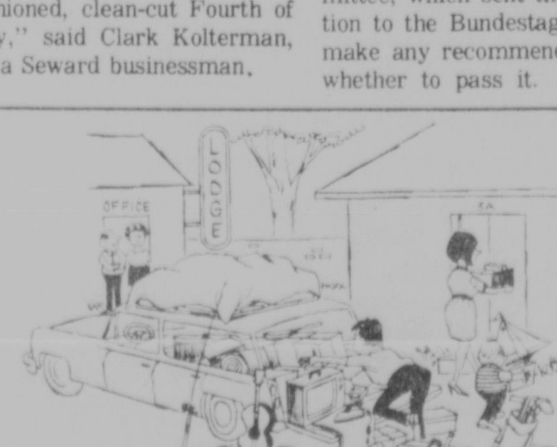
A public opinion poll taken after "Holocaust" was televised showed sentiment in favor of the legislation jumped 15 points to 47 percent of the population.

International sentiment was in favor of the legislation. The U.S. House of Representatives recently approved a motion urging passage of such measures.

Schmidt and other Social Democratic leaders supported the legislation but there was opposition to it in Schmidt's tiny coalition partner, the Free Democrats, and in the opposition Christian Democrats.

Opinion was so divided that all parties said their members could consult their consciences and vote as they pleased with no party discipline involved.

The parliamentary legal committee, which sent the legislation to the Bundestag, did not make any recommendation on whether to pass it.



"They haven't gotten away from it all. They brought it with them!"

Carter To Discuss Energy Crisis In Nationwide Address Thursday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, who has given governors and refiners more power to distribute gasoline supplies, plans a national address Thursday night on "the steps we need to take" to meet the energy crisis.

The twin announcements were disclosed late Monday after a day in which Carter heard James Schlesinger, his much-criticized energy secretary, acknowledge that rural areas are receiving more than their share of scarce gasoline.

The federal allocation system, Schlesinger said, puts gasoline "where the automobiles are not."

Carter was to meet again today with his energy advisers before departing for Camp David where he will spend the Fourth of July.

White House press secretary Jody Powell told reporters Carter had asked for television and radio time Thursday to "discuss the short-term and long-term energy crisis, reasons for it and the steps we will need to take to deal with it."

In the next few weeks, Powell said, Carter will make major decisions in the energy area and then ask Congress to approve the "difficult choices."

The fuel policy revisions drafted by the Energy Department amount to reassuring oil companies they can deviate from the nation's feast or famine allocation formulas by shifting as much as 5 percent of one area's gasoline supplies to a region that needs it more.

The shifts can take place within a state or from state to state, but would have to be justified by proof of a severe shortage in the area that would benefit.

Philip Garon, an Energy Department spokesman, said suppliers could rely on a governor's determination that a severe shortage exists in a particular area. In an interstate shift, other factors like long gas lines and closed stations would have to be considered along with a governor's statement the state was experiencing a gasoline shortfall.

The reallocation power, coupled with a governor's 5 percent gasoline set-aside allotment, would permit as much as 10 percent of one area's gasoline supply to be used to relieve a shortage in another area of the state.

The president personally told the governors of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut of the decision in a conference telephone call. The three states have serious shortages.

During a meeting with a newly formed energy task force, Carter and Schlesinger chatted quietly while posing for photographers.

"Do you feel the allocation formula is fair to the Northeast?" Carter asked in a soft tone that was picked up only by open broadcast microphones.

Schlesinger said, "it's a uniform formula," then paused.

Carter asked whether he was trying to say the formula "put gasoline where the automobiles are?"

"No," Schlesinger replied.

"Really?" Carter responded.

"What it does is to put the gasoline where the automobiles are not," Schlesinger said. "It puts it in the rural areas where people are no longer going on weekends."

"We've got a little alteration in which we're going to provide the state governors with the authority to re-allocate within the states," he said.

Gasoline Lines Expected To Be Shorter In July

United Press International

The gasoline crunch throughout the country is easing on the eve of Independence Day and gas lines during the rest of the month are likely to be shorter than they were in June.

Supplies will be slightly increased and more gas available to areas that need it most.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said Monday President Carter has promised to help New York, New Jersey and Connecticut obtain up to 5 percent more gasoline this month. That would mean 30 million more gallons for New York alone.

In addition, the federal Energy Department Monday — admitting its allocation system favored rural areas — altered its rules to let oil companies shift some supplies to the gas-parched cities.

Motorists planning a holiday trip have a better chance of finding gas than they have had in recent weekends.

In Connecticut, for example, officials said at least 200 of the state's 3,100 service stations will be open July 4, compared with only 30 that were open two weekends ago.

The head of the New Jersey Service Station Owners Association said 35 percent of the state's stations are expected to open July 4, most of them along the shore tourist areas and main roads.

Farther west, the gas situation improves considerably.

In North Dakota, two-thirds of the stations reported they will be open on the Fourth and in California, the state that pioneered odd-even rationing, auto association and state officials have predicted adequate gasoline for holiday travelers.

Improved supplies, however, do not mean an end to the gasoline shortage. The odd-even rationing system remains in effect indefinitely in many states.

Officials in Illinois said the state will receive more gasoline this month than in June, but supplies still will be about 10 percent less than last July.

Carey imposed a $5 to $7 minimum purchase requirement at the gas pumps in the 10 New York counties now covered by odd-even rationing.

And the Energy Department emphasized that reallocations would be allowed only in gases of severe shortage.

The agency said suppliers could begin redirecting supplies immediately.

Consumers Pay For Larger Size Of Utility Plants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Electrical utilities are christening larger and costlier plants and boosting their generating reserve capacity at a time when the growth in demand for electricity is sagging.

The excess capacity is adding millions of dollars to electric bills each year, but the utilities say higher reserves are essential to insure an adequate power supply.

The sheer size of new generating plants — usually from 500 to 1,000 megawatts — is one of the main reasons larger reserves are needed, industry officials said today.

Utility companies traditionally have followed a rule of thumb calling for a reserve of 20 percent above peak summer electricity demand, plus enough capacity to offset an outage at their largest unit.

Carolyn Smith of the Office of Consumer Affairs questioned the economic advantages of the large plants, and James Kennedy of the Ohio Energy Department said much of the promise of larger units "just hasn't panned out."

"Six-hundred megawatts is probably the optimal size for most coal systems. Above that it may not be economical. It's just going to cost their customers a whole lot more," Kennedy said."

Carl Tobie of Edison Electric Institute, a utility industry organization, said U.S. reserve generating capacity averaged 33.7 percent last summer compared to 20.8 percent in 1972 and 18.4 percent in 1966.

The sharp increases were accompanied by a drop in annual demand growth from an average of about 7.7 percent in 1972 to the current 4.5 percent.

The statistics have prompted observers like William Spratley, president of the National Association of State Utility Consumer Advocates, to charge the utilities are overbuilt.

But Jerry Karaganis of the electric institute said statistics on reserves are misleading.

He said the industry is under tremendous pressure from government to phase oil and gas plants out of their systems by building nuclear and coal units, so a true picture of a utility's reserve can't be gleaned from the statistics of a particular year.

Karaganis predicted increased demand in the next decade would bring utility reserves back in line with the conventional 20-percent yardstick.

July 1 Brings Tax Law Changes, Larger Paychecks

"After July 1, 1979, Marylanders should be seeing slightly larger paychecks and slightly lower gas and electric and home heating fuel bills, because of legislation passed by the 1979 session of the Maryland General Assembly," Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said last week.

The larger paychecks for Maryland wage earners will result from a change in State income tax withholding tables reflecting the increase in the State standard deduction to 13% or a maximum of $1,500 for single taxpayers and a maximum of $3,000 for married couples. The previous standard deduction was 10% or a maximum of $500 per taxpayer.

For a family of four with one wage earner making $13,000 per year, this will mean $1.48 more in each weekly paycheck. Because of this change, taxpayers taking the standard deduction on Maryland returns filed next year will save up to $75 for single taxpayers and $150 for joint or combined spearate returns.

Also effective July 1, the 5% retail sales tax on sales of residential natural gas, electricity, steam, heating oil, propane and coal will be eliminated, resulting in lower fuel bills for Maryland consumers. In addition, the temporary sales tax exemption for the fuel rate adjustment portion of gas and electric bills for residential and apartment dwellers has been made permanent.

Other tax law changes affect various groups. A change in the retail sales tax law eliminates the 2% sales tax on manufacturing and farm machinery and equipment.

Maryland employers will want to know that legislation has changed the due dates for State income tax employer withholding remittances to conform with IRS due dates. For the months of March, June and September, the due date will be the last day of the following month. The due date for the month of December withholding will remain January 31. Employers filing on a quarterly basis must report by the last day of the month following the close of the quarter. The new law will apply beginning with monthly and quarterly withholding returns due in July, 1979.

CONVERSATIONS ON CARPETING

Brought to you by
Carolyn & Butch Helbig

Choosing Just The Right Color

When selecting color, remember that a small room will appear larger if you use cool colors while an extremely large room will seem more intimate and cozy if done in warm ones. Also consider the amount of sunlight a room receives. If lots of sun streams in, a room can be cooled down by relaxing blues and greens, while a dark room can come to life by using the bolder warm colors.

The three types of color schemes are Monochromatic, Related and Contrasting. Monochromatic consists of various tints and shades of one color. With this type, reserve your darkest shade for the carpeting. A Related scheme uses colors that are related on a color wheel, while Contrasting works with colors that are opposites on the wheel. When using two contrasting colors make the one used in the carpeting a bit more dominant than the other. A usual procedure is to make your carpeting the deepest value in the room, with walls a bit lighter and ceiling lighter still. But if you want your room to appear larger, choose light carpeting and light walls. Confused about color schemes and carpet colors? Why not let our decorators assist you?

Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.

Hospital Expansion Program Approved By HSA Governing Body June 20

The Governing Body of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland met June 20 at the Ali Ghan Country Club, Cumberland. Ms. Agnes A. Kemerer, Chairman, presided.

Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Expansion and Renovation Project for an estimated cost of $7,154,000 was approved by the Governing Body. Several HSA and State Agency concerns were addressed as follows: The exact footage the Health Department would be allocated totals 25,000 gross square feet. There will be a financial transfer of approximately $108,000 for the square footage from the Hospital to the County. The fund raising campaign goal will be $150,000 and other means of financing include $2,500,000 from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

The Garrett County Commissioners appointed Edgar H. Harman to serve on the governing Body and reappointed Mrs. Marilyn J. Filemyr to another three-year term on the Governing Body, effective September 1.

Other advisory committee activities approved by the Governing Body include the following:

1) Its proposed FY 1979-80 budget for its application entitled "Administration of the Appalachian Maryland Health Program;"

2) The placement of an additional University of Maryland student intern through the Area Health Education Center, Cumberland;

3) The End Stage Renal Disease, HSP Summary, and Necessary Systems Change sections of the Health Systems Plan to be forwarded to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Philadelphia;

4) The pre-opening certification of the Homewood Retirement Center's project for the construction of a 160-bed nursing home in Frederick for an estimated cost of $4,089,874;

5) The certification of Washington County Hospital Association's Modernization, Renovation and Expansion Project for an estimated cost of $32,174,845; and

6) The project entitled "Long Distance Critical Care Transport System" submitted by the Cumberland Area Rescue and Emergency Services, Inc., for a total cost of $124,000, of which $107,300 is being requested from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Two new staff members were introduced:

Fred V. Tola began as Coordinator of Health Resources Development on June 11. He holds a Master of Public Administration degree from the University of Baltimore and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Manhattan College, New York City. During his graduate studies, his areas of concentration were in health with internship experience at the Maryland Health Planning and Development Agency and public health administration at Johns Hopkins School of Public Health. He has three years of experience as an LPN.

Ms. Norene F. Pease began as Coordinator of Special Health Services on June 20. She holds a Master of Education in Counseling Psychology degree from American University, Washington, D. C. and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology, Sociology, and Secondary Education from New England College, Henniker, New Hampshire. Ms. Pease comes to us with two years of experience from the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

The Governing Body accepted other new appointments: Governing Body, Ms. Cheryl E. Potter, Frederick County; Bylaws Committee, Ms. Cheryl E. Potter, Frederick County; Special Health Services Committee, Edgar H. Harman, Garrett County; and Appalachian Committee, Dr. Dana G. Cable, Frederick County. Reappointed to the Governing Body by the Allegany County Commissioners to serve a three-year term, effective September 1, were Dr. George M. Breza and Dr. J. Steven Skupas of Allegany County. Ms. Kemerer announced that Ms. Cheryl Potter, Frederick County, was appointed by Governor Hughes to serve on the Statewide Health Coordinating Council.

The next Governing Body meeting will be on July 18 at 1 p.m. at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Hagerstown.

Those members present from Garrett County were: Mrs. Marilyn J. Filemyr, Edgar H. Harman, Ross B. James, Mrs. Pamela J. Nelson and Kenneth A. Richmond.

Energy Tip — When feasible, use hand equipment in the yard and garden to save energy and to get some physical exercise! When you do use power equipment, get the most efficient use from it by keeping it in good repair by keeping blades sharp on appropriate equipment and by following the manufacturer's recommended maintenance program. Don't allow gasoline-powered equipment to idle for any length of time — this wastes energy.

MILDEW: Is mildew a problem in your home when there is a great deal of humidity in the air? Perhaps some of the suggestions I will offer here will help you to better understand the problem and to begin controlling it.

Actually, molds which cause mildew are always in the air but they need moisture to grow. Mildew leaves a musty odor, discolors fabrics and sometimes causes them to rot. Molds develop most often on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood, and paper. Damp, dark, warm and poorly aired cellars, crawl spaces, clothes closets; draperies and rugs in basements; shower curtains; and clothes sorted when damp and/or dirty are all perfect environments for mildew growth.

The spread of mildew in moist environments can be prevented and/or remedied in the following ways:

*Control the cause of dampness by: replacing cracked or defective mortar; checking for adequate drainage; waterproofing concrete and other masonry walls above ground; sealing absorbent brick; and spreading a layer of heavy plastic over the soil in crawl spaces.

*Make sure there is adequate ventilation in the house by opening windows when out side air is drier than inside air, and by using an electric fan, an air conditioner, or a dehumidifier. If the house is very damp, turn the heat on for a short time and then open doors and windows to let moist air out. A light burning in a closet will keep this area dry.

*Keep closets, dresser drawers, basements, bathrooms and other susceptible areas as clean as possible — the cleaning method used will depend on the surface.

*Store garments and furnishings only when clean and dry.

If mildew has already appeared in your home, remove spots as soon as discovered before the mold weakens the materials. On washable fabrics, pretreat by rubbing detergent into the stain and then launder in hot water, detergent, and chlorine bleach or oxygen bleach, whichever is safe for the fabric. If the stain remains, sponge with hydrogen peroxide, rinse and launder. Take non-washables to the dry cleaners.

Treat upholstered pieces, mattresses, rugs and carpets differently since mildew can penetrate them deeply. When possible, first take item outside and brush mold away with a broom, then vaccum the area (dispose of sweeper bag following the operation). If the article is still damp use an electric heater or fan or leave it in the sun to air out. If mildew remains on upholstered furniture, wipe it with a cloth wrung out with a dilute alcohol solution — 1 cup denatured or rubbing alcohol to 1 cup of water. Dry the article thoroughly.

On mildewed leather, use the dilute alcohol solution and dry in a current of air. If mildew still remains, wash with saddle soap, rinse, and let dry.

REMEMBER: Be prepared for mildew by water-proofing, ventilating, and keeping your home clean. In case mildew does cause trouble, fresh air and suds will help get rid of the pesky mold.

FOOD NOTES

It's strawberry time in Garrett County, so I thought it would be appropriate for me to include a strawberry recipein this weeks article. I hope you will enjoy it.

SURPRISE STRAWBERRY SHERBET

1 pt. fresh strawberries, sliced
¼ c. sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
⅓ c. strawberry juice
1½ c. buttermilk
½ c. sugar
2 tablsp. lemon juice

Combine strawberries and the ¼ c. sugar and mash well. Let stand 10 minutes then strain off ⅓ c. juice. Set aside remaining crushed berries.

Soften gelatin in ⅓ c. of the strawberry juice. Dissolve over hot water. Add to buttermilk along with the remaining crushed berries, sugar and lemon juice, stirring well to dissolve sugar.

Pour into two refrigerator trays. Freeze until mushy. Beat in mixing bowl until smooth. Return to refrigerator trays. Freeze until firm. Garnish with whole berries. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Alcohol Revenues Increase, Tobacco Revenue Decreases

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported today that net receipts from alcohol and tobacco taxes for May 1979 were $6,917,320, or 4.18 percent less than these tax sources yielded during the same month of 1978. "Beer and wine tax revenues posted increases of 15.3 percent and 5.8 percent respectively, while tobacco tax revenue was off by 10.8 percent and distilled spirits tax revenues were almost identical to the same month of last year," Mr. Goldstein said.

Alcohol and tobacco tax revenue for the first eleven months of Fiscal Year 1979 totaled $72,284,908, almost the same as the $72,342,771 collected for the same period of Fiscal Year 1978. The .08 percent decline was the result of the $722,964 decrease in cigarette tax receipts. To date this fiscal year, the wine tax revenue of $2,887,412 has increased 3.46 percent; beer taxes have produced $8,639,009, up 10 percent and the $15,169,187 derived from the distilled spirits tax was down approximately one-half of one percent.

MVA Offering Parking Permits For Handicapped

Two types of special parking permits for handicapped persons — one for a person who must be a licensed driver and one for a person, licensed or not — will be available at Motor Vehicle Administration headquarters in Glen Burnie beginning Monday, July 2.

Loss of "mobility" is the principal criterion for determining eligibility for the disabled driver parking permit. Specifically, under the terms of the Handicapped Driver's Reciprocal Parking Agreement (HDRPA), to which Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia are party, a physician must certify that the driver has permanently lost the use of a leg, is so severely disabled as to be unable to walk without the aid of a mechanical device or is confined to a wheelchair, or is suffering from a disease that causes severely impaired mobility.

Governing the issuance of parking permits to a disabled person, regardless of whether he is licensed to drive or not, is Senate Bill 34, enacted at the 1979 session of the Maryland General Assembly. Under this law, likewise effective July 2, the same eligibility requirements apply that currently apply to handicapped or "wheelchair" license plates.

Thus, like an applicant for handicapped plates, (which will still be available), the applicant need not be a licensed driver or even the owner of a vehicle, but must be certified by a physician as having any of the following conditions: permanent loss of the leg OR an arm; inability to move without a wheelchair or crutches; permanent impairment in both eyes; certain forms of lung disease; permanent physical disability, which substantially impairs the driver's mobility.

Also, under Senate Bill 34, the MVA is required to charge a fee of $2.00 for each permit it issues. Permits issued under the HDRPA, on the other hand, are not subject to a fee.

Both permits are portable-type placards, not pressure-sensitive stickers, and should be displayed on top of the dashboard on the passenger side in a manner that is clearly visible through the windshield. Both permits are primarily intended to allow the permit-holder to park with ease in any parking space set aside for handicapped persons.

Like handicapped license plates, these special permits will be valid only on passenger vehicles and small trucks, such as pick-up or panel trucks.

Persons interested in obtaining either type of permit should write for an application to: Handicapped Permits Section, c/o Motor Vehicle Administration, 6601 Ritchie Highway, Glen Burnie 21062.

State Publishes Plan For Provision Of Social Services

Kalman R. Hettleman, State Secretary of Human Resources, announced that Maryland's plan for the provision of social services under Title XX of the Social Security Act for the program year July 1, 1979 to June 30, 1980 has been published. Copies of the plan are now available.

According to Secretary Hettleman, the State's plan is directed toward the following goals: to provide social services directed to enable individuals, families, and children residing in Maryland to restore, maintain, or enhance their capability for self-support, self-care, independent living, and improved family life.

Specific services to be provided to accomplish those goals include adoption, service to drug addicts and abusers, community home care, day care for children and adults, family planning, foster care for children and adults, and legal services.

Also included in the plan are multi-purpose senior centers, protective services for children and adults, single parent services, and special services to the handicapped.

Secretary Hettleman said that recipients of public assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program and recipients of federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or State supplementary benefits are eligible for these services.

In addition, persons whose gross income does not exceed certain limits in relation to family size may also be eligible. Group eligibility will be instituted for persons receiving home-delivered congregate meals or who are participating in multi-purpose senior centers. Fees will be charged for certain services including day care for children, community home care, and homemaker/chore program. Detailed information on fees is available in the Title XX plan.

In announcing the final plan, Secretary Hettleman said that several changes were made in the plan proposed last April as a result of public comments received, and new state legislation.

Several modifications in service allocations were made to reflect changes made by the Maryland General Assembly and those required by purchase of service vendors. An additional $1.375 million has been added to the Day Care for Children program, including additional funds for purchase of family and group day care as well as $150,000 for the Before and After School Day Care program in Baltimore City. Several other changes were made in numbers served, relationships to national goals, and the needs assessment. The service definition for Services to Adults, Non-Aged has been broadened to allow the provision of services to adults in institutions, when the goal is the immediate return to community based living.

The plan may be reviewed or obtained free of charge throughout the year at all local departments of social services in each county and in Baltimore City. Also, information on the plan and applications for service may be obtained at those offices.

Comments received from the general public during the review process are available for review at the Department of Human Resources, Office of Program Planning and Evaluation, Room 611, 1100 North Eutaw Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, July 4, the 185th day of 1979 with 180 to follow.

This is American Independence Day — the nation's 203rd birthday.

The moon is moving toward its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury, Saturn and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Cancer.

American songwriter Stephen Foster was born July 4, 1826.

On this day in history:

In 1776, America's Declaration of Independence was proclaimed.

In 1826, former presidents John Adams and Thomas Jefferson both died — on the 50th anniversary of their signing of the Declaration of Independence.

In 1960, the U. S. flag officially grew to 50 stars after admission of Hawaii into the Union almost a year earlier.

In 1976, the United States celebrated its Bicentennial, July 4, marking the 200th anniversary of its independence with parades, festivals, and New York City's Operation Sail, a gathering of tall ships from around the world, viewed by 6-million people.

A thought for the day: In the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776, Thomas Jefferson said, ". . . We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

No one wanted the old country church torn down when the new building was put up across the road. It just didn't seem respectful. Charlie Swenson suggested, "Why not make it a museum?"

You should have seen the activity here one Saturday. Everyone for miles around turned out, bringing mops and paint brushes — and, of course, chicken salad and apple pies. Then we had a dedication ceremony. Charlie Swenson's wife accompanied us on the old piano as we sang, "The Church's One Foundation."

Now tourists from the city come out to see the pot-bellied stoves, rustic pews and old lamps in our church museum. Once each summer we worship here.

For some of us there will always be a place in our hearts for this little church where we first learned about the teachings of God's Son. We love the new one, too. It is leading new generations into finding the same enduring values.

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TROUBLEMAKERS

Lesson for July 8, 1979

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 16:29 through 18:40.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 65:1-8.

Rev. Althouse

In our society today we place a high value on being "well-adjusted." The term is varyingly interpreted, but usually it means that a person has adapted him or herself to things as they are in their environment. Correspondingly, the unadjusted or maladjusted person is looked upon as a problem to be solved.

In his book, Healing And Wholeness (Paulist Press, 1977), John A. Sanford tells of a Nazi fighter pilot who during World War II was sent to a Jungian analyst because the 22 year-old youth had developed a hysterical color-blindness. The patient was cooperative but unyielding in his rabid Nazi beliefs. After some time had elasped without much apparent progress (he could see only in black and white), he had a series of dreams which eventually led him to see for the first time the horror of the Nazi philosophy. At last the young man began to move toward wholeness. Ironically, says Sanford, "...at his moment of greatest nonadaptation he achieved his greatest spiritual and psychological wholeness." In the eyes of his Nazi society, he had been "well-adjusted" but ill. Now, he was well, but in the process of becoming well he was no longer "well-adjusted." Sanford concludes: "If the individual adapts to a sick situation, he becomes part of that sickness."

Troubler Of Israel

This is what we find in the story of Elijah and King Ahab. Ahab has won the dubious distinction of being the king who "did more to provoke the Lord... to anger than all the kings of Israel who were before him" (1 Kings 16:33). Not only did Ahab offend God by marrying Jezebel, a pagan worshipper of Baal, but he aided and abetted her efforts to establish Baal as the major religion of Israel.

One gets the impression that almost everyone went along with Ahab's vile reign, except for a few prophets, among whom the most vigorous in his condemnations was Elijah. Thus, when at last they meet face-to-face, we find the bitter king calling to the prophet: "Is it you, you troubler of Israel?" (18:17). In Ahab's mind, Elijah was chiefly responsible for all the troubles that had descended upon his kingdom. Elijah was not well-adjusted!

The Real Culprit

But the prophet puts the blame squarely where it belongs: "I have not troubled Israel; but you have... because you have forsaken the commandments of the Lord and followed the Baals" (18:18). Ahab has brought this kettle of trouble upon himself and his nation. How typical to want to make someone else the scapegoat because they have the courage to resist adjustment to evil!

Today prophets still meet the same kind of resistance. Because they refuse to adjust to a sick situation and become part of that sickness, they are labeled as troublemakers. But God knows who the real troublemakers are! And we do too -- when we want to.

Of the 18 months, one was credited for time awaiting trial and 12 were suspended.

Franklin H. Millican, Accident, received the determination of nolle prosequi, or no prosecution, for two charges filed by William Millican, Friendsville. Those charges were burglary — intent to steal — day and larceny, grand, over $100.

William Millican Friendsville, filed two charges against Debbie Molisee, Accident which were burglary — intent to steal — day and larceny, grand, over $100. The determination of nolle prosequi was made in both charges.

Nolle prosequi was also the decision in the charge filed by William Millican, Friendsville, against John M. Millican, Accident, for receiving stolen goods — over $99.

The decision of nolle prosequi was made in the case of Larry J. Simmons, Mt. Lake Park, who was charged with assault. The complainant, Robert Barlley, Bayard, WV, did not appear for the trial.

Janet L. Reeves, Accident, received the decision of nolle prosequi for two counts of false pretense, because restitution was made to complainant, Robert T. Taylor, Oakland.

Zion LCW Has June 20 Meeting

The LCW of Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, met June 20 with Miss Leota Baker presiding and leading the topic, "Growing in Personal Prayer."

A gift offering was received from Mrs. Herman C. Meyers, a former member of Zion LCW.

Mrs. Ruthella Resh and the Rev. and Mrs. Curt Runze were remembered with books of inspirational poetry during June.

Tribute to the memory of Mrs. Martha Mitchell was made through a special offering to Lutheran Church Women, designated for specific ministries.

The quarterly project will be a wash cloth shower and washable bed pads for the Lutheran Home at Kane, Pa. The project is to be completed by the end of September.

The next meeting will be at the church July 11 at 2 p.m., when "Speaking Out for Older Persons" will be the topic.

Commission On Aging To Assume Meals Program

Eight years ago in August, the first federally-funded hot meals program for seniors began in Garrett County at a meal site in Jennings. Begun as a small pilot program, two additional sites were opened in Crellin and Kitzmiller during January 1974, serving hot meals to older persons one day a week.

Currently, the program has blossomed to the point that eight sites, located throughout the county, provide weekday meal service to over a thousand older persons.

In an effort to continue and foster programs for older residents of the County, this fall the meals program will merge with an existing social services program for the elderly in the County under the administration of the Garrett County Commission on Aging. In a joint meeting between the Boards of both the CAC and COA held last week, the positive aspects of such a merger were discussed. Centralizing the administration of the meals and social services programs follows a pattern already established in most other areas of the State. Cognizant of this and the opportunities for initiating new, additional services for seniors, responsibility for provision of hot meals will be transferred from the Community Action Committee to the Commission on Aging effective October 1, 1979.

In a meeting of the Board on June 28, 1979, the Community Action Committee voted to support this transition, noting that this action by no means lessens their commitment to serving the older residents of the County. Much as eight years ago when CAC launched the first meals program here, this action will provide the opportunity for them to focus greater attention on new programs/services for seniors and other target groups in the County.

The Community Action Committee will continue to administer its various other programs including Weatherization, a federally-funded housing rehabilitation program which is geared particularly to older persons. In a special meeting of its Board on June 29, leadership of the Garrett County Commission on Aging voted to accept responsibility for administering the meals program in addition to the social services program it has operated for the past two years, noting their commitment to continue the progress achieved during the past several years by CAC.

In a cooperative effort over the next several months, staff at the two agencies will be working toward implementing this transition. Throughout the period, meals and other existing service programs will continue without change or interruption.

According to Joel Shoap, director this transition is viewed by principals of both agencies as a move toward enhancing services to older persons here by consolidating two existing programs into one administrative framework and providing the opportunity to pursue other sources of funds for new or expanded programs serving senior citizens in Garrett County.

SKYLAB RETURNS

Reentry will occur at 106 kilometers (66 miles) above the earth. Thirteen kilometers (eight miles) lower, the solar observatory will be torn off the spacecraft. At 80 kilometers (50 miles) all the equipment in the observatory, will detach from it, and the multiple-docking adapter on the Skylab will begin to melt. When the Skylab falls to 77 kilometers (48 miles) of altitude, the docking adaptor will spearate from it. Individual pieces of Skylab will survive the fall to earth. Some of them may weigh two kilograms (one pound), others several thousand kilograms (pounds). Of the original reentry weight, about one-third of it will reach the earth's surface as 400 to 500 pieces. These pieces of the Skylab will strike the surface over an area 161 kilometers (100 miles) wide and 6436 kilometers (4000 miles) long.

MOON

Monday at 3:59 p.m. the moon will pass through its Full Moon phase. The moon set at 2:01 this morning. It will set at 6:54 a.m. next Tuesday. A waxing moon will be in the sky until Monday.

Small Business Institute Offers Free Agency Guide

A one-page guide to government agencies is now available from the Institute for Small Business at Frostburg State College to help individuals planning to start their own small business.

According to Don L. Zink, Senior Management Assistance Specialist, this guide is a one page listing of the agencies that may need to be contacted. Checklists are available for the western counties of Maryland, as well as neighboring counties in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The purpose of the checklist is to identify those agencies particularly relevant to a given business. Free and confidential assistance is available to help identify specific agencies that regulate any given line of business. One advantage of this checklist, according to Mr. Zink, is that it does not attempt to outline the laws and regulations which frequently change, thus outdating the checklist. Instead, it emphasizes direct contact with the agencies and people within them to get the most up-to-date information and required forms.

"Many people just do not know where to start when planning their own business," Mr. Zink said. "Often they miss or fail to understand the requirements imposed by federal, state, and local government." The checklist will make the process smoother if not easier. By visiting the different agencies and making personal contacts, the prospective business person will benefit in the long run. Most agencies are willing to help and have many capable people who will provide the detailed help needed.

Persons wanting one of the checklists may contact the Institute for Small Business at Frostburg State College, Frostburg, Maryland 21532. The following counties are now available: Allegany, Garrett, Frederick, Washington, Montgomery, and Carroll in Maryland. For Pennsylvania: Bedford, Fulton, Franklin, and Somerset. West Virginia checklists are available for the counties of Berkeley, Hampshire, Jefferson, and Mineral.

To receive a copy persons should write the Institute or call 301-689-4417. There is no charge for this checklist and other assistance is available if needed.

Preston County Plans Speech, Hearing Tests

The Speech and Hearing Department of the Preston County Schools will be conducting a summer screening program for all children who will be starting Early Childhood classes in the fall of this year. The program will begin July 16 and end July 26.

Coordinators of summer testing, Teresa Trenton and Sandy Walters, ask parents to bring their children to the local schools according to a schedule they have formulated.

Each child will be given a speech screening test, a pure tone hearing screening test and an impedance hearing test. It takes approximately ten minutes to complete the test, and all tests are free.

APPRAISALS

★VIEW FROM THE STARS★

Checking out both sides of the camera

By ANNE THAYER

Increasingly, we hear about performers who are also producers. For some, it's just means of garnering more take-home dollars as the profits roll in.

But for others it means the ability to ferret out suitable TV or screen properties, guiding successive creative phases and all the while successfully bossing the job.

Henry Winkler may still be the Fonz to his "Happy Days" fans, but viewers who know of his other efforts know he is a humanitarian and a TV producer with a sense of purpose. For instance, he re-edited an under-appreciated documentry of several years ago and successfully brought it to television as "Who Are the DeBolts and Why Do They Have 19 Children?"

Those who believe that Dick Cavett was never better than this past season on PBS may not all realize that in essence Dick now really is his own boss with his Daphne Company producing.

Not that men have any monopoly when it comes to producing.

Linda Purl, one of television's most in-demand actresses (she'll be seen this fall as journalist Nellie Bly) takes quiet pride in her company, which has a deal with ABC to develop properties, and not necessarily things in which she will appear.

Gail Patrick Jackson, one of the most stunning women ever to grace movies, gave up her acting career early to produce the nine successful TV years of "Perry Mason."

With glinting humor, Gail once recalled, "Most of the time, all got along fine. Only a couple of times did I ever say, 'Look, I'm the only one around here who can't be replaced.' "

The show was her baby all the way. She says the lead role could have gone to Efrem Zimbalist, Jr. if he'd wanted it. He didn't. And she did want Raymond Burr in the show, though she planned to cast him as Burger, the District Attorney. But Burr asked also to test for the lead, promising to stay on a strict diet (he's always had to fight obesity). He got the job because Gail was convinced by the test "that he had the chemistry, the appeal, to carry the role."

Some of the most successful production companies, interestingly, are mom-and-pop collaborations.

Hildy Parks, who writes the well-paced Tony Awards' shows that her husband Alex Cohen has been producing annually for CBS, confirms that a news item is more true than false. Namely, Cohen wants Hildy to write any stage shows he'll produce in the future. He says "because things just come out better when we work together."

Television's Mrs. and Mr. Big are Mary Tyler Moore an her spouse, Grant Tinker, who in addition to vehicles starring Mary, have created such other quality series as "The Bob Newhart Show" and "Lou Grant."

Another husbnd-and-wife couple who act and produce are Tom Laughlin and Delores Taylor. Despite their success with films such as "Billy Jack," they remain enigmatic figures because, says Tom, "we're introverted people." They are also warm, loving, lovely people who've worked very hard for their prosperity. Only now are they branching out to share their organizational skills with good charity causes and finding time to talk to the press about the values that matter to them.

The only television glimpses of them you're to get this summer will be in connection with the big new Merv Griffin Tennis-in-Venice tournament. After that, they re-dedicate themselves to making movies starring Tom, and produced by Delores who also usually provides a role for herself. Says Tom:

"You'll to forgive me for bragging but Dody is just great. She raised $190,000 for our first movie, and did everything else herself including fighting with the unions and getting up at 5 a.m. to make all the lunches because we couldn't afford a caterer."

But about that tournament, yes, says Tom, "Dody and I will both play and it's for a good cause: UNICEF."

FAMILY AFFAIR – Tom Loughlin (right) and his daughter Teresa flank Merv Griffin during his Tennis-in-Venice tournament.

TV People

Lenny Kosnowski on ABC's "Laverne & Shirley" is known off the set as Michael McKean.

Born in Manhattan and reared in Sea Cliff, Long Island, Michael McKean is the son of Ruth and Gilbert McKean. His father is an executive in New York City, and his mother is a high school librarian described by Michael as, "my number one press agent."

When McKean was 15 he started acting in high school plays. He continued to pursue his goal of becoming a performer while attending Carnegie Tech and New York University. It was at Carnegie Tech that he met David L. Lander, who plays his oddball roommate, Squiggy, on the half-hour comedy series. The characters of Lenny and Squiggy developed from that early friendship.

In 1970, Michael came to Hollywood and was reunited with Lander. Soon thereafter both joined a satirical comedy group, "The Credibility Gap," and toured the United States for four years.

Not only a talented actor, McKean enjoys playing the guitar and has composed several songs and scores for feature shorts. "After dealing with hundreds of people, I relax when I can be alone with my music," says Michael.

Michael and his wife, Susan, are the parents of a son, Colin Russell, born Feb. 16, 1976. Michael's other interests include taking care of the many animals that he and Susan raise in their Hollywood home, reading science-fiction and writing.

He stands 6 feet tall and weighs 155, with blond hair and blue eyes.

TV Tattle

By PEPPER O'BRIEN

In a departure from his usual comedy roles, John Ritter will star as a washed-up baseball star who becomes a hopeless drunk. That is, until he finds new meaning in his life as coach of a gang of tough street kids in "The New Season," an ABC TV movie. Susan Dey, former Partridge warbler, also stars, with James Gregory of "Barney Miller," Doug McKeon, Dick O'Neill, Ron Gist and Michael Lembeck.

Elsewhere at ABC, Kate Jackson and mate Andrew Stevens are making themselves invisible on their very own production of "Topper." Typical of television, rather than have the Kirby's be merely mischevious ghosts as in the original, Kate and Andy's Marion and George will be sent to earth to do good deeds in order to get into heaven. Jack Warden, who's done this sort of thing before in "Heaven Can Wait," plays the harried Topper. Rue McClanahan is his befuddled wife, Clara.

Kate Jackson isn't the only one with a personal production company. Gary Coleman Productions is fronting NBC's "The Kid From left Field," a remake of the 1953 feature that starred Dan Dailey. The diminutive Mr. Coleman will of course play the kid, and former TV doc, Vince Edwards, is directing. Robert Guillaume, who's set to star in his own series, "Benson," will play Larry Cooper, the has-been third-baseman and father of Coleman. This is going to be a big year for both washed-up athletes and re-makes.

Susan Saint James and Mike Farrell star as divorcees trying to make new lives for themselves in "Sex and the Single Parent," a CBS movie before the cameras. Jackie Cooper is directing the comedy-drama, which also stars Justin Dana, Natasha Ryan, Marty Gold and Katy Kurtzman as the little ones.

Well, one of the five fellows from CBS's defunct "Flatbush," managed to escape the wrath of Brooklyn's blasphemed residents and go on to another acting day. Vincent Bufano will co-star in NBC's "The Force," as a street-smart detective working under Joe Don Baker. Bufano is not only street-smart, but stage-smart, as well. He's worked his way up from studies with Stella Adler in New York, through dozens of community and Off-Broadway productions. And "The Force" won't even have to be that good to be better than "Flatbush."

Jason Miller, who's first big role was in "The Exorcist," is messsin' around where he doesn't belong again. In "The Henderson Monster," the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright-turned actor will play a Nobel Prize-winning scientist who attempts to create life in the laboratory. The CBS movie, now shooting in Virginia, also stars Christine Lahti, Stephen Collins, David Spielberg, Larry Gates and Nehemiah Persoff.

Mark Harmon, of ABC's new "240-Robert," had a hairy beginning to his acting career. He got a phone call one day from Ozzie Nelson (his sister Kris was married to Rick Nelson). An actor was sick, and Mark was asked to fill in. He made his debut playing a gorilla in the series, "Ozzie's Girls." Says Mark, "You never saw who I was, but I loved it."

In one of her first films, Liza Minnelli plays one of three hospital out-patients who make a go at living together, in "Tell Me That You Love Me, June Moon" Tuesday, July 10, on CBS.

It's comedy night on CBS

Two bellylaughs before bedtime

SOME HELP — Bobbie Mitchell is the harried hostess and Jeff J. Redford is the manager's scatterbrained nephew in, "Rendezvous Hotel," a new comedy airing on "The CBS Wednesday Night Movies," July 11.

CBS is the network for laughs on Wednesday, July 11, as they turn over an entire evening to comedy. And the extra good news is most of it is new material.

The evening begins with Academy Award-winner George Kennedy as a middle-aged businessman who falls in love with a young woman doctor, in "Never Say Never." The special half-hour comedy also stars Anne Schedeen, Irene Tedrow, Bruce Kimmel and Rick Podell.

Kennedy portrays Harry Walter, a widower who thrives on the desk-pounding atmosphere of his plumbing supply company. He soon finds himself in the gentler world of romance and courtship when he meets and falls in love with Dr. Sarah Keaton (Miss Schedeen), a poised and beautiful pediatrician.

Harry and Sarah's relationship has one or two pitfalls. Both are apprehensive about the autumn-spring romance; and when Harry hears wedding bells, Sarah prefers to try the more modern approach of living together.

Kennedy was awarded an Oscar for Best Supporting Actor in the 1968 motion picture "Cool Hand Luke" and he was nominated for another Oscar for his role in "Airport." His recent credits include "Death on the Nile," "Steel" and "Airport '79—Concorde." He starred in the series "The Blue Knight" and in "Sarge."

Later in the night "Rendezvous Hotel," a rollicking two-hour comedy tale of life in a breezy California resort hotel, will be broadcast on "The CBS Wednesday Night Movies."

Bill Daily, who co-starred with Bob Newhart for several years on the latter's comedy series, appears as hotel owner and manager Walter Grainger. Grainger's Rendezvous Hotel is located in Santa Barbara, Calif., where the film was directed by Peter Hunt, entirely on location at the famed Miramar Hotel.

Grainger is aided in running his intimate family operation by his nephew, somewhat scatterbrained Jerry Greenwood, portrayed by Jeff J. Redford; lovely Bobbie Mitchel as Barbara Claiborne, his official hotel hostess; Talya Ferro as Concetta Jennings, the volatile head housekeeper; and Teddy Wilson as Cleveland Jennings, his tempestuous head chef. Grainger is also both blessed and cursed by the sudden appearance of his impulsive sister, Jerry's mother (Carole Cook), who put up the money to buy the hotel.

Grainger and his sometimes madcap crew deal delightfully with a whole host of problems and situations that are as varied and unpredictable as there are different people availing themselves of the resort bliss of the Rendezvous Hotel.

First, there is the manager's preoccupation with making a good impression on an important travel guide columnist, Mr. Church (Severn Darden) in order to gain a top rating for his hotel. When Grainger learns that Church is due to show up at his hotel under an assumed identity, he mistakingly zeros in on an important looking guest whom he takes to be the coveted columnist. He lavishes attention and service upon the man while inadvertently and comically alienating the real Mr. Church.

Barbara Claiborne's main problem is handsome airline pilot Jim Becker, portrayed by guest star Edward Winter. He wants to maintain their warm, romantic relationship while he's a guest at the hotel, while she wants him to consider marriage as a serious alternative.

Jerry is taken by a young actress, Anne Jones (Kathryn Witt), who checks into the hotel for the express purpose of doing away with herself because she's failed to succeed in Hollywood.

Also, a young married couple, Frank and Sherry Leonard (Bruce French, Nellie Bellflower) take a second honeymoon away from their children but Frank's amorous plans for their vacation come to naught when Sherry can't forget their offspring.

A bikini top that floats loose in the nearby ocean with hilarious results, a female M.D. who looks more like a beauty queen in her scanty beachwear, and an elaborate wedding reception with a unique ending all add to the price of the fun and trauma that goes with life in a major resort hotel.

And by the time you stop laughing it should be time to go to bed.

Anne Schedeen stars as Dr. Sarah Keaton, a young pediatrician who falls in love with an older man (George Kennedy) in the comedy special, "Never Say Never," Wednesday, July 11, on CBS.

When you've spent a lifetime building a farm, you don't want estate taxes breaking it up.

Estate settlement can be very expensive and land value estimates can far exceed what you may expect. Your wife or children might be forced to sell to pay estate taxes. Why risk all your years of toil and planning for your family?

It's happened to many other familites, but it doesn't have to happen to yours. We have a plan to protect your farm and your family should the unexpected happen to you.

We can provide you with the amount of insurance needed to leave your farm intact and supply immediate operating capital for your family.

Wheat Comments Due August 6

Plans are being formulated for the 1980 Wheat, Barley and Oats Programs, according to Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. Farmers and other interested persons have until August 6 to comment on proposals for the Wheat Program.

"Comments should also contain opinions regarding whether barley and oats should be included in the 1980 Feed Grain Program," Crowl said, "and whether program decisions on these crops should be announced the same time as the Wheat Program." Normally a decision on the inclusion of barley and oats in the Feed Grain Program is made at the same time the Corn and Sorghum Program decision is made, prior to November 15. Since some barley is planted in the Fall and does compete with wheat for the same acreage, Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland, is considering announcing the Barley and Oats Program along with the Wheat Program.

Before reaching his decision, the Secretary will consider any recommendations and views regarding the amount of the National program acreages; the reduction from the previous year's harvested acreage required to guarantee target price protection on the total 1980 planted acreage; whether there should be a Set-aside Program and, if so, whether a limitation should be placed on planted acreage; whether there should be a Land Diversion Program and, if so, the extent of such diversion and the level of payment.

Other program determinations include loan and purchase levels for 1980 wheat, barley, oats and rye crops; the target price for wheat, barley and oats; and whether the Special Wheat Acreage Grazing and Hay Program should be implemented.

Comments should be mailed to the Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, USDA, Room 3630-S, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D. C. 20013.

Despite Clouds, Grantsville Days Has Record Crowds

Despite scattered showers and sporadic sunshine last Saturday, the crowd attending Grantsville Days was double last year's attendance, according to Jerry Beachy, coordinator of the event. The estimated 2000 spectators were drawn to the continual musical entertainment, the arts 'n crafts booths, the Horseshoe Pitch and Free Throw Basketball contests, the square dancing and Little League Baseball Tournament. The featured event of the day was the appearance of the 1977 Maryland State Fiddle Champion, Basil Hare, who was accompanied by Ray Gilpin and Carl Stanton. The event was sponsored by the Grantsville Community Business and Development Association.

Health and Safety Tip

From the American Medical Association

FITNESS IMPORTANT IN MIDDLE YEARS

Many men and women over 40 fight their own physical fitness. They assume that because of their age they are no longer capable of much physical effort. One of the greatest dangers to men past 40 is falling into sedentary ways.

The American Medical Association points out that the individual past 40 can do something about his or her exercise program, or lack of it.

If not reasonably adept at a specific sport — bowling, golf, tennis, or swimming — take lessons and learn to do at least one individual sport fairly well. Exercise is more fun if it comes incidental to playing a game that is fun.

Take an inventory of physical activity in the course of regular daily activities. This includes activity on the job and at home. It might include housework, maintenance chores, gardening, or sports. Often these do not provide enough activity.

For the sedentary person who resolves to become more active, a good starting point is walking. This means a brisk posture walk, holding the belt line level and raising the breastbone. Then, in addition to regular physical activities, start devoting part of each weekend to something that you enjoy — golf, tennis, dancing.

Fifteen minutes of exercise every other day is hardly enough to produce noticeable results quickly, but it is a start. Over a period of time, benefits will be evident.

With regular exercise, the sagging, dragging middleager will begin to exhibit a total change in his or her attitude. Meals will be more enjoyable, physical appearance is more vital, life is more interesting.

For the man, or woman past 40 who decides to begin an exercise program, a visit to the physician for a physical examination is advisable, to make certain there are no conditions that would limit exertion.

Prevent Blindness Society Warns Of July 4 Dangers

An estimated 6,139 Americans were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries last year, according to the National Society to Prevent Blindness (NSPB). With the Fourth of July approaching — the prime time for use of firecrackers and other pyrotechnics — the Society has issued a warning that all kinds of fireworks are a threat to life and limb, especially to eyesight.

"Eye damage accounted for some 20 percent of last year's reported injuries from pyrotechnics," Virginia S. Boyce, executive director of the NSPB, pointed out. "This figure represents only a fraction of actual injuries since there is no way to estimate how many were treated in doctors' offices, at home or by direct hospital admission," she added.

"All fireworks — ranging from bottlerockets and firecrackers to punks and sparklers — are harmful to the eyes. Seammingly harmless sparklers burn at heats exceeding 1500° F," Mrs. Boyce said.

Since children are most often the victims of injuries from fireworks, the Society advises parents to keep even the smallest firecrackers away from them. "Almost 60 percent of the fireworks-related eye injuries reported last year were suffered by children under the age of 15. With the cooperation and supervision of concerned parents, such unfortunate — and needless — accidents can be avoided this year and in the future," Mrs. Boyce asserted.

For many years, the NSPB has urged that the use of all fireworks be restricted to licensed public display. This recommendation has already been enacted into law in many states and municipalities. Still, bootleg fireworks regularly appear on street corners and in under-the-counter sales.

"What seems like fun to the unsuspecting public can result in painful burns, injuries — even blindness. Enjoy the holidays, safely, in public exhibitions," Mrs. Boyce advised.

The National Society to Prevent Blindness, established in 1908, is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

State Assembly's New Theft Laws Now In Effect

As of Sunday, July 1, there was no longer such a thing as the criminal charges of Larceny, Embezzlement, False Pretenses, and Receiving Stolen Goods. Legislation passed by the Maryland General Assembly in 1978 changed all that.

The new statute, included in the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1978 as Chapter 849, is intended to clarify and simplify the law of theft in Maryland. Under it, persons previously charged with larceny related offenses, not including those involving an element of force or coercion, will be charged with a single consolidated offense designated as "theft." In addition, the new statute revised laws of Maryland relating to bad check offenses.

Edward A. Tomlinson, Professor of Law in the University of Maryland School of Law, explained the new statute in an article entitled "The New Maryland Theft Statute."

"The new statute basically accomplishes two things," he wrote. "First, it consolidates into a single crime designated 'theft' conduct previously covered by a jumble of common law and statutory crimes related to theft. No fewer than forty-three sections of the present Article 27 (of the Maryland State Code) are repealed and replaced by a new section 342. Second, it rewrites Maryland's bad check law to define in modern terms the crime of obtaining property or services by means of a bad check."

The legislature assigned a subcommittee the task of revising the larceny related laws and bad check law because of the "unwieldy and in some cases unintelligible body of statutory and case law," according to a booklet published by the Maryland General Assembly Department of Legislative reference.

"The basic premise," wrote Tomlinson, "underlying the consolidation of these offenses is that the distinctions between the discrete theft offenses are without criminological significance since they cover fundamentally similar kinds of acquisitive conduct." He further explained that the distinctions were often archaic and often needlessly confusing.

Judge Lewis R. Jones, judge of the Garrett County District Court, noted that the basic definitions of larceny related crimes are included in the new statute. The consolidation does not effect any retraction in coverage of conduct previously covered by the repealed offenses.

While there is no retraction in coverage, there are a number of provisions in the statute that extend the law's coverage. Chief among these are, according to Tomlinson, "the definitions in section 340 of the property subject to theft, of the deception which makes the obtaining of property criminal, and of the mental state that must accompany the defendant's conduct (the intent to deprive another of his property). . . While the full effect of this last provision is unclear, it does appear to go beyond the definition of the intent to deprive found in the present case law and to punish some borrowings as theft."

Jones stated that sentencing procedure for the various offenses would change due to the consolidation. For example, he pointed out the change in the distinction between a felony and a misdemeanor offense. The new statute states that a person convicted of the theft of property or services with a value of $300 or greater (previously $100 or greater) is guilty of a felony and, in addition to restitution of the stolen goods, could be fined not more than $1000 and/or be imprisoned for not more than 15 years. The misdemeanor involves stolen services or property with a value less than $300 and, in addition to restitution of the stolen services or property, could be fined not more than $100 and/or be imprisoned not more than 18 months. The charge or prosecution for a misdemeanor must be made within two years after the commission of the offense.

Tomlinson explained that the new law, although expansive, primarily affects procedure. "Conduct previously subject to prosecution under a variety of sections—each carrying its own authorized punishment—is now covered by a single theft section. Robbery, however, remains a separate offense, as do credit card offenses and unauthorized use (joyriding). The legislature also chose not to consolidate extortion-type crimes into the new theft offense. Extortionate threats are still separately punishable, as are the new statutory crimes of extortion enacted by the General Assembly in 1978."

Judge Jones noted that although the primary effect of the new Bad Check law is procedural, it will require more evidence in court by the prosecution to convict a person with a Bad Check charge.

Tomlinson pointed out that the changes in the laws "should not be overemphasized. The primary accomplishment of the new law is to simplify and clarify a confused area of the law. The new law makes no radical departures and largely builds on existing law; it tends to generalize where the prior Code sections adopted a piecemeal approach that often left gaps in coverage."

DiAnne Rook National Award Winner

Two outstanding college juniors were awarded $750 national scholarships by the Business/Professional Advertising Association during the organization's 57th annual conference in Milwaukee, June 25. The grants for the 1979-80 school year are designed to aid exceptional students seriously interested in pursuing careers in business and professional advertising.

This year's winners are DiAnne Rook, Kent State University, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rook, Oakland, and Mark Brenner, Ferris State College, Michigan. These two college juniors who are majoring in advertising were invited to be guests of B/PAA at its 3 and ½ day annual meeting. Ron Coleman, managing director of the association, believes that inviting the scholarship winners each year to the conference enables the students to involve themselves actively with communication professionals. "This has been proven in the past years to be a most worthwhile experience," Coleman stated.

The awards were presented to Ms. Rook and Mr. Brenner by B/PAA's Functional VP in charge of Program Development, Edward Jusko. Mr. Jusko is the General Promotional Manager for Union Carbide Corporation in New York.

As part of their scholarship requirements, the two winners will each write a 2,500 word research paper during the coming school year covering some phase of business/professional advertising that interests them. Papers are then made available to convention delegates the following year. This year's winners were selected by a panel of advertising professionals. Some 90 universities and colleges across the country were contacted by B/PAA's Scholarship Committee to generate entries.

B/PAA International and Meldrum & Fewsmith Advertising fund the $750 awards, in addition to travel and conference registration costs on behalf of the winners.

DiAnne, a native of Oakland, has a grade point average of 3.6 (out of 4.0) and is currently working in an advertising/marketing department of a major packaging corporation in Cleveland. She was accepted in Alpha Lambda Delta and Mortarboard Honor Societies at Kent State.

DiAnne is a College Board Member of MADEMOISELLE magazine and also serves as a representative in the College Marketing Department of that magazine. She is a staff writer and photographer for the STOW CITIZEN, a member of the Kent State advertising and ski clubs, and will serve as Advertising Editor of the DAILY KENT STATER this year.

Interested in industrial advertising, Ms. Rook enjoys doing free-lance writing, artwork and photography in her spare time.

While in Milwaukee, Ms. Rook and Mr. Brenner attended a number of banquets, receptions and social events, as well as touring the Midwest city.

House Passes Byron OSHA Anmendment

An amendment to alleviate problems experienced by small businesses in complying with the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) has been introduced by Rep. Beverly Byron in the House of Representatives and approved by a vote of 236-176.

The Byron Amendment prohibits a separate federal inspection of any workplace that has been inspected by state OSHA officials during the previous six months. Joint inspections would not be affected.

"Last fall most members of Congress were elected with the mandate to reduce wasteful government spending to eliminate bureaucratic procedures which overlap and duplicate one another," Byron said in her maiden speech on the floor of the House.

"My amendment is a step in this direction because it prevents a small employer from being placed in double jeopardy, reduces the number of conflicting regulations and directives that he or she has to deal with, and eliminates any game of one-ups-manship going on between state and federal authorities," she said.

The Sixth District Congresswoman noted that her amendment was introduced as a result of difficulties encountered by a small firm in Western Maryland that received conflicting violation reports from state and federal OSHA officials.

"I have since found that the problem was not an isolated instance," she said.

"There is an enormous waste of resources with federal inspectors checking up on state inspectors, especially when available statistics indicate that the states are doing a better job than the federal government in reducing occupational fatalities and injury and illness rates," Byron noted.

"In short, my amendment does not hinder the important effort to improve the safety of American workers. Instead, it will make OSHA more effective by directing its efforts towards workplaces that have yet to be inspected, rather than subject businesses to the burden of unnecessary double and triple inspections," she concluded.

Case Dismissed

A Cumberland man's case for a traffic violation charge was dismissed in District Court Tuesday, June 26. Judge Lewis R. Jones presided.

Harry R. Adams, a state employee, had been charged with failure to obey an official traffic control device.

Do we still maintain relations with Taiwan?

Yes, relations with Taiwan are continued and a new law declares U. S. policy intentions and security interest with regard to that country. Specifically, the law includes declarations that peace and stability on Taiwan are in the U. S. political security and economic interest; that the U. S. will consider any effort to determine the future of Taiwan by other than peaceful means; and that the U. S. will maintain its capacity to resist any resort to force that would jeopardize the security of Taiwan and will provide Taiwan with defensive arms. You should know that I voted to upgrade U. S. relations with our allies on Taiwan following the Administration's decision to recognize the People's Republic of China.

How much land is protected under the Alaska lands bill passed by the house last month?

The bill designates approximately 126 million acres of public lands as conservation units, 67 million of them as wilderness. Specifically, the bill designates 44 million acres as parks, 77 million acres as wildlife refuges, 3.3 million acres as forest and 2 million acres as wild and scenic rivers.

How does this year's proposed budget deficit compare with previous years?

The deficit figure of $23 billion is $6 billion lower than proposed by the President in January, and reflects a continued sharp decline in deficits since the recession high of $66.5 billion in 1975. Naturally, I still prefer a balanced federal budget and have sponsored legislation to bring this about.

Please explain the potential kerosene shortage you recently talked about. Will it really effect families in Western Maryland all that much?

Kerosene is used by thousands of low-income rural residents and mobile home owners in Western Maryland as a source of home heating. The magnitude of the potential shortage is uncertain but I have been informed that at least four major oil companies are "strongly considering" pulling out of the kerosene market in Maryland entirely. These suppliers provided 5 to 8 million gallons of kerosene to the state last year. I have requested Energy Secretary Schlesinger look into the problem and to take immediate action to alleviate the anticipated shortfall. The time to act is now, not in December when the crisis is imminent and no longer preventable.

I am interested in producing fuel alcohol to run machinery on my farm. Do I need a permit?

Yes. You will require an experimental permit from the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. Application information is available from the Treasury Department and anyone needing assistance in this regard should feel free to contact my office. There are also state requirements to be met and these can be obtained by writing the Alcoholic Beverages & Tobacco Tax Division, State Treasury Building, Annapolis, MD 21404.

Does the Congressional budget allow for any increases in Veterans' Benefits?

The budget targets include increases for hospital and medical care for veterans. In addition, funding is provided for an 8.3 percent cost-of-living increase in veterans' compensation, increases in vocational rehabilitation and income security.

Are there any consumer guides available to compare various car tire brands?

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration publishes a booklet to assist consumers in comparing the quality and price of various brands when buying new bias-ply tires. Each brand is graded on treadwear, traction and temperature resistance. After October 1 information will be available on belted tires and next Spring radial tires will be graded. For your copy of the Uniform Tire Quality Grading booklet for bias-ply tires write: General Services Division, Room 4423, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400-7th Street, S.W., Washington, D. C. 20590.

Why do you feel a special prosecutor is required to investigate the current gas shortage?

The inability of the Department of Energy (DOE) to provide a clear and convincing explanation of gasoline allocations and weekly price increases has caused great consternation among consumers. The matter is particularly frustrating when you realize that the Maryland and Virginia congressional delegations themselves have not received solid cooperation from DOE on the gas situation either. An independent Special Prosecutor would be able to separate an inquiry into petroleum allocations from possible influence by DOE policy considerations. I am hopeful it will also restore public confidence in the federal government on this matter through an exhaustive and objective investigation.

How did you vote on the House Amendment which lowered the windfall profits tax on oil companies?

I voted against the amendment you are referring to which lowered the windfall profits tax on oil companies from 70 percent to 60 percent.

Recently the House passed an amendment of yours which prohibits a Federal OSHA inspector from re-inspecting a business within 6 months after a State Inspection. Are there any exceptions to this?

The purpose of my amendment is to prevent a small employer from being placed in double jeopardy, reduce the number of conflicting regulations and directives, eliminate any game of one-upsmanship going on between state and federal authorities and cut down on wasteful government spending. The purpose of the amendment is not to hinder the important national effort to improve the safety of American workers. As a result, there are exceptions where a federal OSHA inspector may re-inspect a business within 6 months after a state inspection. These include when: the federal inspector accompanies a state inspector on a joint inspection; there has been a complaint about a state's program administration' there has been a complaint that the rights of a worker have been violated; or there has been a serious accident.

Maryland IRS Tax Compliance Process Expanded

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and IRS District Director Gerald G. Portney announced recently that Maryland scrutiny of individual and corporate income tax returns under federal-state cooperative programs will more than double next year.

Starting October 1, 1979, Internal Revenue Service will provide the Maryland Income Tax Division with the results of approximately 15,000 to 20,000 additional audits involving federal matching of taxpayers' returns with their withholding forms W-2, W-ZP (pensions), and forms 1099 (interest and dividend income). The State will automatically bill for additional State and local taxes, saving taxpayers and the agency the time and expense of separate audits while collecting more tax dollars.

The new program expands exchange measures already in effect. They include a computer match which last year uncovered 3,831 Maryland taxpayers who filed federal, but not State returns. The program produced $781,831 more in State revenues. Maryland also collected nearly $2 million in additional revenue last year using an IRS list of individuals and corporations who owed more federal tax after audits.

Under a Cooperative Audit Program, IRS shares information on returns with high audit potential; and the Maryland Income Tax Division performs some of the audits. The results are then shared with IRS for possible changes in federal tax due. The State also provides the IRS a list of all Maryland tax refunds on itemized returns to see if the income is declared on federal returns the next year.

The tax agencies also cooperate on criminal investigations. Last year, IRS and the U. S. Attorney for Maryland successfully prosecuted nine tax protestors for claiming as many as 99 withholding exemptions on their forms W-4. IRS then followed up with a letter to the 175 largest private and government employers in Maryland and the District of Columbia, based on State tax data, reminding them of their obligation to review withholding statements submitted by their employees. Maryland is now pursuing other W-4 cases from information uncovered by IRS.

"We have stepped up the planning sessions between IRS and the State of Maryland," Goldstein said, "in order to protect public revenue through better tax compliance."

Portney added that "enhanced federal-state cooperation will mean better compliance with income tax laws at all levels."

Exchange of information by federal and State tax agencies is specifically authorized by law.

Byron Wants Special Prosecutor To Investigate "Gas Shortage"

Noting the growing lack of public confidence with the Department of Energy (DOE) and oil companies in general, Rep. Beverly Byron called for the establishment of an independent Special Prosecutor to investigate the current "gas shortage" Thursday, June 26.

"The inability of DOE to provide a clear and convincing explanation of gasoline allocations and weekly price increases has caused great consternation among consumers," Byron said.

"Every day my office receives calls and letters from angry constituents who are fed up with gas lines and fast-rising prices and service station owners who feel Maryland is being shortchanged on fuel deliveries. The public does not believe that the present shortage is genuine or that gasoline supplies are being allocated in a fair manner among the states and local communities," she said.

"People keep hearing conflicting and ambiguous information and they want definitive answers," Byron noted.

"The matter is particularly frustrating when you realize that the Maryland and Virginia congressional delegations themselves have not received solid cooperation from DOE on the gas situation either," she said.

The necessity of an independent investigator is apparent, just as it was five years ago when the country lost confidence in the Justice Department over the Watergate affair.

"I have co-sponsored legislation to establish an independent Special Prosecutor who would have exclusive jurisdiction over the investigation and prosecution of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973 and all regulations under that act. This would separate an inquiry into petroleum allocations from possible influence by DOE policy considerations," Byron said.

"I am hopeful that an independent Special Prosecutor will restore public confidence in the federal government on this matter through an exhaustive and objective investigation," she concluded.

West Virginia Man Withdraws Appeal In Traffic Case

A Charleston, WV, man has decided to accept the verdict of guilty and a fine of $55 passed in his case in District Court Thursday, June 21.

Thomas R. Burns had appealed Judge Lewis R. Jones' decision concerning the charge against Burns for exceeding the 55 m.p.h. posted speed limit. Sources in the court office said Burns later withdrew his appeal.

In other traffic violation cases heard in District Court Thursday, seven received verdicts of guilty and one was granted a new trial date. Twenty-two persons failed to appear in court.

Joe L. Beeman, Meyersdale, PA, was found guilty of the charge of unlicensed driver and was fined $30. For the charge of exceeding the 55 m.p.h. posted speed limit he received the determination of nolle prosequi, or no prosecution, by the state's attorney.

Larry G. Blosser, Morgantown, WV, was found guilty of the charge of exceeding the 55 m.p.h. posted speed limit and was fined $40. He was placed on probation before judgment and fined $5 for the charge of driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Jay B. Sowers, Oakland, received the verdict of guilty for two charges and was fined a total of $110. He had made the plea of guilty to both charges of operating an unregistered motor vehicle and operating a motor vehicle while suspended.

For the charge of exceeding the 25 m.p.h. posted speed limit, James E. Matthews, Oakland, was found guilty and fined $30.

Roger G. Sines, Friendsville, was found guilty for the charges of speed greater than reasonable and prudent and for failure to stay right of center. He was fined $45.

Probation before judgment and a fine of $5 was the decision in the case of Carlton E. Warren, Hanover, who was charged with exceeding the 25 m.p.h. posted speed limit.

Penny S. Housel, Frostburg, was placed on probation before judgment and fined $5 for the charge of driving a motor vehicle in a negligent manner.

THE ARTS

by jim willis

Plans for the second annual Arts and Crafts Summerfest, to be held July 12, 13, and 14, on the Crafts Demonstration Grounds of Penn Alps, just east of Grantsville on Rt. 40, are nearing completion. The exhibits will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. and seven new rustic shelters have been constructed on the grounds to accommodate craftsmen. A permanent entrance booth and concession stand have also been added to the complex.

Two early log cabins reconstructed on the grounds will house demonstrations as will the "little red shed."

Gary Yoder, winner of World Championship awards, will provide bird carving demonstrations in a separate cabin and Keith Miller will be constructing grandfather's clocks at the entrance of the famous Casselman stone-arch bridge. Veteran demonstrators will include Ann Jones, weaver; Pam Snyder, potter; Tom Shimrock, Tiffany glass worker; and a new spinning demonstrator, Karen Miller.

In addition to crafts demonstrated last year, new additions will include wood sculpture, quilling, quilting, dried flower art, needlepoint with native died wool, portrait sketching, and an elaborate display of herbs and folk medicine. Two wandering minstrels from W. Va. will provide live entertainment on the fiddle, dulcimer, guitar, and mandolin.

Summerfest is sponsored by Penn Alps with partial funding provided by the Maryland Arts Council through the Garrett County Arts Council.

AVOID FINANCIAL HEADACHES

Thinking about selling your home on your own? If so, you should commence a cram course in financing. How much money will you want down? How will you determine the prospect's credit history? Will you accept a second mortgage? Have you been in close contact with financial institutions, the FHA or VA? Can you advise a prospect where to get mortgage funds and who will pay what closing costs?

On the other hand, Realtors know that many sales are lost strictly for want of proper financing. They also know the intricate methods and sources of financing.

Honestly, the best way to market your home - probably your most valuable asset - is the professional way. Just as you would go to a doctor for medical aid, you should go to a Realtor for assistance in selling your home. It must make financial sense. Over 75% of all home sales are handled by people in the profession.

27 Cases Of Spotted Fever Reported In State Since April

Maryland has experienced 27 reported cases of Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever since April, it was announced by the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. This disease normally begins in Maryland in early spring.

Dr. Charles M. Wax, a Federal epidemiologist assigned to Maryland, said that 13 of these cases were confirmed by laboratory blood testing. The reported cases this year parallel the number of cases for the same period last year. Last year's total of 124 reported Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever cases, which included three deaths, was the highest statewide total since recording of the disease started in 1931.

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is a tick-caused disease generally characterized by a sudden onset, with moderate to high fever (occasionally 104 to 106 degrees), headache, chills, fatigue, and generallized body aching and skin rash. The mild rash, not always apparent in the early stages, often involves the palms and soles of the feet and progresses towards the trunk of the body. In many cases, no rash at all is observed by the patient.

Dr. Wax stressed that the disease can be fatal if not diagnosed promptly and treated with an appropriate antibiotic. He added that a major danger with Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is delay in the patient's seeking medical consultation and by failing to inform the physician of a recent tickbite or tick exposure. Figures show that although children account for the majority of the cases, fatalities from untreated cases tend to occur in adults above age 35. Persons in the older age group, also, often fail to report a history of a tickbite to the physician.

Physicians confirming a diagnosis when Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever is suspected should use two blood tests, two or more weeks apart. Appropriate testing of blood samples can be performed by the Department's Laboratory.

In last year's intensive Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever surveillance study, conducted by the Division of Communicable Diseases, a history of tick attachment was found in 76 percent of confirmed cases. Dogs infested with ticks, usually acquired from known tick-infested areas, were associated with 55 percent of the cases.

To protect the family and the pet, Dr. Kenneth L. Crawford, the Department's Chief of Veterinarian Medicine, said that owners should confine or leash their pets, or should thoroughly inspect them for tick infestation before allowing them indoors if they have been in a possibly infested area. Local veterinarians can give advice on selection and use of safe, effective tick repellents and tickcides for pets. If homes become infested, while homes are being treated, pets should be treated by a veterinarian. Pesticides obtained to control at-home tick infestations should be used and stored strictly in accordance with the directions printed on the original container.

Dr. Crawford pointed out that protective measures can greatly reduce the risk of infestation and infection of man. The best advice that can be given is to avoid potentially tick-infested areas. If this is not possible, one should be aware of the hazard and dress in tight-fitting clothing with trousers tightly secured at the ankles with shirttails tucked in and all clothing buttoned. If appropriate tick repellents, such as those containing "Deet" are used in strict accordance with the label instructions, they can help keep ticks off the body. These repellents are usually applied as an aeresol spray to shoes and the lower portion of the pant legs.

It is most important that a thorough self-examination for ticks on the body and clothing be made at two-hour intervals when in an area where there are ticks. Upon leaving such areas, an examination should be done within three hours.

Parents, or others responsible for the health and safety of children must carefully examine them if they have played in possible infested areas. This should be a "head-to-toe" examination, conducted as often as necessary, but especially at bath and bedtime.

When found on a person, ticks should be removed immediately. If they are firmly attached to the skin, care should be taken not to crush the tick and thus risk additional skin contamination. Tweezers, forceps, or paper tissue held between the fingers can be used for careful but firm removal. Application on cotton of a liberal amount of alcohol or fingernail polish remover to the tick will loosen its hold in several minutes. To remove a tick, grasp it as close to the site of attachment as possible, and withdraw it gently, without jerking and twisting. After the tick is removed, clean the wound and apply any mild antiseptic.

Mathias Says The Real Energy Crisis Is Public Disbelief

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) told a home energy conference in Baltimore Friday that the real energy crisis lies in public refusal to believe that there is an energy crisis.

"Public opinion polls show that substantial numbers of Americans still don't believe we have an energy problem; that they think the gasoline crisis is phony — the result of bad management, or government interference, or that it is an out-and-out conspiracy by profit-mad oil companies," Mathias said.

Maryland's senior senator said the facts of the current gasoline shortage indicate emphatically the U. S. is "dangerously dependent on foreign sources for oil." "Not only is imported oil becoming more and more expensive," he declared, "but our sources of supply are becoming less and less reliable."

Mathias pointed out that in 1978 the United States imported 43.3 percent of its oil at a cost of $42 billion, which contributed to a trade deficit of $34 billion. This year, he said, the country is importing half the oil it consumes and at higher prices.

"It doesn't take a genius to figure out these spiraling energy costs affect our balance of trade and fuel inflation," he said. "And it doesn't take much imagination to see that our mounting dependence on foreign energy makes us hostages to forces we cannot control and has the most ominous implications for our national security."

Mathias was the main speaker at the Maryland Energy Conservation Conference at Towson State University. The conference is being sponsored by Senator Mathias' office, and the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service.

Mathias noted that the Federal role in home energy conservation was underscored when Congress passed the Energy Conservation and Production Act which set energy conservation standards for buildings and established a home weatherization program through federal grants. The National Energy bill became law last year, and encourages home energy conservation by providing tax credits for home energy saving measures, the Senator pointed out.

"Congress can do a lot — and is doing a lot — to aid and encourage home energy conservation," he said. "But only the individual householder can actually conserve home energy. It is up to each one of us to initiate a conservation program in our own home and spread the word to our neighbors.

"I am convinced that the only effective way to meet the home energy conservation challenge is from the people, not from Washington down. The government can help but the ultimate success or failure rests with the individual."

Garrett County Farm Directors Schedule Events

The Garrett County Farm Bureau Directors conducted a monthly meeting at Garrett Community College on June 27. Bill Ewing, director of the college's Admissions Office, spoke on the possibility of incoming students as possible tenants in farming communities. Fern Beachy then reported on a recent farm safety meeting held in the Oakland area.

Eric Seifarth, State Farm Bureau Organization Director reported on the Bureau's activities. He stated that there would be a policy development meeting held in Hancock in the near future.

It was announced that a meeting is being arranged between all Garrett and Allegany County Farm Bureau Directors with a tentatively scheduled meeting date of September 11 in Grantsville. Further details will be forthcoming at a later date.

Randall Harman, Garrett Community College professor, hosted a tour of the school's vocational education and mining engineering facilities.

The meeting closed with the announcement that the annual membership drive Kick-Off Dinner will be held the evening of August 1 in the Bittinger Community Building.

DNR Announces Statewide Contest For Photographers

Photos taken by amateur photographers in Maryland's State parks and State forests can be entered in the Forest and Park Service Photography Contest which opened on June 11 and will close on September 14, 1979. In addition to a grand prize winner, prizes will be awarded in the four contest categories.

All entries must be mailed and become the property of the Maryland Forest and Park Services.

All pictures entered in this contest must have been taken after Sept. 1, 1977 in a State park or State forest by an amateur photographer. An amateur is defined as anyone who does not make more than one-half of his/her yearly salary from taking and selling photographs. Employees of the Maryland Forest and Park Services are not eligible.

Each picture may be entered into one of four categories:

People — showing people using a park or forest — names and addresses of all recognizable persons must be submitted;

Scenery — landscape views showing a total scene rather than a specific object;

Plants — featuring plants growing in a park or forest or specific details of the plant; and Animals — featuring an animal which lives in a park or forest. Pictures of pets are not eligible.

Each contestant may submit a maximum of eight entries with not more than two in each category. Prizes will be awarded in each category for colored or black and white photographs.

Contest rules and entry agreements are available in each State park and State forest and the department of Natural Resources regional service centers located in Bel Air, Cumberland, Laurel and Salisbury. Or, they may be obtained by writing: Photography Contest, Maryland Forest and Park Services, Tawes State Office Building, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, Maryland 21401 or call 269-3771 for further information.

County Fair Events Slated August 6 - 11

Plans are nearly completed for all phases of the 23rd Garrett County Fair scheduled August 6 through August 11 at the McHenry fairgrounds.

The fair will actually open Sunday evening, August 5, with the interdenominational Vesper Service.

Special entertainment is being planned nightly in addition to the farm queen contest, 4-H and adult exhibit judging, tractor pull, horse show, baby beef sale and carnival.

On Monday all commercial displays will be set in place and Shaw and Sons Amusements will open for business. The Demolition Derby will begin at 7 p.m., sponsored by the Deep Creek Volunteer fire company.

Tuesday has been named Farm Bureau day, and all exhibits will be entered and set up. There will be tractor pulling contests at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m., and coronation of the 1979 farm queen.

Wednesday is the official children's day and discount day. Pony, poultry, horse, sheep, swine, goat and dairy judgings are all scheduled. There will be a pet show from 3 to 4 p.m.

The Gospel Harmony Boys will give two performances, at 7 and 9 p.m.

Farmers-City Day will be observed Thursday with various judging contests and demonstrations scheduled. The Farmers' parade and commercial parade will wind its way through the grounds beginning at 7 p.m. The 4-H and FFA baby beef show will begin at 8 p.m. The Jacobs Brothers will perform at 7:30 and at 9 p.m.

Senior citizens are special guests Friday and may visit the 4-H visual presentations and home arts demonstrations during the day. A horse pull will take place beginning at 7 p.m., with a 4-H fashion show lined up at 8 p.m. Grand Ole Opry star Little Jimmy Dickens will be the guest entertainer Friday evening, at 7 and 9 p.m.

Dairy and livestock judging contests will continue Saturday, along with home arts demonstrations. There will be a horse show at 2 p.m. and the annual 4-H and FFA baby beef sale at 7:30 p.m. The Leon Douglas show will be held beginning at 7, and again at 9 p.m.

Police Investigate Drug Theft From Oakland Pharmacy

At least $150 worth of prescription drugs were removed from Proudfoot's Pharmacy in Oakland Monday night by intruders who entered through an upper story window.

Oakland City Police officers are continuing their investigations into the breaking, entering and larceny reported at 8:15 a.m. by Milton Proudfoot, pharmacist and son of owner Robert Proudfoot.

According to the police, items found on the roof of the building indicate that two or more persons were involved, one probably acting as lookout. The intruders apparently climbed a utility pole at the rear of the building to reach the roof of the pharmacy. Bolt cutters were used to open the window to a storage area.

SPACE SHIPS AND SMILING FACES were among the many designs adorning the sidewalk in front of the Ruth Enlow Library last week after youngsters from the summer reading program finished their chalked sidewalk art. The fledgling artists spent the afternoon designing pictures as perfect as their imaginations could devise. They will also be drawing pictures for an indoor art display later this month.

Action On School Budget Expected At Board Meeting

Action on the Garrett County school budget for fiscal 1980 will be among the items on the agenda for the July 12 meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education.

The meeting will begin at 1 p.m., with curriculum matters to be brought up at 1:15 p.m. Matters will include vocational education advisory council reports, a special education report, and the Maryland Compensatory Education program.

Items to be considered at 2 p.m. will include the Southern Band Boosters uniform request, insurance bids, fuel oil bids, and school bus bids.

The budget will be discussed at 2:30 p.m., followed by information on the building programs at Northern Middle, Grantsville Elementary, Dennett Road Elementary, and other sites.

Various information items will be heard at 3:30 p.m., from awarding of bus contracts to a draft of rules for local school fund raisings. There will also be information on steps being taken by athletic coaches for prevention of injury to athletes.

Fire Destroys Sunview Trailer

A McHenry couple lost their trailer home and all belongings early Monday morning when fire completely destroyed their 35-foot trailer at Sunview Trailer Court, on Rock Lodge Road.

Candy Kish, who resided with her husband Kenneth, was alone in the structure at the time the fire began, shortly before 3:45 a.m. Mrs. Kish was awakened by a smoke detector alarm, and fled to a neighbor's trailer to call the fire department.

Mrs. Kish tried to fight the fire using a garden hose, but her efforts were futile against the blaze. Heat was so intense aluminum siding on the residence melted. Mrs. Kish was later taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, and was treated and released.

Dale Hill, assistant fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, was called and his initial report gave no indication of how the blaze started.

Deep Creek, Accident and Deer Park firemen were called to the fire, and remained until 5:48 a.m. About 30 firefighters and five pieces of equipment responded to the scene.

Mrs. Mary Earley Is Appointed To Education Board

Announcement was made last week from the office of Governor Harry Hughes that Mrs. Mary Earley, Rt. 1, Oakland, has been appointed by the governor to serve on the Garrett County Board of Education. Her term will last four years.

Mrs. Earley is the only new member of the Board and is only the second woman ever appointed to the Board. She was recommended to Governor Hughes by the Republican State Central Committee for Garrett County.

Mrs. Earley is the wife of Thomas J. Earley, assistant administrator of Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The couple has three children. The Earleys have been residents of Garrett County for three years.

Midsummer Arts And Crafts Fest Set July 12-14

The second annual Midsummer Arts and Crafts Festival at Penn Alps is scheduled this Thursday through Saturday, July 12-14, east of Grantsville on Route 40.

The Festival will include craftsmen working with wood, clay, fiber, glass, metal, wax, and oils. Among those craftsmen demonstrating their skills and wares will be a Tiffany glass worker, a number of potters, woodcarvers, sculptors, and artists.

This year there will also be a blacksmith, Ralph Kretzer, from Florida, a craftsman in residence who will live and work on the Penn Alps grounds during the festival. He will be working in the newly-constructed blacksmith shop just one mile from the Old National Pike where a blacksmith's forge was located many years ago.

According to Dr. Alta Schrock, one of the chairmen for the fest, there will be wool spinning and weaving, nature printing, naturally-dyed wools, tole painting, chair seat weaving and caning, rug braiding and hooking, needlepoint and a variety of stitching and sewing.

Planning Commission Discusses State Park Boat-Launch Regulation

Tempers flared over the first scheduled item of business during the July 5 Planning Commission held in the commission meeting room at 323 East Oak Street, Oakland.

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden attended the meeting with several businessmen from Deep Creek Lake to protest the commission's proposal to request the repeal of recently established Boat-Launching Regulations at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The policy restricted use of a newly constructed boat launching facility to all but campers at the state park.

The commission was considering a protest of the policy on grounds that the original intention for the boat launch was to provide increased day-use access to the lake for Garrett County residents. The restriction on the boat launch denied such access unless a Garrett Countian wished to pay the registration fee of a camper in addition to paying the regular day-use fee. "The policy," stated Tim Dugan, County Planning Director in a memorandum to the commission, "is inconsistent at least with the spirit if not the letter of State law and practice that regulations on use of public recreation facilities should not be imposed without first having been taken through public hearings."

Another part of the proposed protest was regarding the imposition of any boat launch fee on use by a county, or even state, resident. The argument stated that because the ramp was installed with Waterway Improvement funding, the fee was "completely contrary to the established practice at the other Maryland State Parks" with similarly funded ramps. Dugan pointed out in his memo that at most state parks "payment of the standard $2.00 park admission charge covers the use of the ramp and other facilities. Likewise, it is inconsistent with the practice at most of the more than 100 ramps installed around the Chesapeake Bay, which are available at no charge (or for a nominal charge to cover maintenance costs on related facilities)."

Delegate Bolden and his associates presented the argument that the businessmen around the lake had essentially, through their tax money, paid to put the state into competition with them. They stated that their own boat launches were losing business

Rockville Man Takes Own Life Sunday Morning

Alan Grenagle Edwards, 34, of Rockville, was found dead of an apparent self-inflicted pistol wound early Sunday morning at the edge of Deep Creek Lake not far from Glen Acres Trailer Court, off Glendale Road.

According to Garrett County medical examiner Dr. James A. Feaster, the body was found about 8 a.m. by a water skier, Bruce T. Swift, of near Swanton. He notified authorities, including the Maryland State Police.

A post morten at Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland confirmed that Edwards died of a chest wound from a 9 mm. pistol found in his truck. The body was found just beside his vehicle.

After the post mortem, the body was brought to the Stewart Funeral Home, and later transferred to the Barber Funeral Home in Laytonsville.

Criminal investigator Charles Hinnant investigated for the Maryland State Police. Police reports indicate the man had been despondent for the past week. He and his family were frequent visitors to the lake.

Mr. Edwards is survived by his parents, Philip K. and Regina (Grenagle) Edwards; his wife, Dorothy T. Edwards; and three sons, Markus, Philip and Alan; two sisters, Stephanie Mills and Miss Frances Edwards; and one brother, Philip Edwards.

Commissioners Confirm Tax Increase

The Garrett County Commissioners, at their Tuesday meeting, took action to confirm and ratify their former action adopting the $2.66 per $100 tax rate.

In a move to confirm their former action, now under question in a law suit, Commissioner Lester Hunter made the motion that the tax rate be increased to $2.66. The motion was seconded by Commissioner chairman Truman Paugh. Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Jr. did not vote in favor of the move, continuing his stated opposition to the tax increase.

Commissioner Gregg then made a motion to establish a back-up tax rate at $2.37 per $100 of assessed valuation, in the event the suit by Del. Bolden is successful. The motion died for want of a second, however.

In explaining the Commissioners' ratification, county attorney Jack Turney said that a ratification move is not uncommon in Boards of Directors, to confirm and make official earlier action which may have come under question.

Del. DeCorsey Bolden filed suit in Garrett County Circuit Court June 29 seeking a temporary restraining order to prevent the county commissioners from raising the tax rate to $2.66 per $100 of assessed valuation.

His suit alleges that the commissioners failed to comply with stipulations in the state's constant yield tax rate law, in that they failed to announce at a public hearing the ordinance or resolution adopting the tax rate, and also failed to announce the actual time and place the tax levy would be adopted.

The Commissioners were not the only ones named in the restraining order, which also sought to prevent county treasurer Mrs. Arzella Parsons from collecting taxes at the increased rate. However, Mrs. Parsons, through her attorney, received an order from Circuit Judge Fred A. Thayer allowing her to send out the tax bills bearing the increased rate.

The Commissioners have until July 17 to file thier response to Judge Thayer.

In other Commissioner business, the names of Max Messenger, Robert Ruckert and Paul Shockey were submitted to Gov. Harry Hughes to fill a vacancy on the tax assessment appeals board. The governor is expected to make an appointment later this week.

The Commissioners will now be making their annual evaluation of the medical insurance benefits package for county employees.

Tuesday afternoon, the Commissioners were to meet with Tim Dugan for additional information concerning the proposed coal mine training facility, AMERITEC.

Tax Bills Mailed Early This Week

Garrett County treasurer Arzella Parsons mailed 17,286 real estate tax bills to county residents July 9 and 10. Total amount of county tax due, at the $2.66 per $100 of assessed valuation rate recently set by the County commissioners, is $4,001,364.90.

Total assessable real estate base was $150,430,951.

State tax on the county bills amounts to $300,854, at 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Some 588 bills have been held out pending adjustments or changes of address.

Anyone who does not receive his or her tax bill within the next few days is asked to contact the treasurer's office as soon as possible.

Personal property tax bills for businesses will be mailed at a later date, according to Mrs. Parsons.

The bills were mailed after Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer signed an affirmative order directing Mrs. Parsons to go ahead with her duties.

Mrs. Parsons, through her attorney, S. R. Pagenhardt, had requested the affirmative action from Judge Thayer after a suit was filed by Del. DeCorsey Bolden last week asking that she be "temporarily restrained" from collecting taxes at the recently-increased rate.

Bolden's temporary restraining order also asked that the Commissioners be prevented from raising the county tax rate to $2.66 per $100 of assessed valuation from $2.45 per $100. The Commissioners have until July 17 to respond to Bolden's suit.

WRONG TERN? — It is often easy to mistake one bird for another. However, other than "Big Bird," very few ornithological species are over five feet tall, and none of them are native to Garrett County. So will someone please explain why there is an ostrich living on the outskirts of Accident? This could unbalance the county's annual bird count. For further information see Page 27.

One Arrested For Disturbance

Making the arrest were Oakland City Police, who charged Snyder with being drunk and disorderly and with failure to obey a lawful order given by a police officer.

After Snyder was subdued, no easy task despite the fact that he has one leg in a cast, he was taken to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department for a bond hearing with Court Commissioner Charles Pariseau.

A Wasted Resource . . .

The summit meeting called by President Carter this past week is a move that is not often a part of government decision-making. The purpose of the meeting is for the President to receive input from, not only his advisors and his political colleagues, but also from numerous citizens in the private sector.

Some believe that this is a sign of Mr. Carter's weakness, that the meeting is just an act of desperation by the President, whose administration would certainly not take any trophies in a popularity contest right now. While it may be just that, perhaps this approach should be utilized more often, at all levels of government.

The methods of input into government decision-making available to the average citizen include: his vote; input by letters; attending public meeetings; or running for office himself. While the importance of voting should not be undermined, votes merely put an individual into office, they do not control his decisions. The degree of impact of letters and responses at public meetings is questionable. Also, many of the most competent persons simply have no desire, or are unable, to run for office.

Thus, public input into the workings of the government is limited. Yet, there are hundreds of persons out there on the street who have good, solid ideas on the issues and some possible solutions to some of our problems. Why not issue personal invitations to specific persons to bring their ideas in for consideration? It would not necessarily be a sign of weakness on the part of the officials. On the contrary, it would indicate a willingness to really listen, face to face, to the viewpoints of some intelligent, well-informed citizens.

The pressure on elected government personnel is tremendous, as is evidenced by the present situation in our own county commissioners' office. Maybe a more active, invited participation by persons other than politicians would help alleviate some of that pressure. So far, this valuable resource is being used only sparingly.

Letters to the Editor

REMINDER — Unsigned letters to the editor will NOT be printed under any circumstances. Letters exceeding 300 word will also not be printed.

Dear Editor,

In the July 4 Republican, Mr. Welch wrote a letter in reply to the G.C.F.T. letter-to-the-editor concerning substitute teachers and their salary. Mr. Welch's letter was an obvious attack on teachers rather than an answer or rebuttal to the G.D.F.T. letter which hoped to call attention to the salary payed to these people who have the responsibility of our children. Most of these substitutes don't have the benefit of "degrees in psychology, political science; University level teaching experience at U.S.M.A., West Point, N.Y." as does Mr. Welch. The majority of them, however, have the most important qualification — that is respect for the children with whom they are working and respect for the teacher for whom they are substituting.

I doubt that any teacher would argue Mr. Welch's point that the communities have problems, since most of us are not only teachers, but also taxpaying members of the community and many of us have children attending the schools. I do take exception to the statement "the community must suffer a body of teachers who refuse to set the example by putting the student's problems first . . ." I believe it's all those who condemn a whole school system or group of teachers for the shortcomings of a few who do the greatest disservice to the community and especially to the students. It's very difficult to deal with the student who comes from a home where there is no respect for the teachers or the schools. The time which should be spent teaching "fundamentals" is often spent teaching the most basic fundamental — respect for others — even teachers.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth J. Willborn,
teacher

Dear Sir:

We, the American Federation of Teachers, would like to voice our concern over the misuse of funds at Southern Garrett High School.

It has come to our attention that the athletic department of Southern has been forced to use athletic monies to pay for substitute teachers. It seems to be highly unusual that the Garrett County Board of Education would force the athletes of Southern to pay for a substitute teacher when a coach must be away from school fulfilling the duties for which the Board of Education employed that person.

Does the Board of Education not pay for a substitute when a teacher is away on a field trip? We fail to see any recognizable difference.

Why would the Board of Education hire a coach, knowing that his/her duties would eventually cause missed school time, and then expect the already overburdened Athletic Department to "pick up the tab."

In conclusion, we feel the Garrett County Board of Education should take a look at its present policy regarding substitutes for coaches. We believe the Board should feel an obligation to pay for the services they hire and not ask the athletes of Garrett County to sacrifice for their behalf.

Sincerely yours,
A representative of the Garrett County Federation
of Teachers

Dear Representative,

We asked Dr. William Buser, superintendent of schools, about your claim. He stated that athletic department funds could have been used to pay for a substitute teacher, but not without the athletic director and the coaches being aware of it. He said that the funds budgeted for substitute teachers always run quite thin near the end of the fiscal year (May and June). All principals are asked to do what they can to keep teacher absences at a bare minimum. Principals will sometimes turn to the athletic department for funds, but again, not without conferring with the athletic department personnel.

Editor

Dear Editor:

Neither the Garrett County Sanitary Commission nor I have any intention of carrying on a running debate in this column with dissidents such as Mr. Bowen who complain often but seldom inquire of us to confirm the facts.

I wish to extend to everyone an invitation to attend the meetings of the Sanitary Commission, which by law are public meetings. Regular meetings are the first and third Mondays of each month at 8:00 p.m. at 323 East Oak Street in Oakland. Facts may also be obtained from my office in the basement of the Courthouse in person or by calling 334-8530.

In my three years as an engineering advisor with the Commission, I recall only one instance of a citizen attending a meeting for general information purposes, aside from those who attend occasionally for specific requests and determinations on personal issues. That one person was not Mr. Bowen. During these three years most general information has reached the public verbally, probably passing through several persons before reaching this column as a letter. Perhaps this is why so much of the information written has been distorted and misleading and often is completely incorrect. The water rates for Oak Park are a good example, as these customers will realize when they receive their bills.

Poor quality government often results when there is no direct public involvement in the decisionmaking process of governmental bodies. If you really want the Sanitary Commission to make better decisions or if you want to be able to influence these decisions or if you want to be better informed and learn the facts, please attend these meetings. On the other hand, if all you desire is to criticize, that can be done best without expending the personal effort required to obtain the facts.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

Thank you for the excellent coverage and flattering review of my exhibit of paintings at the Ruth Enlow Library.

I would like to extend my appreciation especially to Mr. Naylor for a piece which was well written and, except for inaccuracies in maple syrup production procedures, interpretations which were quite accurate.

Your coverage of events such as this is a commendable addition to your newspaper — an innovation for which all of us involved in the arts are deeply grateful.

Letter to the Editor:

A response to the letter and person, "Name Withheld Upon Request", who saw a county car at Foodland on a Sunday.

I can understand why one might question a county car in the parking lot at Brownings on Sunday. Most people would assume since school is in session Monday through Friday that there is no school business on a Sunday; however, this is not the case.

On the particular Sunday mentioned, my husband, a Board of Education supervisor, had some business which needed his immediate attention so he went into the Board of Education Office to work. This is a common occurrence at our house—calls that need attention before school, after school, Saturday or Sunday. He did make a stop at Foodland which is on his normal route to and from the office. Dr. Buser was informed about the incident by the writer of the letter, but didn't feel there was anything irregular or wrong with a stop along the route after the matter was explained by my husband.

My husband would not and does not use a county car for personal use. In fact just the opposite is true, he has used our family car for county business.

I feel this person was acting hastily and harshly in writing such a vindictive letter before he knew the facts. I hope after reading my letter and realizing the truth, he will apologize, either publicly or privately.

Numerous times, my husband has had to answer the phone — early or late, during his rest time, or even during his evening meal and has talked to concerned parents showing the utmost patience and kindness.

Our world would be so much better if we would look for the good in others and be less judgmental of them.

Police Search For Intruder Tuesday Night

Oakland police, deputies from the sheriff's department, and members of the Maryland State Police force joined in a search Tuesday night for an intruder who ransacked an apartment on South Second Street.

Police were alerted about 9:55 by Mrs. Thomas E. Dunbar, on Water Street, who heard a commotion at a neighbor's apartment. When police arrived, they found that Don Johnson's apartment was a shambles, with windows and mirrors broken, furniture destroyed, and the phone torn from the wall. Mr. Johnson was out of town yesterday and last night.

A suspect was seen in the vicinity and police, assisted by a K-9 dog from the sheriff's department, concentrated efforts in the South Third Street area along the Little Yough. The search was called off at 3 a.m., when the trail was lost at the Second Street railroad crossing, near the city parking lot.

Rainy Weather Dampens Fourth

Last Wednesday's weather dampened the spirits of Fourth of July revelers as 1.28 inches of precipitation fell on the area with a high of 71 degrees and a low of 48.

On Thursday the mercury dropped to 64 with a low of 41 and no precipitation. Warmer temperatures returned Friday with a high of 71 and a low of 39.

Temperatures rose further on Saturday to 75 degrees, and there were 76 degree highs both Sunday and Monday. Low temperatures were 36, Saturday; 43, Sunday; and 47, Monday. There was no precipitation Thursday through Monday.

On Tuesday the high temperature was 71 with a low of 57 and .30 precipitation.

"I'm beginning to see why this is known as a tough course."

Friends are being received at the John O. Durst Funeral home this afternoon from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9 this evening. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Manning Smith, assisted by Harry M. Fox. Interment will be in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Commission Discusses

from vacationers who could camp at the state park and luanch their boats without paying in and out launching fees. They supported the park policy because it at least was a competitive policy. If there were no restriction and no charge, one businessman pointed out, they would lose a lot of business from nonresidents.

The commission decided to deter action on the matter until October when results of the summer season could be further studied.

In other commission business, a rezoning request was made by George Brodak in order to construct a tavern near Thayerville. The commission requested Brodak and his lawyer to supply them with evidence to support their reason for their request before the next meeting when the matter would be reviewed.

After discussion and testimony by Al Bourgeois, Wildlife Administrator for Garrett County, the comission members moved to accept a resolution concerning the proposed Savage River wildland which requested the Department of Natural Resources to re-evaluate the proposal and to administratively designate the area as a wildland rather than allowing the Maryland General Assembly to legislatively designate it. This would allow wildlife management of the area to continue which would have been halted under a legislative action.

Other commission business included:

—The approval to submit two to three inactive non-coal quarries for possible reclamation funding;

— Discussion of a hearing to amend the Federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965 which restricted erection of informational signs along federal and state highways. Tim Dugan announced he would attend the hearing and, in his capacity as county planning director, testify that the act should be amended to reflect the assumption that local government land-use decisions are in the public interest and are preferable to federal mandates;

— An analysis of the Garrett County Economic Planning Study by Eugene Straub, a Garrett Community College professor, Straub explained that although the study was sorely needed, it was inadequate in certain areas. Certain observations he made was that statistics presented in the study only reflected payroll incomes with no account of nonpayroll revenues, that some assumptions were without adequate documentation, and that no projections were made for the county showing an incorporation or cross-correlation of projections for the different county industries; and — The review of the decision of county government to reject the AMERITEC proposal.

The next commission meeting will be Wednesday, August 1, at 2:00 p.m. in the commission meeting room.

Jail Completion Delayed Again

Completion of the Garrett County jail, which was scheduled to be finished by July 6, has once again been delayed, through disagreements between the sub-contractor and a window manufacturer.

According to Gary Mullich, courthouse project engineer, windows containing special security glass have been delayed. He reports that the supplier contends that they have not been paid for by Southern Steel, the contractor for jail completion.

The Commissioners sent a letter to the Southern Steel officials last Tuesday, asking when completion can be expected, and if work will not be completed, to notify the commissioners so appropriate action can be taken.

Little work remains to be completed by Southern Steel, aside from installation of the windows and some touch-up work. The principal contractor, Pevarnik Brothers, cannot complete the kitchen or the remainder of their work on the jail until the windows are installed.

Although the officials from Southern Steel had reportedly said they would be in Oakland to resume work on Monday, no workmen showed up. Mr. Mullich noted that other contractors have had similar problems with the company, citing numerous newspaper clippings from other areas which tell of similar delays through Southern Steel.

Workmen resumed work Tuesday morning; however, no exact date of completion has been announced.

Sheriff John Evans, Jr., when asked about a completion date for the jail, summed it up when he said "They now say September, but they don't say what year."

Richfood Reports Steak Larceny

The Garrett Sheriff's department is investigating a breaking, entering and larceny Monday night at Richfood in the Manor Mart east of Mt. Lake Park.

According to the police report, the thief or thieves first cut the chain link fence surrounding the side and rear of the store. They then climbed up on a loading dock and kicked out a panel of the door.

A screwdriver or similar object was used to force open the door to the office, and the room was ransacked although nothing appeared to have been taken, according to investigating authorities.

Before leaving, however, those involved helped themselves to cut and wrapped steaks from the meat counter valued at approximately $50.

Six Spot UFO Last Wednesday

Six members of the White Church community were startled to see an unidentified flying object last Wednesday evening while they were traveling along Rt. 560 just east of Loch Lynn.

Viewers of the silver-colored, disc-shaped craft were Mrs. Catherine Harvey, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Mousch, their two children and a neighbor, Ron Cosby.

According to Mrs. Harvey, who first spotted the object at about 7:55 p.m., she first thought the UFO was a plane about to crash in the vicinity of Table Rock, across Pleasant Valley from Route 560.

She described the craft by saying it reminded her of a cake plate with four smaller red circles on its underneath side. In the center of each circle was a round red light, and in the center of the red lights were smaller yellow lights. A deep smoke-colored vapor trail was coming from beneath the craft, which appeared to be coming down.

The other family members caught a brief glimpse of the UFO, and Mr. Mousch immediately turned around and drove back to where they had seen it, but it had disappeared.

A Wasted Resource . . .

The summit meeting called by President Carter this past week is a move that is not often a part of government decision-making. The purpose of the meeting is for the President to receive input from, not only his advisors and his political colleagues, but also from numerous citizens in the private sector.

Some believe that this is a sign of Mr. Carter's weakness, that the meeting is just an act of desperation by the President, whose administration would certainly not take any trophies in a popularity contest right now. While it may be just that, perhaps this approach should be utilized more often, at all levels of government.

The methods of input into government decision-making available to the average citizen include: his vote; input by letters; attending public meeetings; or running for office himself. While the importance of voting should not be undermined, votes merely put an individual into office, they do not control his decisions. The degree of impact of letters and responses at public meetings is questionable. Also, many of the most competent persons simply have no desire, or are unable, to run for office.

Thus, public input into the workings of the government is limited. Yet, there are hundreds of persons out there on the street who have good, solid ideas on the issues and some possible solutions to some of our problems. Why not issue personal invitations to specific persons to bring their ideas in for consideration? It would not necessarily be a sign of weakness on the part of the officials. On the contrary, it would indicate a willingness to really listen, face to face, to the viewpoints of some intelligent, well-informed citizens.

The pressure on elected government personnel is tremendous, as is evidenced by the present situation in our own county commissioners' office. Maybe a more active, invited participation by persons other than politicians would help alleviate some of that pressure. So far, this valuable resource is being used only sparingly.

Letters to the Editor

REMINDER — Unsigned letters to the editor will NOT be printed under any circumstances. Letters exceeding 300 word will also not be printed.

Dear Editor,

In the July 4 Republican, Mr. Welch wrote a letter in reply to the G.C.F.T. letter-to-the-editor concerning substitute teachers and their salary. Mr. Welch's letter was an obvious attack on teachers rather than an answer or rebuttal to the G.D.F.T. letter which hoped to call attention to the salary payed to these people who have the responsibility of our children. Most of these substitutes don't have the benefit of "degrees in psychology, political science; University level teaching experience at U.S.M.A., West Point, N.Y." as does Mr. Welch. The majority of them, however, have the most important qualification — that is respect for the children with whom they are working and respect for the teacher for whom they are substituting.

I doubt that any teacher would argue Mr. Welch's point that the communities have problems, since most of us are not only teachers, but also taxpaying members of the community and many of us have children attending the schools. I do take exception to the statement "the community must suffer a body of teachers who refuse to set the example by putting the student's problems first . . ." I believe it's all those who condemn a whole school system or group of teachers for the shortcomings of a few who do the greatest disservice to the community and especially to the students. It's very difficult to deal with the student who comes from a home where there is no respect for the teachers or the schools. The time which should be spent teaching "fundamentals" is often spent teaching the most basic fundamental — respect for others — even teachers.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth J. Willborn,
teacher

Dear Sir:

We, the American Federation of Teachers, would like to voice our concern over the misuse of funds at Southern Garrett High School.

It has come to our attention that the athletic department of Southern has been forced to use athletic monies to pay for substitute teachers. It seems to be highly unusual that the Garrett County Board of Education would force the athletes of Southern to pay for a substitute teacher when a coach must be away from school fulfilling the duties for which the Board of Education employed that person.

Does the Board of Education not pay for a substitute when a teacher is away on a field trip? We fail to see any recognizable difference.

Why would the Board of Education hire a coach, knowing that his/her duties would eventually cause missed school time, and then expect the already overburdened Athletic Department to "pick up the tab."

In conclusion, we feel the Garrett County Board of Education should take a look at its present policy regarding substitutes for coaches. We believe the Board should feel an obligation to pay for the services they hire and not ask the athletes of Garrett County to sacrifice for their behalf.

Sincerely yours,
A representative of the Garrett County Federation
of Teachers

Dear Representative,

We asked Dr. William Buser, superintendent of schools, about your claim. He stated that athletic department funds could have been used to pay for a substitute teacher, but not without the athletic director and the coaches being aware of it. He said that the funds budgeted for substitute teachers always run quite thin near the end of the fiscal year (May and June). All principals are asked to do what they can to keep teacher absences at a bare minimum. Principals will sometimes turn to the athletic department for funds, but again, not without conferring with the athletic department personnel.

Editor

Dear Editor:

Neither the Garrett County Sanitary Commission nor I have any intention of carrying on a running debate in this column with dissidents such as Mr. Bowen who complain often but seldom inquire of us to confirm the facts.

I wish to extend to everyone an invitation to attend the meetings of the Sanitary Commission, which by law are public meetings. Regular meetings are the first and third Mondays of each month at 8:00 p.m. at 323 East Oak Street in Oakland. Facts may also be obtained from my office in the basement of the Courthouse in person or by calling 334-8530.

In my three years as an engineering advisor with the Commission, I recall only one instance of a citizen attending a meeting for general information purposes, aside from those who attend occasionally for specific requests and determinations on personal issues. That one person was not Mr. Bowen. During these three years most general information has reached the public verbally, probably passing through several persons before reaching this column as a letter. Perhaps this is why so much of the information written has been distorted and misleading and often is completely incorrect. The water rates for Oak Park are a good example, as these customers will realize when they receive their bills.

Poor quality government often results when there is no direct public involvement in the decisionmaking process of governmental bodies. If you really want the Sanitary Commission to make better decisions or if you want to be able to influence these decisions or if you want to be better informed and learn the facts, please attend these meetings. On the other hand, if all you desire is to criticize, that can be done best without expending the personal effort required to obtain the facts.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

Thank you for the excellent coverage and flattering review of my exhibit of paintings at the Ruth Enlow Library.

I would like to extend my appreciation especially to Mr. Naylor for a piece which was well written and, except for inaccuracies in maple syrup production procedures, interpretations which were quite accurate.

Your coverage of events such as this is a commendable addition to your newspaper — an innovation for which all of us involved in the arts are deeply grateful.

Letter to the Editor:

A response to the letter and person, "Name Withheld Upon Request", who saw a county car at Foodland on a Sunday.

I can understand why one might question a county car in the parking lot at Brownings on Sunday. Most people would assume since school is in session Monday through Friday that there is no school business on a Sunday; however, this is not the case.

On the particular Sunday mentioned, my husband, a Board of Education supervisor, had some business which needed his immediate attention so he went into the Board of Education Office to work. This is a common occurrence at our house—calls that need attention before school, after school, Saturday or Sunday. He did make a stop at Foodland which is on his normal route to and from the office. Dr. Buser was informed about the incident by the writer of the letter, but didn't feel there was anything irregular or wrong with a stop along the route after the matter was explained by my husband.

My husband would not and does not use a county car for personal use. In fact just the opposite is true, he has used our family car for county business.

I feel this person was acting hastily and harshly in writing such a vindictive letter before he knew the facts. I hope after reading my letter and realizing the truth, he will apologize, either publicly or privately.

Numerous times, my husband has had to answer the phone — early or late, during his rest time, or even during his evening meal and has talked to concerned parents showing the utmost patience and kindness.

Our world would be so much better if we would look for the good in others and be less judgmental of them.

A Concerned Wife

Police Search For Intruder Tuesday Night

Oakland police, deputies from the sheriff's department, and members of the Maryland State Police force joined in a search Tuesday night for an intruder who ransacked an apartment on South Second Street.

Police were alerted about 9:55 by Mrs. Thomas E. Dunbar, on Water Street, who heard a commotion at a neighbor's apartment. When police arrived, they found that Don Johnson's apartment was a shambles, with windows and mirrors broken, furniture destroyed, and the phone torn from the wall. Mr. Johnson was out of town yesterday and last night.

A suspect was seen in the vicinity and police, assisted by a K-9 dog from the sheriff's department, concentrated efforts in the South Third Street area along the Little Yough. The search was called off at 3 a.m., when the trail was lost at the Second Street railroad crossing, near the city parking lot.

Rainy Weather Dampens Fourth

Last Wednesday's weather dampened the spirits of Fourth of July revelers as 1.28 inches of precipitation fell on the area with a high of 71 degrees and a low of 48.

On Thursday the mercury dropped to 64 with a low of 41 and no precipitation. Warmer temperatures returned Friday with a high of 71 and a low of 39.

Temperatures rose further on Saturday to 75 degrees, and there were 76 degree highs both Sunday and Monday. Low temperatures were 36, Saturday; 43, Sunday; and 47, Monday. There was no precipitation Thursday through Monday.

On Tuesday the high temperature was 71 with a low of 57 and .30 precipitation.

from vacationers who could camp at the state park and luanch their boats without paying in and out launching fees. They supported the park policy because it at least was a competitive policy. If there were no restriction and no charge, one businessman pointed out, they would lose a lot of business from nonresidents.

The commission decided to deter action on the matter until October when results of the summer season could be further studied.

In other commission business, a rezoning request was made by George Brodak in order to construct a tavern near Thayerville. The commission requested Brodak and his lawyer to supply them with evidence to support their reason for their request before the next meeting when the matter would be reviewed.

After discussion and testimony by Al Bourgeois, Wildlife Administrator for Garrett County, the comission members moved to accept a resolution concerning the proposed Savage River wildland which requested the Department of Natural Resources to reevaluate the proposal and to administratively designate the area as a wildland rather than allowing the Maryland General Assembly to legislatively designate it. This would allow wildlife management of the area to continue which would have been halted under a legislative action.

Other commission business included:

—The approval to submit two to three inactive non-coal quarries for possible reclamation funding;

— Discussion of a hearing to amend the Federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965 which restricted erection of informational signs along federal and state highways. Tim Dugan announced he would attend the hearing and, in his capacity as county planning director, testify that the act should be amended to reflect the assumption that local government land-use decisions are in the public interest and are preferable to federal mandates;

— An analysis of the Garrett County Economic Planning Study by Eugene Straub, a Garrett Community College professor, Straub explained that although the study was sorely needed, it was inadequate in certain areas. Certain observations he made was that statistics presented in the study only reflected payroll incomes with no account of nonpayroll revenues, that some assumptions were without adequate documentation, and that no projections were made for the county showing an incorporation or cross-correlation of projections for the different county industries; and — The review of the decision of county government to reject the AMERITEC proposal.

The next commission meeting will be Wednesday, August 1, at 2:00 p.m. in the commission meeting room.

Jail Completion Delayed Again

Completion of the Garrett County jail, which was scheduled to be finished by July 6, has once again been delayed, through disagreements between the sub-contractor and a window manufacturer.

According to Gary Mullich, courthouse project engineer, windows containing special security glass have been delayed. He reports that the supplier contends that they have not been paid for by Southern Steel, the contractor for jail completion.

The Commissioners sent a letter to the Southern Steel officials last Tuesday, asking when completion can be expected, and if work will not be completed, to notify the commissioners so appropriate action can be taken.

Little work remains to be completed by Southern Steel, aside from installation of the windows and some touch-up work. The principal contractor, Pevarnik Brothers, cannot complete the kitchen or the remainder of their work on the jail until the windows are installed.

Although the officials from Southern Steel had reportedly said they would be in Oakland to resume work on Monday, no workmen showed up. Mr. Mullich noted that other contractors have had similar problems with the company, citing numerous newspaper clippings from other areas which tell of similar delays through Southern Steel.

Workmen resumed work Tuesday morning; however, no exact date of completion has been announced.

Sheriff John Evans, Jr., when asked about a completion date for the jail, summed it up when he said "They now say September, but they don't say what year."

Richfood Reports Steak Larceny

The Garrett Sheriff's department is investigating a breaking, entering and larceny Monday night at Richfood in the Manor Mart east of Mt. Lake Park.

According to the police report, the thief or thieves first cut the chain link fence surrounding the side and rear of the store. They then climbed up on a loading dock and kicked out a panel of the door.

A screwdriver or similar object was used to force open the door to the office, and the room was ransacked although nothing appeared to have been taken, according to investigating authorities.

Before leaving, however, those involved helped themselves to cut and wrapped steaks from the meat counter valued at approximately $50.

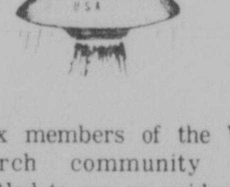
Six Spot UFO Last Wednesday



Six members of the White Church community were startled to see an unidentified flying object last Wednesday evening while they were traveling along Rt. 560 just east of Loch Lynn.

Viewers of the silver-colored, disc-shaped craft were Mrs. Catherine Harvey, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Mousch, their two children and a neighbor, Ron Cosby.

According to Mrs. Harvey, who first spotted the object at about 7:55 p.m., she first thought the UFO was a plane about to crash in the vicinity of Table Rock, across Pleasant Valley from Route 560.

She described the craft by saying it reminded her of a cake plate with four smaller red circles on its underneath side. In the center of each circle was a round red light, and in the center of the red lights were smaller yellow lights. A deep smoke-colored vapor trail was coming from beneath the craft, which appeared to be coming down.

The other family members caught a brief glimpse of the UFO, and Mr. Mousch immediately turned around and drove back to where they had seen it, but it had disappeared.

Angry Bull Causes Amateur Thieves To Flee, Beefless

Amateurs with a gun and a knife apparently were frightened off by an unfriendly bull before they could complete attempts to field-butcher a Hereford cow on the Earl Frazee farm not far from White Church early Sunday.

According to Mrs. Frazee, they were awakened shortly before six by their bull, pastured nearby. When Mr. Frazee checked on the animal, he found one of his best Hereford cows slain. At first they thought wild animals had been tearing at the animal, but discovered she had been shot in the head when they turned her over. Wounds on her shoulders and chest were made by a long sharp knife, as were the cuts which nearly severed her hindquarters.

Maryland State Police were notified and shown items found near the slaughter, including a wallet and knife case. Value of the cow was set at between $800 and $1,000.

Mrs. Catherine Harvey, a neighbor, also reported to police that one of her beef cows had been shot that same morning, probably between 3 and 4 a.m. Mrs. Harvey said the veterinarian was not certain her animal would survive the bullet, which appeared to have come from the same 30-30 which shot the Frazee cow.

Police are continuing their investigations.

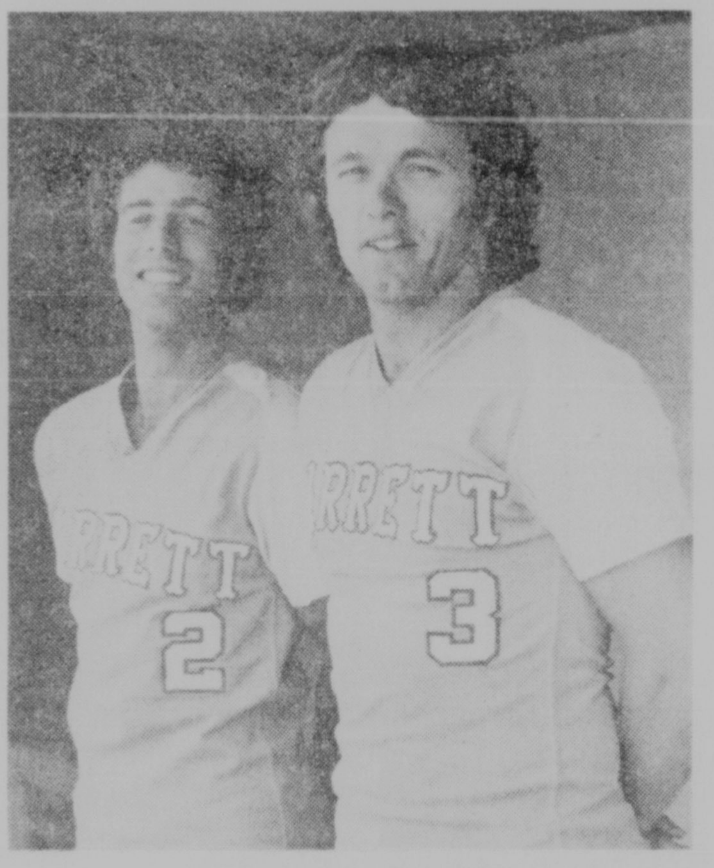
BASKETBALL CAMP CONCLUDES — The second annual Deep Creek Girls' Basketball Camp ended last Friday with an awards banquet at the Wisp. Trophies were presented in both the Junior and Senior Divisions for Hustle, Best Point Girl, Best Rebounder, Foul Shooting, Set Shooting, and One-on-One Championship. Over forty campers attended the camp held on the campus of Garrett Community College, and the majority of the participants were from Garrett County and Western Pennsylvania. The highlight of the week was an appearance by two professional women basketball players. Michelle McKenzie of the California Dreams, and Patty Bucklew of the Dayton Rockettes, spoke to the group concerning the fundamentals of basketball. The camp was directed by Ms. Roxanne Dale, Women's Basketball Coach at Garrett Community College.

After 1-Year Layoff, Garrett Re-Vamps Its Baseball Program



Phil Caruso and John Helmick

By Jim Willis

Garrett Community College recently re-activated intercollegiate baseball for the 1979-80 school term. Baseball at Garrett had formerly been under the direction of Coach Dennis Fearnow, and now newly named Coach Phil Caruso will pick up the program after a one-year layoff.

Coach Caruso is a graduate of Frostburg State and Westchester Community College. He currently is a traveling elementary physical education instructor for the Garrett County Board of Education. He has assisted both county High Schools with baseball programs and has been head coach of the county's American Legion baseball program for the past three years.

Coach Caruso played four years of collegiate baseball — two with Frostburg, and two with Westchester. He has also participated in the Pen Mar League for the Mt. Savage and Oakland teams for the past three years.

Shortly after being named the new baseball coach at Garrett, Caruso selected John Helmick as his assistant. Coach Helmick will handle the pitching staff and assist in the program's recruiting.

Helmick is also a traveling physical education teacher for the Board of Education. Helmick comes into the Laker program with an extensive baseball background as a graduate of Frostburg where he holds several pitching records. He was recently named to the Frostburg Hall of Fame for his pitching achievements.

Caruso stated, "I consider Coach Helmick to be one of the finest pitching coaches around."

Over the course of the next two months, Caruso hopes to announce several letters of intent signings by baseball players from Garrett County, throughout the state, and nearby West Virginia.

According to Coach Caruso, "We got a late start in recruiting, but we hope to put a competitive team on the field this spring. We have recruited very heavily in Garrett County and the state of Maryland. Many outstanding players have already made comittments to other schools. If half of the players we have been in contact with come to Garrett we should be competitive. Otherwise, I'm confident our program will come into its own in the next two years."

Coach Caruso stated that he will be urging the support of his program, both in attendance by the community and financial support. "The Lakers hope to involve the county and the community as much as possible," he concluded.

Oakland Takes 4-2 Win

The Oakland Pen-Mar Baseball Team traveled to Cumberland last Saturday to play a make-up game against the Cumberland Legion, which ended in a 4-2 Oakland win on Donahue field.

Cumberland started the action by scoring two runs in the first inning as Mike Nelson singled, advancing to second on an error, and finally scoring on a pitching error. Lloyd Day then walked and went on to score on an infield out.

Oakland scored one run in the first as Dave Bender, Mark Tysinger, Craig Bosley, and Randy Cirillo all walked.

In the third inning, Mark Tysinger hit a solo home run, his fifth of the year.

Frankie Lewis led off with a double to right center in the seventh inning, Doug Green reached first on an error, and Lewis advanced to third. Dave Barr then squeezed in Lewis from third for Oakland's fourth and final run.

John Chaney went the distance for Oakland, pushing his record to 3-1. He allowed only five hits, fanning six and walking three.

Oakland's leading lumbermen for the season are Mark Tysinger with five homeruns; Dave Bender with four doubles; Craig Bosley with 13 hits; and Dave Bender with 12 runs.

Masonry block has far better M & U factors than poured concrete. That's a fact. So, used naturally, without any insulation, masonry block will always be warmer. Yet, the builder can still add additional insulation in the cores of a masonry block for an exceptionally energy-efficient wall. Masonry block foundation walls can even allow the builder to insulate his floors more quickly since he need not wait to strip the concrete forms.

We also have attractive pre-cast materials, patio stones, steps, splash blocks, parking curbs, concrete pipe, flower boxes, etc. So stop in and see us for all your masonry needs.

Grantsville Snaps Losing Streak With 10-1 Win

Grantsville Post 214 Baseball Team snapped a four-game losing streak by defeating Victory Post 155, 10-1 on the strength of a 14-hit attack Saturday at Westernport. Post 214 scored four runs in the second inning on RBI singles by Dick Bender and Frank Lewis. Greg Beachy capped the scoring with a two-run double.

Grantsville was led by Greg Beachy with three hits and Lewis, Sweitzer, and Harris each contributed two hits apiece. Jeff Colaw scattered seven hits in going the distance on the mound as he fanned three and gave up only one run. Colaw is now 2-0 in Legion competition.

Playhouse Opens 25th Season This Evening

Cather MacCallum: Mainstay of Summer Stock

By Bart Naylor

Cather MacCallum was in the midst of rehearsal for the Blue Barn's opening play, "Sunday in New York." She is the director.

"No. Cross. Cross upstage."

"All right" answers the young student actor. He begins to turn upstage, and deliver his lines again.

MacCallum cuts him off short, thinking he is too mechanical. "No" She hops off the table where she sits, and comes on stage. She walks in the motions she wants, and says his lines.

The young actor tries it again.

"Good" she encourages. This is the first time through the play without scripts; there will be time for improvement.

After a break in the scene MacCallum comes over to talk. She is slender, and short. Her hair is straight, parted on the side, and hangs just above her shoulders; it is blonde brown. Her voice is quiet, heavily textured by cigarette smoking. Her face is expressive, weathered by her long experience in theatre.

While her figure is slight, her role in the Garrett County playhouse — this is her 6th season — is important. MacCallum is a trained and experienced actress and director. Born in Winchester, Virginia, she has spent a large part of her life acting in the west. She appeared in St. Paul, San Francisco, and more extensively, in New Mexico. "I like to think of myself as a character actress. I've had some 80 to 90 roles." For a time, she taught theatre at the University of New Mexico, and there, she met Gene Yell, director of the Blue Barn playhouse. Yell was then head of the drama department.

"Everyone knew about Gene's summerstock theatre. And everyone wanted to do it. Stock theatre is wonderful exercise. That's where you do a new role each week. I guess that's where the name comes from: After a while, you build up a 'stock' of roles. It's a great experience.

"Well of course everyone wanted to do it. But you didn't ask. You waited until you got invited. I got invited in 1963, and I loved it. Its a tremendous challenge, but the reward is infinitely worth it."

"Each audience is special."

After that summer season, MacCallum left theatre altogether for several years. "No, it really didn't have to do with any bad experience with the theatre. I loved that;" she sat back in her chair, and ran her fingers through her hair. "No, it was for different reasons. For personal reasons."

She returned to her profession in the early 70's, and began to direct. "That was a real kick. After getting the play together, I would sit back and watch the audience watch the play. The audience is the thing, you know. They determine what the play is." She stopped to light another cigarette. "A comedy isn't a comedy if the audience doesn't laugh."

Do audiences differ? Is the Garrett County audience different from the one in New Mexico? "Well yes and no. Each audience is special. And some plays are more appealing to certain audiences. The Blue Barn is especially nice, because they are behind you. If you want to try something new, they're with you, encouraging you."

MacCallum will divide her time this summer between directing and acting. After directing this play, she will do Agatha Christie's, "Towards Zero;" she will act in some others. "One of my favorite roles was last summer in Milburn's (Mehlhop) play. It was called "Rude Mechanicals." I was Sissy Verdun. I liked that a lot. Milburn is a fine playwright."

What is most important to her in theatre?

"I like to think of myself as a character actress."

"Well . . ." She paused. Her eyes began to concentrate, and the circle beneath them grew darker. "I like . . . working the young actors. I like working with Gene Yell . . ." She paused again, almost in reverence . . . ."with Milburn, with Joan (Statkus), and Gerry (McLaughlin) — that's with a 'g.' When you work together, there is a real sense of . . . ensemble . . . and that's when it can become exciting." She stopped again, changed position in her chair. She took a long drag on her cigarette "Yeah" she exhaled. "That is what is important."

After talking, she returned to her actors. They were prepared to begin a new scene. She sat cross legged on a table at stage left. She remained relatively silent throughout, now and then chuckling to herself. A few people appeared in the stairway entrance. When the scene ended, she trotted over and hugged them. "Good to see you . . ."

This was noon Sunday. She had been working for two hours, and expected to finish about 4:30. The play would open Wednesday, and by then, she would begin rehearsing for next weeks play.

Overheated Heater Causes Fire Alarm

An overheated water heater at a vacation home on Hickory Ridge, near Turkey Neck, initiated a fire alarm this morning which sent members of two volunteer fire companies hurrying to the scene.

Fire fighters from Deer Park and Oakland were called by Central Alarm at 8:46 a.m. to the vacation home of V. R. Mowry, Petersburg. When Deer Park firemen arrived, they found that the smoke in the basement was caused by an overheated water heater which had caused a short circuit.

Oakland firemen were notified, and stood by at the Deer Park station to assist if needed. Deer Park had ten men and three pieces of equipment, and remained at the scene until 9:23. Southern Rescue Squad had also been called.

HOME-OFFICE DEDUCTION

If you use one room of your home as an office, make sure that you are taking advantage of the tax break that is entitled to you. How much of your home office expenses can be taken as a business expense depends on the size of the room in relation to the rest of the house.

For example, if the house has 1,600 square feet of space and the office measures 10x16 feet (or 160 square feet), you are allowed 10% of the total running costs of the house's light, heat, repairs, painting, and other maintenance, depreciation, taxes and so on.

But, remember that the room must be used exclusively for business use; preferably as a main place of business, or show that the room was necessary to see clients or patients. Also, expenses cannot exceed the income earned from the business.

Also, if you have any valuable equipment in your home office, don't assume that it will be covered by your regular homeowner's insurance policy. You'll need a special floater to protect against loss.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Tides of Time

Portrait of human initiative!

At the moment it is moving bits of beach from place to place. But as the tides of time sweep in that initiative will be turned to ever more important aims.

TODAY offers more exciting opportunities than changing the contours of the sand. In churches around the world children are being taught the spiritual truths that will become essential as their horizons of initiative expand.

We love to watch our toddlers "working." Yes, we marvel at the energy and industry that inspire their sand bucket brigades. It is time to provide them with the moral and religious resources needed by those we count on to build a better world.

THE PROPHETS WE HATE

Background Scripture:
1 Kings 22.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 86:1-13.

King Ahab had four hundred and one prophets. Four hundred of these men pleased him greatly, but there was one whom he deeply hated. Just one prophet among so many... but that one man was enough to feed Ahab's anxieties.

Rev. Althouse

Ahab, King of Israel, attempts to persuade Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, to join him in a military campaign against Syria for the purpose of wrestling control over the city of Ramoth-gilead. Jehoshaphat is almost persuaded, but, being a devout man, he requests that they "Inquire first for the word of the Lord" (1 Kings 22:5).

Another Prophet?

So Ahab assembles four hundred of his four hundred and one prophets and in response to his question, "Shall I go to battle against Ramoth-gilead, or shall I forbear?", they reply: "Go up; for the Lord will give it into the hand of the King" (22:6). Four hundred prophets in agreement! That should have clinched the matter. But something must have told Jehoshaphat that four hundred prophets were not enough: "Is there not here another prophet of the Lord of whom we may inquire?" (22:7).

There is nothing subtle about Ahab's petulant response: "There is yet one man by whom we may inquire of the Lord, Micaiah the son of Imlah; but I hate him, for he never prophesies good concerning me, but evil" (22:8). Obviously Ahab judges a prophet by one criterion alone: whether or not he tells him what he wants to hear! Ahab hates Micaiah, not because he is not an authentic spokesman for the Lord, but because he disturbs Ahab with his prophecies.

But Jehoshaphat prevails upon Ahab and Micaiah is summoned to prophesy on the campaign. Ahab is shocked when Micaiah mimics the advice of the four hundred prophets: "Go up and triumph; the Lord will give it into the hand of the king" (22:15). At last, Micaiah has told Ahab what he wants to hear... but Ahab doesn't believe him. He suspects that the prophet is poking fun at him and asks Micaiah how many times he will have to ask before the prophet tells him the truth.

Didn't I Tell You?

He doesn't have to wait long and when the prophet tells him of his impending defect and death at Ramoth-gilead, Ahab turns triumphantly to Jehoshaphat: "Did I not tell you that he would not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?" (22:18). Later, when it was too late, he would learn that Micaiah alone of the four hundred and one prophets had spoken the truth.

But, really, is Ahab's reaction all that hard for us to understand? Do not most of us have some prophets whom we hate — for much the same reasons?

Census Bureau To Take Area Survey

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 16-20, 1979, Porter S. Rickley, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 76,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 102.2 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 96.3 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 5.8 percent; it has been in the 5.7 to 5.9 percent range for the past 10 months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

County Farm Queen Contest Still Open For Applications

The Garrett County Farm Queen Contest will be held Tuesday, August 7 at the County Fair at McHenry, according to Farm Bureau Women's Committee Chairman, Ferne Beachy. She stated that although the deadline for applications, July 10, has past, young women may still enter the contest until Friday, July 15.

To qualify, a contestant must live on a farm in Garrett County and must be unmarried. Her family must be members of the county farm bureau, prior to the contest, and be actively engaged in the production of food and/or fiber. The contestant must be 16 or not yet 20 by the date of the state contest, August 25. The final determination of eligibility shall rest with the county women's committee, Mrs. Beachy noted.

All girls entering the contest, according to Mrs. Beachy, will receive a cash prize and a free dinner at Will 'o the Wisp for her and her mother.

The winner of the contest will be eligible to compete in the state contest at Timonium Fair. The winner of this contest will receive a $1,000 scholarship to the University of Maryland and an expense trip to the AFBF convention in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. Beachy stated, "Most girls need a little encouragement from the family to enter an event such as this, but they enjoy and appreciate the experience after it is over."

Young women who have not yet sent in an application but who are interested in entering the contest may obtain more information by contacting Myrtle Hanft at 826-8472 or Ferne Beachy at 245-4452.

Methodist Charge Sponsors Camp

The first annual camping retreat of the Bloomington-Swanton charge of the United Methodist Church was held at a private camp near Accident, on June 29, 30, and July 1. The theme of the retreat was "The Family of God."

There were 39 fulltime campers with numerous visitors from each church on the charge on Saturday and Sunday. Each of the five churches on the charge, Bloomington, Chestnut Grove, Mt. Zion, Swanton, and North Glade were represented.

Bible studies for the various age groups were directed by Rev. and Mrs. Jay Six, Rev. and Mrs. Tom Crogan, and the Rev. Brian Scoffield.

Games, campfires and singing were among the activities. Communion was also given on Saturday night during the devotional services. Sunday morning worship was followed by a chicken barbecue, which ended the retreat.

Almanac

Today is Wednesday, July 11, the 192nd day of 1979 with 173 to follow.

The moon is in its full phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Mercury and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Cancer.

John Quincy Adams, sixth president of the United States, was born July 11, 1767.

On this day in history:

In 1933, all school teachers in Germany were ordered to read Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf" to become familiar with the Nazi creed.

In 1952, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated as Republican presidential candidate with Richard Nixon as his running mate. They were elected in November.

In 1955, the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado was dedicated with 300 cadets in its first class.

In 1973, a Brazilian jetliner crashed on approach at Orly Airport in Paris, killing 122 of the 134 persons aboard.

In 1978, a tank truck carrying liquid gas exploded at a campsite in Spain, killing 188 campers.

A thought for the day: American attorney John Calhoun said, "The surrender of life is nothing, compared to acknowledgment of inferiority."

Health Department Issues Warning On Siphoning Gas

Because incidents of toxic effects from gasoline are being reported in increasing numbers to the Poison Information Center, a warning concerning these toxic effects was sounded last week by Dr. Katherine Farrell of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Environmental Health Administration.

As a result of the gasoline shortage, many people have found themselves having to siphon gasoline from lawn mowers, tractors or family cars, and it is in this siphoning process that gasoline is often swallowed or inhaled.

Dr. Farrell said that gasoline hazards include a dangerous form of pneumonia, as well as nervous system damage from large doses.

She said that if a mouthful of gasoline is accidentally swallowed, vomiting should not be induced. Instead, call the Poison Information Center or a physician immediately. Anyone who chokes on a mouthful of gasoline should seek immediate emergency medical help as should anyone who develops respiratory symptoms later.

Dr. Farrell cautioned that stored gasoline should be kept in approved safety containers, away from heat, flame and where it cannot be reached by children.

The toll-free State-wide number for the Poison Information Center is 1-800-492-2414.

How to improvise a hot acting career

By ANNE THAYER

MONEY AND FUN, as well as a lot of experience are the things Howard Hesseman got out of working in improvisational groups such as The Committee, which was headed by Richard Schaal.

For the late Freddie Prinze and Robin Williams it began with standup routines in small clubs like The Comedy Store before live audiences.

Good, yes, as far as it goes. But improvisational groups, who put together on-the-spot characterizations to fit instructions shouted at them by the audience carry the "live" challenge one step further. And it is credited by some of today's finest actors for developing their skills.

For Paul Dooley, Second City began it all. It was the starting point, too, for Mike Nichols and Elaine May, (both of whom in later years directed Paul in stage plays), Jerry Stiller and Anne Meara, Alan Alda and Alan Arkin.

The versatiliy assured Dooley a nice living doing TV commercials (through his own company, All Over Creation) until Robert Altman discovered him for movies. He appeared two years ago in "The Wedding." Then in "A Perfect Couple," he got top billing. Now in Altman's "Health," due out around Christmas – Paul also gets a co-writer credit. For, as with most Second City grads, writing is second nature to him.

He says his own "Health" role expanded considerably by the third script draft. As "a loud, flamboyant, pushy – but likeable – candidate" for the presidency of a health food group, Paul's Doc Gany is a tough competitor. But he competition is tougher. The other would-be prexys are Lauren Bacall and Glenda Jackson.

Incidentally, you won't be seeing Paul in upcoming commercials, "unless they pay me for a 'Hi, this is Paul Dooley' endorsement," as he says. But you will be hearing his voice ... or rather one of his "voices." That training leaves a guy with his own repertory of accents.

Sure, it's a little harder on Dooley than when he was starring in New York in Jules Feiffer's "Hold Me." Then he had only to run a few blocks to a recording studio for a commercial.

Now his partner has to follow Paul on location. In the past year that has meant treks to Florida where Paul holed up for three months on "Health," and to Bloomington, Ind., where Paul worked for a couple of months on "Breaking Away," in which he's the bewildered parent of a would-be bike racing champ.

Also crediting improvisational theater as the major force in his development is Howard Hesseman, the shrewed, slightly tacky deejay, Doc Johnny Fever, in CBS's "WKRP in Cincinnati."

The group that brings a "beloved alma mater" reverence to Howard's eye was The Committee in San Francisco.

Richard Schaal, who currently stars in the syndicated "Plese Stand By" series, was, in the 1960s, the actor-manager who signed Howard for The Committee. Schaal's then-wife, Valerie Harper, in her pre-Rhoda days, was also a power behind the group.

Howard recalls, "I loved doing it. But I was also decently paid."

He adds, "Then and now, they're nice people, Richard and Valerie." Training like that, says Howard, teaches you to "know" a character fast.

And if you think Doc has gotten slyer and funnier as the weeks go by, you're right. Howard started insinuating suitable personality traits right after the pilot film was shot ... and the writers have picked them up. He also asked for a wardrobe change.

"Doc just wouldn't go for the wilted drip-dry suit they gave him."

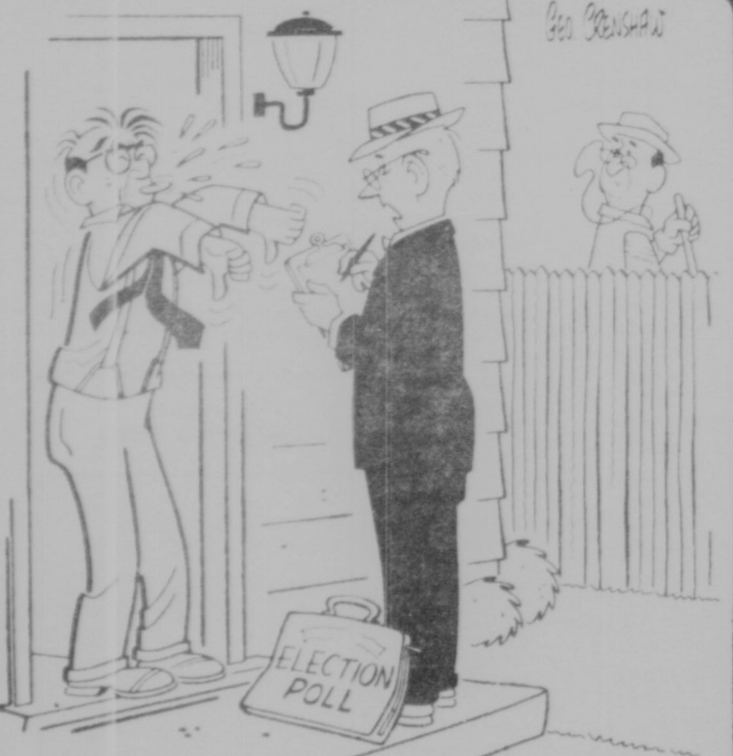
Yes, it was tacky. But not enough. Roars Howard. "It had a jacket!"

It was another improvisatinal group, The Premise in New York City, that spawned Joan Darling, seen for a couple of seasons on TV in "Owen Marshall, Counsellor at Law."

She has given up acting because she had other – and bigger – goals for himself. First she founded an acting school and was the teacher Arthur Hill (who played Owen Marshall) chose for his daughter, when he couldn't talk the sprout out of following his footsteps.

In recent years, Joan has progressed to the higher plateau for which she was aiming ... and is much in demand as the director of TV shows.

All in all, improvisation has been a boost to many careers.



"JUST A SIMPLE 'YES' OR 'NO' IF YOU PLEASE, SIR."

For reasons not even understood by the gods, NBC has changed the name of their new police drama, "The Force," to the tongue-twisting "Eischied," the name of the lead character played by Joe Don Baker.

Shelley Hack will star as Tiffany Welles, Charlie's third angel when ABC's "Charlie's Angels" returns for a fourth season this fall.

Her first audience may have been a tree, but—

Shirley Still Has That C&W Magic

"I've been a personality — never a star."

By Jim Willis

"I feel that every country song tells a story — I don't think there's any situation in life that I don't have a song for," says Shirley Hinebaugh, a country and western singer/composer from Mt. Lake Park.

A Garrett County native, Shirley was born and raised in the Red Oak area where she attended a one room school. Her earliest musical recollections are as a shy youngster who would climb up on a stump and sing to the trees.

Encouraged by her parents she began singing in the church choir. She later taught herself to play the guitar and the bass.

"I feel that every country song tells a story."

She still remembers her first "opening night" when she played and sang to a packed Moose Hall in Oakland at the age of fourteen. Shirley was then the talented lead singer for "Red Fries and the Rovin' Ramblers," a popular C&W band, since retired.

During her ten-year stint with the "Ramblers" she received radio exposure on WKYR, Keyser, and WELD, Fisher, WV. At the age of 16 she was a licensed "disc jockey," long before women were common to that profession.

Shirley attended the annual disc jockey convention in Nashville every year. She will long remember those stellar events, especially the time a young man named Johnny Cash escorted her to the ball.

Shirley's performances nowadays are mostly limited to filling in for other performers or doing benefit concerts such as emceeing the recent David Livengood Radiothon.

Her pet charity is the American Heart Association in which she has been active locally for 12 years and was general chairman for three years.

"It's always been something that I felt everybody should be more active in," says Shirley. She is the widow of Jim Hinebaugh, former proprietor of Hinebaugh's Restaurant, who died six years ago of a heart attack.

Shirley's 16 year-old son, Jeff would rather spike a gridiron than strum a guitar. A Southern High School football standout, he is a former Athlete of the Year, — the first junior so honored. Jeff is contemplating a career in law, although his mother says, "he has a beautiful voice."

Shirley is now employed by Cornish Manor Restaurant, but still finds time for music in her hectic schedule. Her other love is a collection of owls which fill a room in her home. "I have some so darn big I have to set them on the floor," she commented.

Although many of her former country/western mentors are retired, Shirley thinks of them often. "A lot of the people I worked for and with, I haven't heard from. There are still quite a few of us though that try and get together at least once a year for an old-fashioned ho'down."

Shirley will close her eyes and tell you about country music; or she'll chuckle and relate an amusing story about Junior Samples; and perhaps she even feels the old inclination to climb up on a stump and sing to the trees. But always with assurance, she says, "I wouldn't trade my experiences for anything."

TV Tattle

By PEPPER O'BRIEN

Oscar, Tony and Obie winner, Martin Balsam will become Carroll O'Connor's partner in beer and belly-laughs, in "Archie Bunker's Place," the new title of "All in the Family." Balsam will play Marty Clyne, partner in the neighborhood bar that keeps Archie away from home, so that viewers won't see that the rest of the cast has left the show.

Earl Holliman has hung-up his shoulder holster from "Police Woman," but he hasn't hung-up acting. He plays a blue-collar family man who must adjust to the confusion of a sudden marriage break-up in CBS's "An Unmarried Man," now filming in L.A. Also starring is Carrie Snodgress, who's trod this path before in "Diary of a Mad Housewife," for which she received an Oscar nomination.

Funnyman Mel Brooks, whose film hits include "Blazing Saddles," "Young Frankenstein," "Silent Movie" and "High Anxiety," will star in his first TV special for NBC. The show will feature segments from his films, including scenes from his next movie, "The History of the World, Part I." Stars from his past movies will also participate, as will Gene Shalit, whom Brooks refers to as "my favorite cinema critic-personality."

Brooks got his start in TV as a writer with "Your Show of Show." Later, he and Buck Henry developed "Get Smart." He describes the special as a "melange of current insanities and past pluperfects." But don't reach for the popcorn yet. "The First Mel Brooks Special" is set for the fall of 1980.

Sammy Davis Jr. will make his dramatic debut on daytime television next month. He'll play an ex-convict working for the police, in five episodes of "One Life to Live." Davis is taping his episodes the week of July 30 in New York, and they should air a couple of weeks afterward. Davis became involved with the show when he stopped by the studio to see his old friend Al Freeman, Jr., who plays Ed Hall in the soap. As a result, the two, who once starred in "Golden Boy" on Broadway, will be working together again.

Byron Allen received two bits of good news this month. He graduated from high school and was offered a co-hosting spot on NBC's "Real People." Allen made his TV debut on "The Tonight Show," and went on to the other talk shows. In the past four years he has played numerous Los Angeles clubs. At the age of 14, he was writing material for Freddie Prinze and Jimmie Walker.

But Allen's covering himself. In the fall not only will he be seen in "Real People," he'll begin college.

Ed MacMahon, who has tested his acting skills in such pictures as "Fun With Dick and Jane" and "The Incident," will round out the cast of "The Kid From left Field," starring Gary Coleman. McMahon will

Blue Barn Review

By Bart Naylor

"Sunday in New York" is the story of the amourous adventures of an upstate New York girl trying to make it in the Big Apple. The plot involves some would-be complicated domestic conflicts, but treats them lightly. The work, by Norman Krasna, falls into the school of situation comedy made popular by Neil Simon. When well produced, the play provides for an easy and enjoyable evening.

This is the 1st production in the 25th season of the Blue Barn Playhouse, located at Deep Creek Lake. The company, composed of professional as well as student actors, is enthusiastic. This energy is tightly guided under the precise direction of veteran Cather MacCallum, who returns to the Blue Barn for her 6th season. She has constructed the movements of her actors to complement richly the sparce, almost abstract set. She has molded the various roles, both comic and serious, to balance appropriately. The appearance of minor characters is timed well, to ensure a quick pace during the many scenes.

In this cast, MacCallum has used her more experienced actors for these supporting roles. The talented Milburn Mehlhop, and versatile Joan Statkus delightfully enact two Japanese restauranteers at one point. Though they have few lines to work with, they have developed lively characters that color an already fun scene.

In the major roles, MacCallum has employed four younger actors. Gerry McLaughlin who has appeared at the Blue Barn for many summers, plays Mike, the victim of a seduction attempt by the out-of-town girl. His facial expressions are acute, as is his voice. Larry Filiaci, a newcomer to the playhouse but an experienced actor, plays the brother. He exploits finer dramatic tools, such as his searing eyes, a technique conducive to a small theatre. Laurie Daniels, a University of New Mexico student, plays the upstater; she is pretty, refreshing, and believable. Robert Baca also a student, plays the sometimes fiance.

Because of the unique set, strong direction, and the enthusiastic acting, the production makes for an interesting evening's diversion.

The play runs through Saturday, July 14.

EARNS SUPERINTENDENT'S COMMENDATION — Sgt. John F. McGowan was recently awarded the Superintendent's Commendation from the Maryland State Police for his help in apprehending a man and his wife who had wired their residence with explosive devices last October 27. Presenting the commendation at the ceremonies at State Police Headquarters in Pikesville was the Honorable Harry Hughes, Governor of Maryland. Sgt. McGowan volunteered to pose as a minister and entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore unarmed. The first time he entered the trailer, he gathered information so that authorities would know just what they were faced with. He entered the residence a second time and helped arrest the two without harm to anyone involved.

Mr. And Mrs. Amos Lambert Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Lambert, Wiley Ford, were honored by their children on their golden wedding anniversary in the social room of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Cumberland, Saturday, June 30.

Amos and Mildred were married June 21, 1929 by the late Rev. C. R. Strawsburg in the Methodist Parsonage in Bedford Street, Cumberland.

Amos is a son of the late Rev. E. A. and Laura (Murphy) Lambert, Cherry Grove, WV. Mildred is a daughter of the late Paul and Jane (Waybright) Nelson, Cherry Grove.

The couple lived at Cherry Grove while Amos taught school for two years after graduating in the first class of Circleville High School, Circleville, WV. They moved to Wiley Ford in 1933, there they have lived ever since, spending the past five winters in Homestead, Fla.

Amos retired from the Celanese Corporation of America in June 1971 after 38 years of service. Mildred retired from the Mineral County Education System in 1974 with 28 years of service. She had been cafeteria supervisor in the Wiley Ford Elementary School.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert have been members of the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren for 45 years, serving as Deacon and Deaconness and in many other offices in the church.

They are parents of four children: two sons, Gerald Lambert, Wiley Ford; Ellsworth Lambert, Tridelphia, WV; Mrs. Ernest L. (Carolyn June) Ganoe, Jr., Route 2, Frostburg; and Miss Avonne Fay Lambert, Wiley Ford. They have six grandchildren, Craig, Debbie, Danny, Roxan, Sonja and Douglas.

A gold and white theme was carried out in all decorations. A gold and white floral centerpiece, a gift of the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Route 40, Frostburg, accompanied the four-tiered cake featuring a flowing fountain. The guests of honor and their family were seated at a table adorned with four yellow rose buds representing their four children.

The invocation and scripture reading, along with a poem, "These 50 Golden Years," were presented by Mildred's brother, the Rev. Harding P. Nelson, pastor of the United Methodist Charge, Aurora, who introduced Amos, Mildred and their family.

The Rev. Louis Bloom, pastor of the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren, gave prayer and the reading, "She Dreamed."

Registering guests was Mrs. Donna Lambert. Attending gifts and the wishing well were Debbie Lambert, Leigh Ann Nuce, Nancy Hafer and Elizabeth Rhoe.

Approximately 175 guests and relatives from Pennsylvania, Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, and London, England attended.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

MYSTERY GUEST — On Friday, June 29, seven members of the Bloomington-Swanton Charge of the United Methodist Church were preparing their campsite for a retreat near Accident when an "ostrich" walked out of the woods. The group fed the hungry bird and allowed him to drink water from a dishpan. It was later discovered that the bird belongs to Elmer Brenneman of Orendorf Road, near Bittinger. The bird is a Rhea, a South American cousin of the ostrich. Mr. Brenneman owns a pair of Rheas which he raised from chicks and has kept as pets for two years. Several weeks ago a bear destroyed the pen which housed the birds. The female was immediately recaptured but the male escaped. Rheas are docile birds, but like the ostrich, can inflict injury by kicking if they are cornered or frightened. Unable to fly, their legs are their only defense. Anyone spotting the bird should phone Mr. Brenneman at 245-4443, and he will advise. The Rhea is a protected species and to inflict harm on it would result in violations of personal property statutes as well as state and federal laws.

CRT TRAINING SESSION — An in-service training session for Garrett County Cardiac Rescue Technicians was held Tuesday, June 26, at Garrett Community College. Brad Noe, above right, of Deseret Pharmaceutical, instructed the twenty CRTs, from both Northern and Southern Garrett County Rescue Squads who attended, on the application of intravenous catheters. The new device, designed to reduce the infiltration of IVs during transport of patients to the hospital, became part of the IV therapy equipment used by the CRTs on July 5. Below, Paul Harman, left, practices the placement of the intravenous catheter on fellow CRT, Jeff Fratz.

July 15 Last Day To Certify Crops

Whether they participate in the set-aside program or not, farmers have until July 15 to report their 1979 planted acres to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Program participants are required to report crops and acreages planted and the uses to be made of these crops; crops and acreages of set-aside and those diverted for payment; and wheat crops for haying or grazing for payment. Non-participants need to certify their crops for future programs, Paul A. Crowl, Chairperson of the Maryland ASC committee, said.

ASCS will measure all farms to verify that acreage reports are accurate and have aerial photographs available for farmers to identify their fields.

To be sure of planted acreage, farmers can request measurement service. For a nominal fee, a farmer can request that his planted crops be measured prior to reporting acreages. "This is a valuable service not only to producers participating in the set-aside program, but to any farmer who desires an accurate acreage for any reason," Crowl said.

He pointed out that the entire farm must be certified correctly before a program participant can receive the benefits of price support and disaster, deficiency, diversion, or grazing and haying payments.

Crops may be certified at any time between 8:00 A.M. and 4:30 P.M.

Order your solid-fuel system today for this fall . . . Naylor's has these units in stock today.

Let the experts at Naylor's show you how the sensible alternative to gas or oil heat fits into your future.

Oneida Royal

The Oneida Royal Woodcraft Add-on unit will convert your present oil or gas hot air furnace to a dual system to bring you even, comfortable, warm air heat. The woodcraft Add-on unit is designed to be installed in conjunction with your present furnace so that you may gain the efficient and economical heat from wood.

The Oneida Royal Woodcraft unit can also be used as a separate system. That is, as an upflow forced air furnace or as a counterflow forced air furnace, whichever fits your individual requirements. Use it to burn wood when and if the other fuels are not available or simply to cut down on the high-priced, scarce fuel that you are now using.

CONVERSATIONS ON CARPETING

Brought to you by
Carolyn & Butch Helbig
who say "A floor without a rug is like a kiss without a hug."

IF YOU ASK US . . .
(1) We're newly marrieds who for budget reasons must furnish our apartment gradually, one item at a time. We've made some furniture purchases in the Contemporary style but the apartment still seems kind of blah. Is there some way we can work around the apartment's rather dull beige wall-to-wall carpeting?
How about placing a multi-colored area rug over that wall-to-wall carpeting? Carpet manufacturers are now creating area rugs in a wealth of colors and textures and offering a whole host of imaginative designs. Why not choose a rug in one of the exciting new Contemporary designs? Select colors that will enhance those new furnishings and liven up that dullish room.
(2) I'm thinking of carpeting my game room but wonder what effect it will have on the sound of my stereo.
Carpet will enhance the sound of your stereo. Instead of reflecting sound, carpeting absorbs and mutes it. It can reduce noise levels by 40%. There will be less echo and distortion of good sound reproduction than in a room with bare floors.
Do you have a question on carpeting? Stop in and talk it over with one of our trained carpet experts.
Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.
For a very personalized appointment with Butch or Carolyn call today at 334-9598 who will give you the best in price, quality & service.

Friendsville's "Alien" Is Smaller Than A Breadbox

"Roscoe" And The World Of Micro-Computers

by Jim Willis

If you were looking for a "Bisync/80-3780, a hardware/software communications package, that "provides IBM 3780 emulation for the 8080 or Z80, allowing communications between S-100 bus micro-computers and other devices using the Binary Synchronous Communications (BSC) protocol," which, "supports transmission and reception of data at speeds of up to 480 bps using a standard dial-up telephone line and modem," with the popular feature, "Ascii/Ebcdic translation, a standard Bisync 80-3780 feature, so data transmitted and received on the telphone line may be in Ascii or Ebcdic, while internal to the microcomputer remains in Ascii" — where would you go? Would you believe to a big white house with yellow trim on Murray Avenue in Friendsville?

The above advertising blurb was taken from a front-page news release in Mini Computer News and Computer World, leading trade journals of the computer industry. It describes the product of Micro-Integration, Inc. a computer firm that has operated in Friendsville for the past year. The company is an outgrowth of John Parsons and Associates, a New Jersey-based data processing and consulting firm.

John Parsons, president of Micro-Integration, yearned to live on a farm somewhere in the country. While living in New Jersey he and his wife, Winnie, found just what they were looking for in nearby Preston County, W. Va., and they purchased the place — a perfect haven for their new baby girl.

John, with the help of his wife, former executive secretary for BMW of North America, founded Micro-Integration in a rented Friendsville office space.

Essentially the company of four workers, including John and Winnie, designs and writes computer programs which can turn a small micro-computer into the functional equivalent of a much larger and more expensive IBM computer.

John, a 15-year veteran of the computer industry, is the innovative designer of these programs. They are then written by Bill Shomo who interviewed for the job while attending Garrett Community College. Another Friendsville resident, Ed Fisher, writes required programs for the larger computers.

The new venture deals primarily in "soft ware," the trade name for computer programs, as opposed to "hardware" — the computers themselves.

Micro-Integration counts some very big names among its clientelle such as Turnkey Systems, a division of Dunn and Bradstreet. In April the company mailed out press releases concerning its newest program, and it was inundated with replies and orders. John expects the small company to double its size in the next year.

Among Micro-Integration's sophisticated equipment is "Roscoe," a micro-computer built by John Parsons. Roscoe is connected by a telephone line-link to a much larger IBM comptuer located in New York City, and "he" can process up to 600 characters of information per second.

John commented, "During the past four years there has been a revolution in computer technology, in that, the computers we had 12 years ago would have been the size of this room and cost $300,000 — now you can buy the same thing (the size of Roscoe) for $1,000."

Which is where Micro-Integration comes into the picture — increasing the capabilities of micro-computers even further with innovative programs which emulate the functions of much larger systems. Very clever.

The list of clients already includes printers, universities, newspapers, insurance companies, et al. The company was recently contacted concerning its programs by the largest computer manufacturer.

Micro-Integration, Inc. hopes to sell 1,000 of the programs in the next six months. The price is roughly $795 per program, but would be cheap at twice the price. John explains, "It is less expensive for someone to buy our programs than to write them themselves. It would be 100 times more costly for an individual to write it himself."

The company works long hours maintaining its position in the highly competitive computer industry. By necessity the employees work "strange" hours because of the availability of their New York telephone-linked computer at night. During Daylight Savings Time the business is on a four day, ten hours a day schedule.

The nature of Micro-Integration's business, coupled with the unusual work hours could have been disconcerting to Friendsville neighbors, who are now rather accepting.

John says, "When we originally came down here we heard rumors about us building rockets aimed at Washington!"

Of course that ridiculous rumor dissipated rather quickly because there was no truth to it. However, perhaps if we all solicited donations, Micro-Integration could design something along those lines.

New Law Extends Property Tax Credit Deadline

New Legislation amending the Homeowner's Property Tax Credit Law temporarily extends the final date for filing an application for a tax credit from September 1, to June 1, of the taxable year for which the credit is sought.

This, in effect, means that for the current taxable year which commenced July 1, 1979, homeowners will have until June 1, 1980 — rather than September 1, 1979 — to file their applications.

This special provision, allowing for the extension, expires the end of June, 1980.

The Tax Credit Division of the State Department of Assessments and Taxation will accept applications from homeowners who may have been unaware of the extension of the tax credit program or whose applications were previously denied because of late filing.

Although the extension continues to June 1, 1980, property owners who feel they may be eligible by virtue of the fact that their incomes are limited, are still encouraged to file as early as possible.

Doing so saves them the risk of forgetting to pay the tax bill in time to avoid paying penalties and interest imposed by local governments, and the danger of even missing the extended filing date.

If more information is desired, homeowners may dial direct, toll free 1-800-492-3790, or contact their local assessments office.

Health Regulations For Livestock Exhibited In Maryland

General

An approved copy of this certificate must accompany animals to all shows and be presented on request. The certificate must be signed by a veterinarian prior to approval.

All animals are subject to inspection for general health upon presentation for admission. Animals showing symptoms of any contagious or infectious disease, including ringworm and pinkeye, will be excluded.

All animals must be identified by eartag, tattoo or registration number. The numbers on this certificate must correspond with those used on the test charts submitted by your veterinarian. The certificate must be signed by your veterinarian.

Upon approval by this office, a copy will be returned to you to accompany animals to all shows and to be presented to the Maryland Department of Agriculture Animal Health Inspector prior to unloading.

All animals are subject to inspection for general health upon presentation for admission. Animals showing symptoms of any contagious or infectious disease, including ringworm, warts and pink eye must be removed from the Show or Fair at time of inspection.

Approval of all entries for the first showing in Maryland will extend the show season, providing the status of the herd of origin, or of the identified animals, does not change.

OUT OF STATE ENTRIES MUST MEET INTERSTATE REGULATIONS AND BE ACCOMPANIED BY OFFICIAL INTERSTATE HEALTH CERTIFICATES. A COPY OF THE INTERSTATE HEALTH CERTIFICATE MUST BE FORWARDED TO THE ANIMAL HEALTH SECTION PRIOR TO THE ARRIVAL OF THE ANIMALS.

CATTLE — In addition to General requirements above

Tuberculosis

All cattle six (6) months of age and over, including steers, originating in Maryland must meet one of the following requirements:

1. Originate DIRECTLY from a herd which has undergone a complete negative tuberculin herd test within twelve (12) months,
   OR
2. Have a negative tuberculin test within thirty (30) days prior to date of entry.

Brucellosis

Cattle originating in Maryland from herds not under restriction or quarantine, are not required to be brucellosis tested for shows in Maryland.

Shipping Fever

Shipping fever prophylaxis is recommended, but not required, for one day shows. For shows exceeding one day, all cattle must be given at least one dose of vaccine or bacterin not less than fifteen (15) days prior to show. It is strongly recommended that shipping fever prophylaxis include PI3 and IBR. Since vaccines and bacterins vary in the amount and duration of immunity produced, the recommendation of your veterinarian should be followed relative to a second (booster) dose.

Leptospirosis

Leptospirosis immunization is recommended. Consult your veterinarian.

Welcome... from the Directors

The Officers and Directors of the Garrett County Fair take great pleasure in extending to you a most cordial invitation to exhibit, participate in, and attend the 1979 Fair.

We would like to have you and your friends be with us this year; whether or not you have been with us in the past. It is through your interest and loyal support that the Garrett County Fair has grown, and again we thank you for your continued patronage at the Fair, and your cooperation in making it a grand success.

The Fair is a never ending educational project for young people as well as adults. It is a learning process that goes on and on.

The Fair is an excellent method of realizing social benefits and good times during our week of activity.

We are very happy with the progress the Garrett County Fair has made during the past 22 years. It has progressed far beyond our expectations, when we were planning to organize a Fair. This has been due to the cooperation and work of the people in Garrett County as a whole.

We would like at this time to thank the advertisers whose advertising appears in the Premium List, and the Commercial exhibitors. Without their cooperation this fine supplement and the Fair would not be possible, and we acknowledge their assistance by taking the opportunity to urge you to patronize them whenever possible.

We express our sincere appreciation to the 4-H Clubs, FFA Clubs, Farm Groups, Retail Merchants, and the County Commissioners for their support.

Certainly last but not least we owe so very much to the Maryland State Fair Board for its continued financial support to our Fair.

When turned from glass, it is firm enough to hold its shape, but quivers, and is tender enough to cut or break easily, leaving clean, clear, sharp cleavage.

I. Jams, Butters, Marmalades, Conserve $2.50 $2.00 $1.50

Jams are usually made of one fruit, crushed or jammed together into a mass of an even, soft consistency thick enough to spread easily or be divided into portions. Juices are not separated from fruits and are of a jelly like consistency.

Conserves are a jam-like product made of two or more fruits. They often contain nuts or raisins. They are made of very small whole or pieces of fruit cooked or jammed into a mixture of an even, soft consistency, the liquid jelly-like in character. Name and flavor of the conserve is that of the dominant fruit.

Fruit butters are smooth, even, fine grained mixtures of medium soft consistency, without seeds or small pieces of fruit and with no evidence of juice as a separate liquid. Butters are less sweet than jams, preserves, marmalades, or conserve—usually about ½ to ⅔ lb. sugar to 1 lb. of fruit.

1. Apple Butter
2. Pear Butter
3. Peach Jam
4. Grape Conserve and/or Marmalade
5. Blackberry Conserve
6. Strawberry Jam
7. Raspberry Jam

J. Preserves $2.50 $2.00 $1.50

Preserves are made usually of one fruit, but more than one may be used. The fruit, whole or in large pieces, is cooked in a syrup until clear and transparent, tender, firm, crisp, and well plumped. The shape of fruit is retained. Juice is of a thick syrupy consistency completely surrounding the fruit. In general, ¾ lb. sugar to 1 lb. of fruit is used.

1. Apple
2. Strawberry
3. Cherry
4. Apple-Peach
5. Peach
6. Tomato

Arson Cause Of Mt. Lake House Fire Early Friday

Arson has been given as the cause of a house fire which totally destroyed a house early Friday morning at the corner of K Street and Oakland Avenue in Mt. Lake Park.

Robert H. Shimer, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett Counties, said Tuesday night the fire in the vacant house, owned by Lawrence Groer, Grantsville, was reported at 3:21 a.m. to Central Alarm.

Oakland volunteer firemen were dispatched, and found the house totally involved in flames when they arrived. Oakland brought 30 fire fighters and three pieces of equipment to the scene.

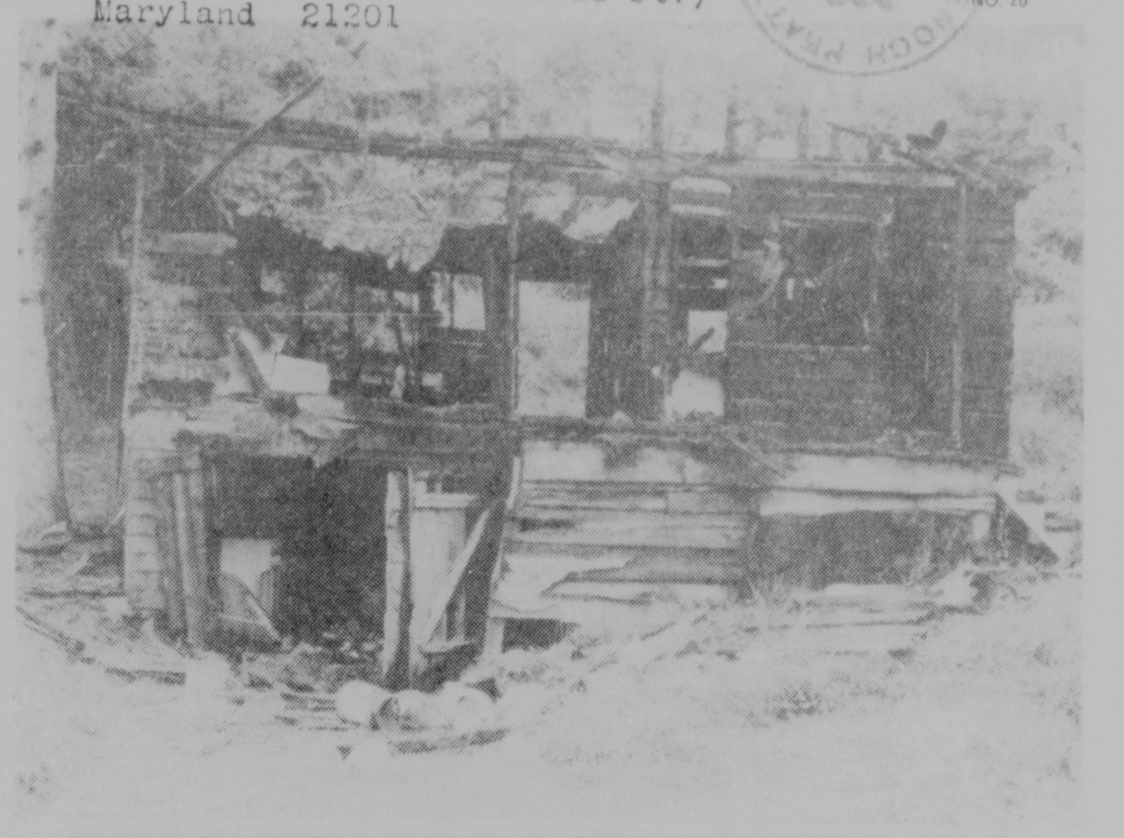
A neighbor, Albert DeWitt, who lives across the street, reported the blaze, and said he was awakened by a crackling noise, and saw fire coming from the windows of the Groer house.

The house reportedly had been empty for about six months and was in need of major repair. Mr. Groer, who had no insurance on the structure, told Mr. Shimer he had planned to tear down the building in the near future.

Although there was electric service to the house, this has been ruled out as a cause of the fire.

Initial investigation indicated the fire started in the living room of the four-room house. Area residents reported that on several occasions they had observed trespassers in the house, and that sometimes these unauthorized persons had spent the night in the house. Mr. Shimer noted that the fire had been deliberately set, and may have been a diversionary tactic for a robbery which occurred at Richfood at approximately the same time.

Firemen remained on the scene two hours. No injuries were reported. Southern Rescue Squad and Potomac Edison Company workers were also on the scene.



ARSON has been listed as the cause of a blaze which destroyed this house in Mt. Lake Park about 3 a.m. Friday, according to investigator for the state fire marshal's office Robert Shimer. The house had been unoccupied for several months. See additional details in story below.

Thieves "Help Themselves" At Three Businesses

Thieves hit two local businesses last Thursday night or early Friday in preparation for removing a large safe and its contents from Richfood Store at Mt. Lake Park.

According to the Maryland State Police, someone apparently hot wired and removed a pickup truck with a wooden bed from the Bell Brothers Used Car Lot south of Oakland last Thursday.

Police then theorize that the subjects drove the vehicle to the Richfood loading area. They entered the building by breaking a panel in a garage-type door in the loading dock area.

They also broke into Eastern Building Supply, cutting locks from a door, and removed a forklift, which they then used to lever the safe onto the pickup.

The safe was recovered Sunday morning in an abandoned strip mine in the vicinity of Eagle Rock. The unit had been beaten open, and all cash removed. According to police, the safe had contained a moderate amount of money when it disappeared.

The pickup apparently used by the intruders had been found abandoned along Route 560 on Saturday.

Police investigations are continuing under the direction of Tfc. Robert Friend, criminal investigator, who theorizes the thefts occurred about 3 a.m. Friday, about the time of a fire in Mt. Lake Park.

Two Injured In Fight Sunday At Point View Inn

Two persons required emergency hospital treatment at Garrett County Memorial early Sunday morning following a fight which broke out at Point View Inn and Lounge, Deep Creek Lake.

Deputies with the Garrett County Sheriff's department, who investigated along with two Maryland State Police troopers, said that one man was stabbed in the face and another struck by a truck in the fracas which began inside the lounge about 2 a.m. When deputies arrived, approximately 75-100 persons had come from the lounge into the parking lot.

The stabbing victim, Richard Meyers, 25, of Route 1, Friendsville, had fled to a neighboring residence and asked them to call for help. Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded and transported him to the hospital, where he required 14 stitches to close a wound in the left side of his face.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad crew also responded to the scene and transported Dale Coddington, Friendsville, who was treated for injuries sustained when he was bumped by a truck in the melee.

Four men from Pennsylvania were questioned about the stabbing but all denied any knowledge of the incident. They were later released. No charges have been filed as yet in the incident.

Board of Education Approves Budget, Elects Officers For Coming Year

The Garrett County Board of Education approved its 1979-80 school budget and conducted election of officers during the Thursday, July 16 meeting.

Dr. William H. Buser, superintendent of schools, outlined the school budget reflecting the $438,000 cut of the proposed budget by the Garrett County Commissioners. The areas cutback were administration, $13,740; instructional salaries, $210,783; instructional materials, $122,055, and plant maintenance, $47,825.

The board anticipated a $20,000 holdover from the last school year, plus additional money from state aid. The board also was able to supplement its anticipated energy expenditures by adding $21,000. The total education budget for the county in 1979-80 is $4,454,135, which also included money for Garrett Community College.

Buser stated that no teacher would be laid off but in order to slice the $210,783 in salaries, nine teachers, leaving the school system through normal attrition, will not be replaced. Neither will several clerical positions and teachers aides positions be replaced, he said.

Also discussed was the amount of funds still owed by county commissioners to the Board of Education. Approximately $376,800 has not yet been paid because, according to Buser, of a tax flow problem in June. The payment is expected to be made by August.

In other action, Herbert G. Harman was re-elected as president of the Board of

Broad Ford Park Dedication Re-scheduled For July 29th

Dedication Ceremonies for Broad Ford Recreational Area have been rescheduled for Sunday, July 29 at 2 p.m., according to G. David Green, president of R&L, Inc. Originally scheduled for the Fourth of July, the dedication was delayed due to inclement weather.

Included in the dedication will be a new pavilion, erected with the cooperation of C&P Telephone Company, playground equipment purchased through the Brian Beachy Trust Fund; and a flagpole donated by Woodmen of the World.

Guest speakers will include Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden; Oakland Town Council president, James R. Stanton; Town Council members, and G. David Green.

Members of the newly formed Broad Ford Advisory Committee met Monday, July 16 at Town Hall. Chaired by Town Councilman, Von Johnson, committee appointments included, Advertising — G. David Green, Jim Willis; Arts and Science Educational Programs — Jim Hart, Jim Willis; Finance — Jim Hart, Hoover Pelton; Park Management — Hoover Pelton, Matt Stieringer; Recreation, Sports — Dennis Colaw, Dave Green; Special Programs — Matt Stieringer, Dennis Colaw.

The group discussed expansion of the park's programs and facilities, funding, and community needs assessment.

The next meeting of the Advisory Committee will be Tuesday, August 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the Oakland Town Hall.

Gunman Robs Mill Run Store Friday Night

Police are continuing their search for a man armed with a pistol who held up the Mill Run Store Friday night and escaped with a small amount of cash.

Dale Schroyer, owner of the store, reported to police that man in his 20's entered the store about 8:40 p.m. and demanded cash. A female employee complied with his request, and the gunman fled.

The robber is described as about 5 feet, six inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds, with medium-length black greasy hair and a one-inch beard. He was wearing an Army fatigue jacket.

The get-away vehicle was tentatively described as a pickup truck with unpainted plywood racks.

The description of the Mill Run gunman did not match those of gunmen who recently held up Halsey's Store, near Deep Creek; Buckel's Store, Bittinger, or the Grantsville Liquor Store, according to police.

Arson Blamed For Drilling Rig Fire

The state fire marshal's office and Maryland State Police are cooperating to solve an arson case which occurred Monday night near Grantsville.

According to Robert Shimer, investigator for Garrett and Allegany Counties for the state fire marshal's office, a suspicious blaze destroyed a driller owned by Delta Mining Company and located on the Harry Billmyer property near Grantsville sometime during the night. The incident was not noticed or reported until Tuesday morning when the operator, Blaine Hetrick, reported for work and discovered the still-smouldering rig.

The driving portion of the drilling rig, which is used to obtain test cores of coal deposits, was unharmed. The drilling portion was heavily damaged, however, with loss estimated at $50,000 to $75,000. Delta officials indicated that the rig was insured, according to Mr. Shimer.

Commissioners, Treasurer File Answers To Del. Bolden's Suit

The three county commissioners and county treasurer Arzella Parsons have filed answers through their attorneys in Circuit Court to a temporary restraining order filed June 29 by Del. DeCorsey Bolden, which would prohibit the commissioners from imposing an increased tax rate.

A hearing has been scheduled July 23 at 9:30 a.m. before Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer, in the courtroom in Oakland.

Bolden's petition alleges that the commissioners failed to observe requirements of Article 81, section 232 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, particularly that stating that if a resolution or ordinance is not approved on the date of the public hearing, the day, time and place at which the resolution or ordinance will be scheduled for consideration and approval by the tax authority shall be announced at the public hearing.

His request, filed by attorney Thomas B. Dabney, also said that the public hearing had not been held 14 days prior to which the tax rate should be levied.

His suit, if successful, would prevent the commissioners from hiking the county's tax rate from last year's $2.45 per $100 of assessed valuation to $2.66 per $100.

Although Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Jr. was named as a defendant in the suit, he filed a separate answer through his private counsel, Robert Watson, on July 12.

In his answer, Gregg stated he agreed that the commissioners had not met requirements of Article 81. He went on to say that he had objected to the June 5 public hearing on the tax rate, and demanded that it be held at a time more convenient to the general public.

He said the June 5 hearing was held only six days after the advertisement about the hearing was published on May 30, and that the advertisement failed to "adequately notify the public of the commissioners' intention to increase the tax rate beyond the constant yield rate, indicating rather that the rate had already been set."

He noted the advertisement also failed to set forth the statutorily required purpose of hearing comments and explaining the reasons for the higher tax rate."

His statement also included that he has remained steadfast in his opposition to the tax hike, and that he believes "the increase to be unjustified, its need undemonstrated, and its effect disastrous to Garrett County."

He pointed out that he voted against the increase on July 3, and attempted to submit a resolution and motion before the Board for action, rolling back the tax rate to the constant yield rate of $2.37, but introduction was impossible in that the other members of the Board could not be brought together.

On July 10, he continued, he did introduce a motion to reduce the rate to the constant yield of $2.37 and also introduced an alternate motion to establish the constant yield rate of $2.37 as a back-up rate in case Del. Bolden's litigation

Youth Struck By County Road's Truck Tuesday

Mark Helbig, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. (Douge) Helbig, of Underwood Road, sustained serious injuries yesterday after being struck by a County Roads Department truck near his home.

The youth was apparently riding his bicycle and pulled from a roadway near his home out onto the Underwood Road, directly in front of the truck. Harry King, driver of the truck, did not see the boy in time to stop the vehicle. There were no charges against the driver.

Young Helbig sustained both upper and lower leg fractures and head injuries. He was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he is listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

Police Working On Several Larcenies

Two small boats disappeared from their owners' properties during the night of July 14, reports the Garrett County Sheriff's department.

Thomas Cuddeback, Pittsburgh, reported that someone removed a dinghy from his property along Deep Creek Lake. His boat was valued at $300.

Mary Catherine Vonada, whose vacation home is nearby, also reported the loss of a boat, a fiberglass and aluminum craft valued at $250.

In other cases under investigation, deputies are checking into the disappearance of a 1977 Ford four-wheel drive pickup. According to the report filed by owner Richard Nieman, Route 4, Deer Park, he left his vehicle along Route 135 east of the 135 Diner when the vehicle became disabled July 11. He locked up the truck and walked to his home, approximately one mile away. When he returned to the site the following day about 9 a.m., the truck was gone. The green truck, with a white cab and white stripes, was valued at $5,200.

Leaders of the Mt. Lake Park Holiness Camp Meeting Association, Inc. charged that someone broke a window in the building and removed six speakers. Total loss value was estimated at $381. Police are currently questioning several suspects who might be involved.

Ginseng plants valued at $200 were dug from the property of Kenneth Harding, one mile from Friendsville on Route 42, during the night of July 9.

Unknown persons entered a storage garage behind a cabin on Deep Creek Drive belonging to Richard Clever sometime between June 6 and July 1. Two rolls of carpeting and a refrigerator were removed, valued at $275.

Stained glass windows in the Friendsville Methodist Church were broken during the night of July 14. No loss value was reported.

Friendsville Amoco reported that during the night of June 22, someone had tossed a beer bottle through a window of that business, causing an estimated $200 damage.

School Properties Damaged

Damages estimated at $300 was noted at Northern Middle School during the night of July 15, when a motorist spun his wheels on the front and back lawns.

At Kitzmiller school, glass was broken in a door, and sliding boards were dented between the seventh and ninth of July. Total damage was estimated at $100.

Paul Cosner, Route 2, McHenry, reported that someone had shot and killed a Holstein cow during the night of July 11. He found the animal lying in the field the following afternoon, dead of a wound from a .22 calibre rifle.

Two Awaiting Final Sentence

Two Oakland residents await the outcome of a pre-sentence investigation which will determine their final sentence handed down from District Court Judge Lewis R. Jones.

Betty L. Corby and Craig A. Corby each pleaded guilty to the charge of controlled dangerous substance — unlawful possession in District Court Tuesday, July 12. Each also had been charged with controlled dangerous substance, unlawful manufacturing but no prosecution was made because of an insufficient quantity of evidence to warrant proceeding on the charge.

Lonnie R. Corby, Oakland, also stood trial Tuesday for charges of controlled dangerous substance, unlawful manufacturing and controlled dangerous substance, unlawful possession but the disposition was no prosecution due to insufficient evidence.

Masonry block has far better M & U factors than poured concrete. That's a fact. So, used naturally, without any insulation, masonry block will always be warmer. Yet, the builder can still add additional insulation in the cores of a masonry block for an exceptionally energy-efficient wall. Masonry block foundation walls can even allow the builder to insulate his floors more quickly since he need not wait to strip the concrete forms.

We also have attractive pre-cast materials, patio stones, steps, splash blocks, parking curbs, concrete pipe, flower boxes, etc. So stop in and see us for all your masonry needs.

The Energy Crunch, Prices And Crime . . . All Are Increasing

Figures released last week on the nationwide crime rate were, as one might suspect, unpleasant. The overall crime index for 1979 is up by 11%. Violent crimes showed an increase of 17%.

Evidence of this increased criminal activity can be seen quite vividly here on the mountaintop. On the front page of today's paper we see examples of crime, not shoplifting or simple assault, but major crimes, such as armed robbery, grand larceny, burglary, assault with knives and arson, all right here in "peaceful" Garrett County. It's upsetting.

Experts, of course, are attempting to analyze this significant jump in the crime rate and they will probably cite several reasons for it. Undoubtedly one of their conclusions will involve the energy crisis and the faltering economy and how persons are dealing with the pressures associated with these situations.

For example, waiting in a two-hour line for gasoline trys even the most patient person. Even if there is enough gasoline, will we be able to afford it? And what about food and utility bills? Where will we get the money to pay them?

One can sense the desperation here. Persons who were having difficulty making ends meet even before the present recession are, in some cases, beginning to buckle under the pressure. They are getting panicky, and when a person panics, he begins to do things without thinking, often foolish and/or illegal things.

The speech made by President Carter Sunday evening was most likely his finest during his presidency. It was forceful, it was dynamic and it was sincere. While he didn't mention the problem of crime specifically, he stated that there is a need for unity in combating inflation and, particularly, the energy crisis. He also asked for a restoration of confidence and pride in our country, in ourselves and in our government, a government which is presently, on the popularity scale, in the pits.

He also proposed various methods he would employ to ease the energy problem. If Congress would accept his proposals and if the public would carry out his suggestions for energy conservation, perhaps with time, we could get this country back on its feet and moving in the right direction. Poor attitude, lack of faith and a refusal to commit oneself does nothing but add fuel to the fire of inflation, and thus to a whole list of other problems, including increased crime.

Someone asked me, "Why do you snipe at the Sanitary Commission?"

"Who's sniping?" I replied. "I blast them with cannon."

I want their actions brought before the whole county. The best way is in The Republican.

Load up, fire! Oak Park residents have received demands they pay $150 tap fees. They're already tapped to water mains. The real purpose is to charge for installing water meters, an ugly violation of state law requiring sanitary commissions install meters free.

Load again, fire! Mr. Nace wanted $70,000 spent to test Mt. Lake Park sewers. Our Mayor and Town Council had Franklin Assoc. do a good job for $19,000. Franklin Assoc. bid $73,700 to test interceptors and Oakland, Loch Lynn sewers. Mr. Nace, without Franklin Assoc. permission, added $44,000 to consideration of their bid. The job went to the highest bidder at $167,500.

Fire point blank: Judge Thayer was given a pledge in court the Sanitray Commission would take over a water main our town had to install to supply a family. Now they want to renege on the promise.

Are they still out there hiding behind that wall of silence? I have plenty more ammunition, right from the horse's mouth.

The Sanitary Commission is beyond reform. Like Arabs, let them fold their tents and silently steal away, to make way for a Department of Public Works, tightly controlled by the County Commissioners.

Joseph B. Bowen,
Mt. Lake Park

Dear Mr. Bowen,

In checking out your allegations with the Commission, we were informed that you are terribly mis-informed.

Why Mr. Bowen, after several letters to the editor complaining about the Sanitary Commission, were you not at the meeting of the Commission Monday evening? Does not the accused have the right to face the accuser?

Editor

Dear Sir:

As a concerned citizen of Garrett County, I want to publicly express my genuine appreciation to Delegate DeCorsey Bolden and Commissioner Ernest Gregg for their gallant actions to prevent the outrageous, and perhaps illegal, $.21 property tax rate increase. These elected officials are to be commended for their sincere efforts to implement government policies which they openly advocated during last year's campaign. Let it be known by their example that not all politicians are political windbags who will say anything to be popular and then forget their constituency upon attaining office.

The legal suit filed by Delegate Bolden was a last resort maneuveur to block the big-spending liberals in the existing machinery of government from burdening Garrett County taxpayers with further confiscation of our personal income due to the continual uncontrolled growth of bureaucracy in county government.

To those critics of the pro-taxpayer law suit who defend the big spenders in the county administration, I must ask what has made such legal actions possible: the administrative blundering of our county administrator and attorney who simply did not do their homework in reference to establishing a tax rate that exceeds the constant yield rate, as it is clearly outlined in Article 81, Section 232C of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

Perhaps it is time for the County Commissioners to reconsider the quality of their administrative staff as well as their fiscal policies.

Sincerely,
Elwood "Larry" Groves
Chairman, Citizens for Better Government

Dear Editor:

A large group of landowners had a meeting with the Sanitary Commission last night to oppose the methods being used to maintain the Gorman Water System when it is installed. There is to be an assessment of the road frontage in front of each property, and each person will have to pay .13 per foot for the water line to pass his property, whether he wants to hook up on the water line or not.

In the first place a couple of college students were instructed to inform the people of the facts as they knew them, which was never done as instructed. Some of the people were never contacted at all. If they were given a no answer, they contacted you twice to see if they could change your mind. the usual question was "If a water line were built past your house would you be interested in hooking on?"

The main opinion of entire group: We have no objection to the water line, as long as only the people who use it pay for it.

As a utility it should be paid for in the same way as telephone and electricity. The people using it pay for it. America is supposed to have a system of free enterprise as stated in the Constitution.

Oakland Development Meeting Slated

The Oakland Mayor and Town Council have set a meeting Thursday, July 19 at 7:00 p.m., for Oakland area businesses to discuss potential changes and improvements to the business district.

Several guest speakers will be at the meeting which will be held at St. Matthews Episcopal Church Community Room.

According to James R. "Smokey" Stanton, president of the Oakland Town Council, the main purpose of the meeting is to hear a presentation by Mark Friedman of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development and to listen to the ideas and concerns of Oakland area businessmen, merchants and professionals.

Also, Deborah Lawton of the County Housing Office and various state representatives will present available programs that can finance improvements to apartments. The newly appointed Oakland Downtown Development Commission will be introduced.

Mark Friedman is director of a DECD project that can provide technical assistance and personnel needed to assist improvement of a central business area. This technical assistance includes a market survey to determine what businesses should have available in the local and regional market, recommendations to the Mayor and Town Council concerning traffic patterns and parking solutions, recommendations about potential beautification efforts, and direct architectural services to individual property owners.

The Mayor and Town Council who have expressed an interest in the project, are competing against several other Western Maryland towns and cities for the assistance.

Deborah Lawton and Carol Burchette, senior financial analyst for the Maryland Housing Rehabilitation Program, will outline their program. The MHRP lends assistance to individual property owners whose business buildings also have apartments. The assistance, both technical and financial, can permit improved housing and renovated building fronts.

The Oakland Downtown Development Commission was appointed last month by the Mayor and Town Council to study any problems of the business district and to make recommendations that can then be pursued by both the town and individual businesses. Commission members will be present to hear ideas and comments during the meeting.

In announcing the meeting, Stanton said, "the meeting is a cooperative effort between the Mayor and Town Council, the Merchants' and Businessmen's Association and the Garrett County Promotion Council." He asked that all interested persons attend to ensure that their ideas and comments would be considered.

Mt. Lake Businessmen Seek More Police Protection For Their Town

Mt. Lake Park's mayor Russell Alexander and three businessmen from that town approached the county commissioners at their meeting Tuesday to seek increased police protection for their town.

They made their request after a series of recent burglaries of local businesses.

They met with Commissioners Truman Paugh, Ernie Gregg, Jr. and H. Lester Hunter to discuss additional patrols in the town, and the commissioners promised to discuss the matter of augmenting night patrols with the sheriff's department, and to seek increased cooperation from the Maryland State Police.

Businessmen included Ralph Livengood, manager of Richfood; Harry Rounds, from Manor Mart; and Dick Williams, manager of American Burger Center.

Ms. Deborah Lawton, county housing director, reviewed her office's progress last year in assisting clients in receiving housing mortgages or rehabilitation loans.

In her summary, she said that her office, in the past fiscal year, provided $170,000 from Maryland Home Financing for mortgages or housing rehabilitation, obtained for private individuals.

In addition, her office is presently processing approximately $195,000 worth of mortgage applications which are awaiting approval through the Maryland Home Financing program. Approximately $139,000 worth of home rehabilitation loans are awaiting approval.

The local housing office assisted in obtaining funds through the Mental Retardation Association for development of a group home for the mentally retarded in Garrett County, and assisted the Accident Community Housing Corporation with the FHA-funded elderly housing project, in the amount of $65,000.

Representatives from the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council met with the commissioners to discuss local efforts which could be made to insure an adequate weekend supply of gasoline for tourists and visitors to the county.

From the Promotion Council was Ms. Cindy Hanks, executive director; and council members Ralph Burnett, Page Shanklin, and Don Carstens. They were joined by George Comp, who is coordinator of energy matters for the county.

Commissioner chairman Paugh brought out results of a meeting with the state energy office he attended, where measures were outlined for all counties to request additional gasoline allocations for unusual circumstances.

The Commissioners said they have begun paperwork requesting additional allocations, pointing out to the state office that a gasoline shortage of two or three months duration during the summer months could have a disastrous effect on the tourism portion of the county economy.

The commissioners then promised to keep the Promotion Council members advised of any response received from the state.

Board Of Education

Education and Clarence L. Stem as vice-president, with Board member Troy R. Gnegy and Mary I Earley in attendance.

The Board also reappointed the firm of Burnett, Eiswert, and Crawford as its legal counsel for the next school year and selected the firm of McLaughlin, Reineke and Associates to audit the school board accounts for the school year 1979-80.

Following this reorganization, Mrs. Phyllis Trickett, Past-President of the Garrett County Vocational Advisory Council, and Ernest Metz, Jr., Secretary of the Council, presented the annual report of the Council to the Board of Education.

Albert R. Ringer, Assistant Superintendent in Curriculum and Instruction, gave a comprehensive report of the special education program in the Garrett County Schools, making the Board aware of the steps that are being taken by the staff to insure that the school system is in compliance with the requirements of the state and federal laws in this area.

The Board approved a Compensatory Education project, developed by Francis E. Harris, Coordinator of Title I, to be submitted to the State Department of Education.

The Board awarded bids for fuel oil, gasoline, and vehicle insurance for the coming school year. W. H. Fratz, Inc., Accident, received the bid for Fuel Oil; Peters Fuel, Gasoline; and Yoder Hershberger - Erie Insurance, the vehicle insurance.

Dr. William Buser, Superintendent of Schools, reported that the Grantsville project and the Dennett Road addition-renovation project were presently moving as planned.

In other action, the Board discussed the staff transportation policy that is currently in effect and asked the superintendent to bring to them a proposal which may alleviate some of the concerns that were discussed.

The Board also reconsidered action taken last month on the band uniforms for the Southern High School Band after the band director, Richard Clever, explained more clearly the request. The Board voted, pending approval of legal documents, to allow the S.H.S. Band Boosters to make the final $14,000 payment on the uniforms by submitting a check to the Board who would then sign a purchase order for them.

Mt. Lake Mayor Threatens Legal Action

After a one and one-half hour public hearing Monday night, the Sanitary Commission proceeded into its regular business meeting in which they were threatened with legal action from the town of Mt. Lake Park.

Russell Alexander, Mayor of Mt. Lake Park, contended that a $25,000 invoice for installation of water line on John Drive in Mountain Lake Park should be paid by the Sanitary Commission as a result of a court case in 1978. The cost had been incurred when the town of Mt. Lake Park entered an agreement with Oakland to install the line. The commission contends that it had no part in the agreement and was not responsible.

Alexander also registered his complaint of the raise in the flat rate charged for use of water by Mt. Lake Park-Loch Lynn residents, saying it discriminated against fixed income families. Dick Nace, administrator for the Garrett County Sanitary District, Inc., later explained that the flat rate was charged to residences without water meters and that the rate was set at an amount which would prevent waste of water. He mentioned that the District was attempting to install meters in all homes which would allow them to charge customers according to actual use.

Mt. Lake Park, stated Alexander, intends to also collect money from the Sanitary District, Inc., to pay for the town's portion of the Oak Park Water Bill which has not been paid since January. He also said the town would take legal action in these matters if not soon reconciled.

After Alexander's testimony, a delegation of citizens from Oak Park protested a recent bill sent to all the Oak Park residents from the Sanitary District, Inc. charging for connection fees. Their complaint was they did not think they should be charged such a fee when they were already connected to a water line and so would not receive any benefits by paying the fee. Nace explained that due to the court case in 1978, the Sanitary District, Inc. was to provide services to Oak Park, which previously was served by the town of Oakland. The District planned to include Oak Park in future reconstruction of water lines and in immediate installation of water meters. He agreed to further investigate the matter to reach a satisfactory conclusion for all.

In other business, Jack Turney, attorney for the Sanitary District, Inc., announced the merger with the Mt. Lake Park Water Corporation would be completed within a month.

—The Commission members approved the fund request for payment of costs on the reconstruction of the Mt. Lake Park-Loch Lynn water lines.

—Dick Nace reported on the progress of Step I in the Upper Youghiogheny Basin Project.

—The Commission reviewed a request to tap a sewer line onto the existent line in Mt. Lake Park.

—Dick Nace announced a meeting to be held in Cumberland concerning cooperation with the towns of Gormania and Bayard, in West Virginia, with Gorman in installing a sewage treatment facility for that area.

should succeed. Both failed for want of a second.

In his concluding paragraphs, Commissioner Gregg said he believes the tax bills as mailed by Arzella Parsons are of no effect since required procedures were not followed. One of the required procedures, he points out, is that constant yield tax rate and the amount, if any, by which the actual tax rate exceeds the constant yield tax rate, and the amount of revenue generated by the additional tax rate above the constant yield rate, must be printed on the tax bills as they are mailed out.

Arzella Parsons was the next to file an answer to the suit, through her attorney, Stephen R. Pagenhardt, on July 16. She said that she had no personal knowledge of allegations in the suit filed by Bolden except that she was notified by the Board of County Commissioners that the tax rate for the year beginning July 1 would be $2.66 for each $100 of assessable property. Judge Thayer, earlier this month, ruled that she could mail the 18,000 tax bills prepared at the increased tax rate. Should the rate be lowered through the pending litigation, taxpayers would receive credits or refunds, as decreed by the court.

Commissioners Truman E. Paugh and H. Lester Hunter waited until the July 17 deadline to file their answers through county attorney Jack R. Turney.

They contend in their answer that there was sufficient notice indicating June 19 was the date the tax rate was to be approved, as this date was the next regular public meeting of the county commissioners after the public hearing which was commenced June 5, pursuant to appropriate advertising as directed by Article 81, and continued on June 11.

They further contend that there was more than an a 14-day interval between June 5 and June 11 hearings and the official date of the tax levey July 1, and said that any defects which may have occurred were defects in form and not substance, "nor was the action taken artibrarily or illegally."

The commissioners said that they have met the intent and purpose of the legislative directives contained in Article 81, and denied all other allegations of the suit.

Gorman Project Public Hearing Draws Crowd

In a public hearing Monday night, July 17, the Sanitary Commission heard testimony that for the first time in three years was a major protest to the Gorman Water Project. Approximately forty residents of the Gorman sanitary district attended the hearing, with the majority representing one community along U.S. Rt. 50 which would be serviced by the project.

At the outset of the meeting, Charles Morris, chairman, announced that a petition filed by residents of the Gorman sanitary district had not met legal requirements but the commission members wanted to give the grieved citizens a chance to present their arguments. The law required that a petition filed within ten days after the final public meeting of a project must have twenty-five signatures of residents or landowners within the district. Although thirty had signed the petition, fewer than twenty-five met the requirements.

The major points of contention presented was that since the group was a community of people who have adequate supplies of water and do not need the water service, they should not have to pay for the pipe installed to provide water to persons beyond them who do need water.

Harold G. Upole, the spokesman of the group, asked a series of questions concerning the fees to be imposed on residents in Gorman and along Rt. 50 as well as the methods used to estimate the number of users of the system.

The majority of speakers revealed that though they were not opposed to the project, they were opposed to paying for it when they were not going to benefit from it. Fred Stoner, who identified himself as one who would use the system but would also be paying the second largest amount to use it, asked if there were not a more equitable way to charge the residents to obtain the funds necessary to repay the $62,500 bond debt.

The bond debt, incurred by a loan from Farmers' Home Administration, is dictated by state law to be repaid in either of two ways, by an ad valorem tax or by front foot assessment. The front foot assessment, based on the number of feet a property owner owns along a road where the water lines are run, had been determined the most equitable for the Gorman area.

Other questions raised dealt with payment of the fee when land changed ownwership and further action the grieved citizens could take beyond this public hearing.

The Commission stated they would consider the testimony, explore other avenues to reach a more equitable charging system and would notify citizens of further action.

Bids for construction of the project are being accepted and will be opened next week, Tom Jones, director of the Development Corporation announced. He explained that this did not necessarily cut off further citizen action but if further action was taken, the project would be delayed.

Fire Destroys VW Bus At Lakeview Gas Pumps Sunday

Speedy action by county volunteer firemen averted a serious fire Sunday afternoon, when a Volkswagen bus caught fire at the gas pumps at Lakeview Exxon, near Deep Creek Lake.

A spokesman for the Deep Creek fire department said the vehicle was destroyed. When firemen arrived, the vehicle, parked in front of the gas pumps, was fully involved in flames.

The bus had a magnesium engine block and required a special potassium extinguisher. The fire reportedly started after the vehicle backfired, blowing a hole in the gas tank which had just been filled. As the vehicle caught fire, gasoline was pouring from the tank. Firemen blocked off both lanes of Route 219 until the fire was out.

Firemen from Deep Creek, Accident and Oakland were sent to the scene at 3:08 p.m. and remained on the scene approximately two hours.

Judge Convicts One For Traffic Violation

In other cases, David W. Taylor, Jr., Friendsville, was placed on probation before judgement on the charge of driving an unregistered vehicle. He was also fined $5.

Randy P. Spear, Friendsville, made the plea of guilty to the charge of driving an unregistered vehicle but was placed on probation before judgment and fined $5.

Pollution To Be Kept At Minimum Despite Coal Use

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The conversion of power plants from oil to coal may make Maryland's air dirtier, but a state official said Tuesday improved emission controls should keep a lid on any pollution.

George P. Ferreri, administrator of Maryland's air quality programs, said a plant's location determines how much leeway a company has in exceeding the current emission standards.

He said the conversion of certain Baltimore Gas & Electric Co. plants would result in a slight increase in air pollutants, but the proper control devices should keep excess emissions at a minimum.

BG&E spokesman Charles J. Franklin said the utility fuels 13 of its 14 non-nuclear plants with oil. The company estimated last year it would have to spend $80 million to convert six of those plants to coal.

He said the company also runs the risk of violating federal emission control standards in some areas if it seeks to conform to President Carter's proposed plan to reduce America's dependence on foreign oil.

Ferreri said BG&E's plant at Seneca Creek could switch to coal without damaging the air to any great extent.

He said the federal government will have to give companies some kind of leeway to meet federal air quality standards if it wants utilities to reduce by half their use of fuel oil by 1990.

Ferreri said of the four utility companies serving Maryland residents, BG&E, the state's largest supplier of electricity, will be hardest hit by Carter's directive.

He said most of the Potomac Edison Co. plants are coal-fired as are those operated by the Potomac Electric and Power Co. He said Delmarva Power and Light Co. would not be able to readily convert its only oil-fired plant in Maryland to coal. The plant is located in Vienna, Md.

Gasoline Prices Increase By 2¢ Across Maryland

(UPI) — The average price of gasoline in Maryland increased between 1.5 cents and two cents a gallon last week as seven stations reported selling premium gasoline for more than a dollar a gallon, the Automobile Club of Maryland said Tuesday.

The AAA's survey of 30 stations shows regular gasoline cost 91.2 cents a gallon last week — up two cents from the previous week. Premium gasoline cost an average 97.3 cents a gallon, an increase of 1.5 cents. The cost of unleaded gasoline went up an average of 1.7 cents a gallon to 95.4 cents a gallon.

Seven of the 30 stations surveyed were charging more than a dollar a gallon for premium gasoline, said spokeswoman Kathleen Godzik. Four of the stations were located on the Eastern Shore, including one in Ocean City, she said. One was located in Baltimore County while another was located in Laurel, she said. The seventh was located in the northeastern part of the state.

Last week's price increases were expected to be followed by a three to five cent increase this week when the relaxed profit margin rules issued by federal energy officials take effect. The new rules allow dealers to make a profit of 15.4 cents a gallon. The average profit under the old rules averaged 12.5 cents a gallon.

But some dealers may be forced to cut their prices to comply with the new rules, said Charles Gladstone, a Baltimore dealer and a spokesman for the Greater Washington-Maryland Service Station Association.

Dealers who earned more than 15.4 cents a gallon will have to lower prices even though their expenses have increased, Gladstone said.

Gladstone said Maryland dealers are considering a shutdown strike similar to last week's Pennsylvania-Delaware protest, but so far no definite plans have been made.

Penn Alps Summerfest Is A Crowd-Pleaser

The second annual Summerfest was held at Penn Alps, Grantsville, last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and was attended by nearly 2,000 people. Over 40 craftsmen displayed their talents and their wares on the Penn Alps festival grounds, while two wandering minstrels from Keyser, W. Va., Pat Shields and Ricky Roberts, entertained on the dulcimer, guitar, mandolin, and fiddle.

Tumultous rains throughout the festival often sent exhibitors and spectators scurrying for the newly erected display booths, while others just drove their tent stakes in a little deeper and continued weaving, caning, or whatever.

Summerfest exhibitors included: Edna Bender, painting in oils; Mrs. Eva Johnson, tole painting; Claude Yoder, wood sculpture; Aza Stanton, prints, sketches in oil; Helen Bray, preserved flowers; Marcette Danner, quilling; Beth Ocheltree, quilling; Robin Pancake, cornhusk crafts; Ralph Raynor, apple-head carvings; Tom Shimrock, Tiffany stained glass; Gary Yoder, bird carving; Margaret Chaney, wool-dyeing; Mary Wise, needlepoint; Ann Jones, spinning; Anne South, weaving; Alverta Dillon, rug-braiding; Louise Dillon, knitting; Dorothy Radcliffe, quilting; Ida Miller, rug and chairpad braiding; Mildred Beachy, needlework; Jane Benson, candle-dipping; Karen Miller, weaving; Pam Snyder, pottery; John Hepler, coopering; Brad Campbell, furniture making; Dan Oates, caning and chairseat weaving; Jimmy McCrobie, split-oak basketmaking; Paul Beal, watercolors; Robert Little, nature-printing; Carol Farrell, portraiture; Gail Prentice, portraiture; Mary Lou Dennison, pottery; Esther Miller, pottery, handbuilding; Robert Herboldsheimer, tinsmithing; Iva Mae Shields, watercolors; James Berry, herbs, folk medicine; Ralph Kretzer, blacksmithing.

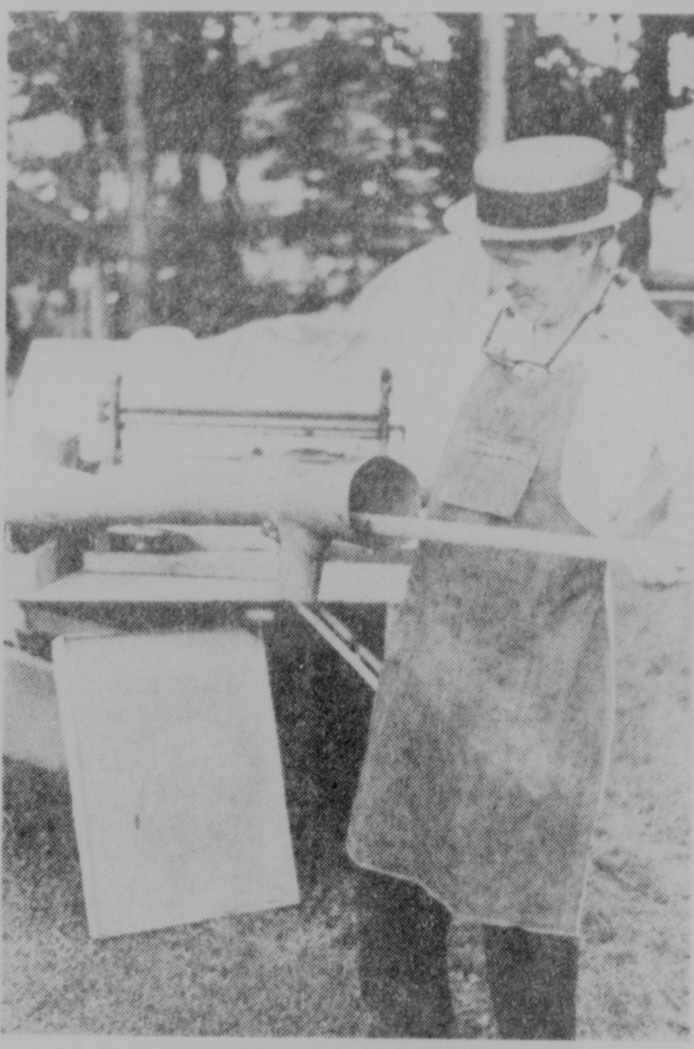
For some 20 years, Penn Alps has been sponsoring classes and workshops in arts and crafts. The first classes, pottery and handweaving, were taught in 1959 in the Springs area, while the Old Arlington Inn on Rt. 40 was being renovated as a restaurant and craft shop.

In the next two decades many classes were held in the main building and in other buildings on the grounds, purchased or constructed subsequently. Currently the June Quilt Festival and July Summerfest have taken the place of the classes and workshops. During the summer months, additional crafts demonstrations include spinning, weaving, pottery, woodcarving, stained and leaded glasswork, and grandfather's clock-making.

Summerfest is sponsored in part by a grant from the Maryland Arts Council through the Garrett County Arts Council.

HER SLIP IS SHOWING — No not that slip. "Slip" is a creamy mixture of clay and water used to finish fine ceramic ware. Pam Snyder "throws" a pot on a potters' wheel during Summerfest. She is a summer-long craftsman at Penn Alps.

WAXING AND WANING — Jane Benson creates her hand-dipped, scented, and colored candles.



THE TIN MAN — Robert Herboldsheimer forms a piece of tin into, — into, ah?

WHITTLE WHILE YOU WORK — Claude Yoder, Cumberland, carves anything from the bigger-than-life golden eagle in the foreground, to much smaller figurines and stone sculptures.

HERBS, TEAS, AND BERRY — James Berry of Shippensburg, Pa., gathers, prepares, and packages his own plants, available from his Herb and Folk Medicine display.

CANE AND ABLE — Dan Oates expertly canes an intricate daisy pattern seat for a handmade bench.

CONVERSATIONS ON CARPETING

Brought to you by
Carolyn & Butch Helbig

WHAT IS A CARPET?

We've talked a lot in past columns about carpet selection and carpet maintenance. One aspect we've never discussed is what a carpet is. If you've ever wondered what actually goes into those huge rolls of floor covering you've seen in your carpet store, read on.

There are three basic elements which make up any carpet: pile, adhesive, and backing. The pile consists of the tufts of yarn that form the carpet surface. While the pile makes up the actual surface of the carpeting, the adhesive and backing are also vital to its construction. The adhesive is latex rubber that acts like a glue to hold together the primary and secondary backings.

The type of material used for the backings is of utmost importance as this will affect the life of the carpeting. Jute is a time-tested favorite for carpet backing. How do the two backings work to strengthen your carpet? They combine to keep the pile from pulling out on the surface and prevent it from wearing out on the underside—the section next to the floor.

Quality carpet construction is vital to long life. We offer some of the most respected brand names in the carpet field. Stop in today.

Each week we will tell you more about carpeting for your home. Watch for these columns.

Garrett Signs Two Standouts

Frank Lewis

Alan Sweitzer

The revitalized Garrett Community College baseball program announced its first two recruits for the 1980 baseball season. Frank Lewis and Alan "Corky" Sweitzer, both from Southern High School, signed letters of intent to play for the Lakers this week.

Lewis and Sweitzer both play Legion baseball for Grantsville Post 214 under the tutelage of current Laker coaches, Phil Caruso and John Helmick. In addition, the two young men also play Pen-Mar ball for Oakland.

Frank Lewis will be coming into the Laker program as an outfielder. He is a four-year letterman in baseball for Southern High. He led Southern in hitting his junior year with a .438 average and is currently the second leading hitter for Post 714 with a .333 batting average, and one homer.

According to Coach Caruso, "Frank has unlimited potential as a baseball player and will provide Laker fans with much excitement at the plate and in the field."

Lewis will major in engineering at Garrett. He is the son of Frank and LaRue Lewis, Oakland.

Alan "Corky" Sweitzer will come into the Laker program as a catcher. He was also a four-year letterman in baseball at Southern, where he hit over .300 every year.

Corky is currently the leading hitter on Coach Caruso's Legion team, with a .343 batting average and one homer. He is also hitting over .400 for the Oakland Pen-Mar team.

Corky was the youngest player ever to play for Oakland's Pen-Mar team, starting at the age of 14. He has had summer try-outs with the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Baltimore Orioles.

Coach Caruso stated that, "Corky's biggest asset is that he is all baseball. In the three years that Cork has played Legion ball for me, he has never missed a game. This summer Corky has really come into his own as a baseball player. If Cork can dedicate himself to hours of conditioning and practice, I believe he may be a pro prospect at the end of his two years at GCC."

Sweitzer will major in Business at GCC. He is the son of Howard and Rita Sweitzer, Oakland.

Alumni Football Game Scheduled

An Alumni Football Game between Northern and Southern High Schools has been scheduled for 8 p.m., Saturday, August 4, on the Southern Football Field, according to Tom Woods, SHS Athletic Director.

Coaches for the Southern team are Rick Shaffer and Dave Bosley, and the Southern alumni team has been selected although the roster will not be announced until a later date.

All proceeds from the alumni game will be donated to the football programs of both schools.

Persons interested in trying-out for the Northern alumni team may do so at Grantsville Park on Thursday, July 19 at 7 p.m.

Area Racers Win At Elkins

Area race car drivers dominated weekend racing at Elkins Speedway as Eddie Lewis, Mt. Lake, driving #73, won a Heat race in the Street Stock division and finished fourth in the feature race Saturday evening. Eddie owns and operates his own car.

In the semi-late division, Red Frederick, Mt. Lake Park, completed five features in a row, driving Randy McCartney's #52. Red also won the Australian pursuit race and placed second in the Heat. Dave Wright finished second in the feature, Bernard Keene third and Sharon Kimball drove Randy's car to win in the Powder Puff Derby.

Late model driver, Frank Lewis, Oakland, plagued by bad luck recently, snapped a losing streak to bring R. H. Armstrong's #98 to his first feature win of the season. Frank also won the helmet dash and finished second in a Heat. Bood Lodge finished second and Rocky Maxsom, third.

Hunting, Fishing Show Scheduled September 22

An organizational meeting of interested sportsmen and representatives of local sportsmen's clubs was held Monday, July 16, to plan for the first annual Western Maryland Hunting and Fishing Day Show.

The event is being sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen's Association, in conjunction with National Hunting and Fishing Day, September 22 this year. The local sportsmen's show will be held at Allegany Community College, with many of the exhibits displayed inside the Continuing Education Building on campus, and other demonstrations and activities being planned outside the building, according to A.G.S.A. Secretary, Dennis Tompkins. Monday's organizational meeting was to discuss details of the day-long show, and schedule the various exhibits and activities.

The program is not limited to just those clubs and members that make up the 2100-member A. G. S. A., Tompkins said, adding that the association hopes to encourage any outdoor sportsmen to participate or visit the sportsmen's show.

While plans are still incomplete at this time, the show is expected to include firearms and fishing exhibits and demonstrations, trophy exhibits, archery and muzzleloading demonstrations, trapping exhibits, information brochures about assorted outdoor sports and about services offered by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and raffle drawings for outdoor sporting equipment prizes.

The Association hopes to draw over 1,000 visitors to the first annual show this September, which will be open to the general public free of charge.

Lady Golfers Compete July 9 At Kingwood

Several members of the Ladies Golf Association of the Oakland Country Club competed July 9 at the Preston County Club's Pro-Am tournament in Kingwood.

Tied for third with a net of 56 were Miriam Kost, Oakland; Joanna Kreyenbuhl, Canaan; Susan Harvey, Kingwood, and John Rokishi, pro.

Low gross for the day was Janice Welch's score of 86.

After play July 12 at the Oakland course, Mary Peterson had low net of 66 and low gross of 88.

Hunting Licenses Now Available

The 1979-80 hunting licenses and "hunters' guides" have been distributed to all license agents, according to Gene Deems, Maryland Wildlife Administration.

Noting that the statewide license fee of $8 is the same as last year's, Deems urged hunters to carefully read the regulations and other pertinent information contained in the "new guide."

"We have revised portions of the guide in order to clarify the information," said Deems, "but there are no radical changes."

Applications for antlerless deer permits and blind reservations for hunting the Fishing Bay Wildlife Management Area are again attached to the guidebook for the convenience of hunters.

A copy of the guide will be distributed free of charge by license agents with each hunting license issued. Additional copies must be obtained by contacting the Maryland Wildlife Administration, or the Licensing and Consumer Services Division of the Department of Natural Resources, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, 21401.

Grantsville Post In Second Place

by Phil Caruso

Grantsville Post 214 Baseball team was awarded a forfeit from Lonaconing Post 92 to even its record at 4-4. They then traveled to Cumberland in an attempt to make a last ditch effort to win the Mt. District title. Despite being outmanned, Post 214 hooked up with Cumberland in one of the more exciting Legion games of the year. Post 214 scored in the top of the first on a single by Frank Lewis, a stolen base, and a single by Corky Sweitzer.

Post 13 tried to score in the bottom of the first. Grantsville then came up with three runs in the top of the fourth on a single by Sweitzer and walks to Chapman and Seibert that loaded the bases. Dick Bender then executed a perfect suicide squeeze for a run, Cuppett walked to force in a run and Lewis singled to center the score the third run. Only poor baserunning killed a bigger rally.

Post 13 scored two runs in the fifth on a two out throwing error. Grantsville scored their final run in the seventh on a two out hit and run with Greg Beachy knocking in Harris.

Starting pitcher, Jeff Colaw

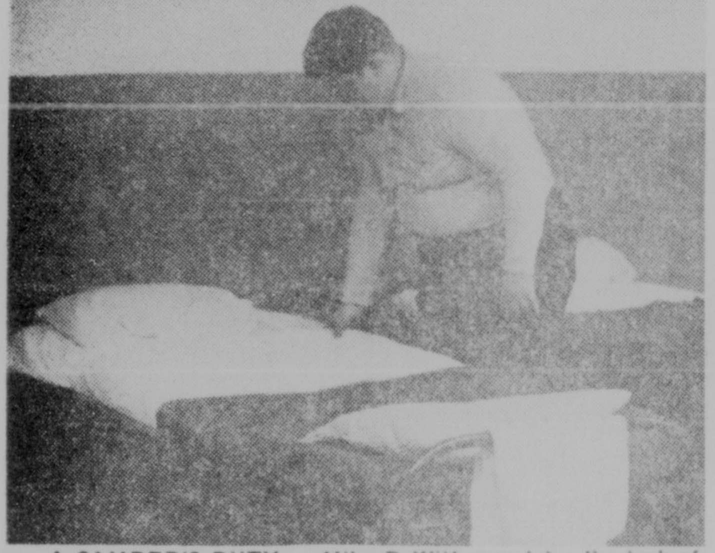
Special Ed Students Enjoy Week At Camp Hickory

ARM-WRESTLING CHAMPS — Counselor Lisa Hinebaugh, left, holds her own against Jeff Michaels while Roger Uber and lifeguard Tom Upole cheer them on. It was all part of the Outdoor Education Program for Special Education students of Garrett County held the week of July 2-6 at Camp Hickory, Accident. The camp, under the direction of Ruth Ryan and Mark Alkire, was attended by twenty-four residential students and one day student from all parts of the county.

RECREATION IN THE POOL — Despite rather cool temperatures, special education students frolicked in the Camp Hickory pool Thursday morning, July 5. Swimming in the pool was one of the special activities held for the students throughout the week of July 2-6 at Camp Hickory. While at the camp, the students received a visit from Smokey the Bear, and attended campfires, movies and a magic show. Certificates were given to each of the students during a campfire Friday morning designating them as good campers.



A CAMPER'S DUTY — Mike DeWitt completes the task of making his bed, one of the duties of the students attending the Outdoor Education Program for Special Education students held at Camp Hickory. The camp was sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education, the Mental Retardation Association, and the Garrett County Organization for Retarded Citizens.

CHANNELING CREATIVE ENERGY — Counselor Diana Custer, center, teaches arts and crafts to students, Jeff Michaels, Connie Lantz, and Frankie Durst during the Outdoor Education Program for Special Education held at Camp Hickory, Accident. Also pictured, upper right, is counselor Ric Phillips. Besides arts and crafts, other subjects taught throughout the five-day camp, held July 2-6, included nature study, physical education, rhythms, and speech and physical therapy.

Suffers Fracture In Vehicle Mishap

Richard DeWitt, of Deer Park, sustained a fractured collarbone Thursday at his home when the van under which he was working rolled off its supports on top of him.

Everett Sweeps Oakland, 6-5, 11-4

by Terry Helbig

This past weekend, second place Everett swept Oakland in a doubleheader by the scores of 6-5 and 11-4.

In the first game, Oakland scored in the top of the first inning when Dave Bender reached base on an error and then advanced to third on another error. Bender raced home on a passed ball.

In the third inning, Pete Brosnihan hit a solo home run. Then Dave Bender hit a single and moved to second on an infield out. Corky Sweitzer then singled Bender in.

During the sixth inning, John Kruk hit a solo home run and Ernie Shotwell followed with a single. Dave Barr hit a bunt single and Pete Brosnihan hit a sacrifice fly to left field to score Shotwell.

Everett scored its six runs in the last three innings—all unearned due to Oakland errors.

John Chaney took the loss for Oakland while scattering six hits, walking five and striking out six. Gene Decker took the win.

In the second game, Oakland once again scored first as Pete Brosnihan singled and John Kruk hit a two-run homer.

In the fourth inning, Mark Tysinger readied on an error and Corky Sweitzer singled him in. In the seventh inning, Randy Cirillo doubled and Ed Tritley singled him in.

Everett's big guns were Jim Ronson with a two-run homer and Bob Foor with a three-run homer.

Mike Brady absorbed the loss for Oakland and Eugene Decker was the winning pitcher for Everett.

This week Oakland travels to Cresaptown, Sunday, for a scheduled doubleheader at 2 p.m.

Oakland is in second place with a 7-7 record behind Everett and Tri-Towns which are tied for first at 12-2.

Leading hitters for Oakland are John Kruk, .420; Craig Bosley, .390; Marky Tysinger, .360; Corky Sweitzer, .350; and Ernie Shotwell, .310.

Grantsville Post

got into a jam in the seventh and was relieved by Jim Seibert who pitched out of bases-loaded-nobody-out situation but not before Cumberland had scored twice to tie the score at 5-5.

Each team was held scoreless until the bottom of the eleventh, when Post 13 scored the winning run on a hit by winning pitcher, Holshey.

Corky Sweitzer lead Grantsville with three hits, and Lewis chipped in with two. Jeff Colaw and Jim Seibert pitched outstanding ball in the losing effort.

Post 214 is now 4-5 and remains in second place. They will meet Westernport this afternoon at 5:15 on the Garrett Community College field.

Gasoline, Income And Sales Tax Revenue Compared

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said this week that an analysis of the latest revenues from the motor vehicle fuel tax, state income tax and state sales tax show continued growth.

Net motor vehicle fuel tax revenues for June 1979 were slightly below June 1978 levels, but revenues for the full Fiscal Year 1979 totaled $200,184,222, nearly 2.8 percent higher than the $194,757,610 received for Fiscal Year 1978. Revenues from the sales of gasoline were down slightly in May and June, but receipts from sales of diesel fuel and the road tax on motor carriers were significantly higher, accounting for the increased total net revenue.

June 1979 sales tax revenues, which reflect sales made during May, totaled $60,393,221, up 12.9 percent over the $53,475,213 received during June 1978.

"A preliminary statistical breakdown of the sources of sales tax revenue reveals that the general merchandise and apparel categories were up by 8.7 percent and 8.8 percent respectively.

"The building and contractors category showed a 15.9 percent increase and the furniture, fixtures, and appliance category was 17.9 percent above June 1978. These increases indicate that May 1979 sales activity was not severely affected by the emerging gaoline shortage, however, sales tax receipts during the next two months will give a clearer picture," Mr. Goldstein said.

The Comptroller noted that State income tax revenues for the month of June 1979 totaled $171,122,946, an increase of 13.4 percent over the $150,905,964 received during June 1978.

Becoming A Parent Is More Than Just Having Babies

The following is the first in a series of articles written in recognition of the International Year of the Child.

By Ann Abrahamson, licensed family counselor and co-ordinator of the Garrett County Child Abuse Team

INFANT CARE — Roxanne Reed of the Garrett County Health Department demonstrates how to take care of the newborn baby during an infant care class offered to expectant parents. Ms. Reed's one-week-old "model" is Jennifer Lynn, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Panther, Oakland.

Anyone can become a mother or a father. All that's required is a certain amount of biological maturity. Parenting requires more than this. Parenting is learned. Parenting is an art . . . an art which requires skill and practice.

There are many new books, courses, clubs, etc. offering advice on parenting. Some theories emphasize the joy of parenting, others define how to make rules and to discipline, others emphasize how to communicate or to understand the developmental needs and tasks of the child. But none of this deluge of advice comes with a guarantee.

Examining the reasons why people have become parents in the 70's, there seems to be an emphasis on parent satisfaction and parent fulfillment. Today there is an increasing trend towards parents needing to feel a bond with other parents.

For the parents of the 70's, having children remains a remarkable way to "grow up," to engage with life, to become schooled in some universal values. At the same time these parents realize that having children affects every aspect of their lives . . . the quality of their relationship, their work, their ties to their original families and their relation to society. But what distinguishes many parents of the 70's from parents a generation ago is that they are trying to integrate the experience of parenting as one strand of their total lives.

Today a parent's feeling of self worth is more likely to be generated from many different sources outside the home. At the same time that we are caretakers, teachers and models, we are also adults, lovers, workers and persons with a point of view. For as long as women accepted their "work" as raising children, it was rarely thought that the needs of parents and children might not mesh. But as mothers began to work outside the home and as fathers tried balancing work and child care, the undeniable conflict between working and taking care of children became obvious. Perhaps this challenge has helped us to see the more general problem of how we must balance the love and privacy we need ourselves with the responsibilities of our children. A parent who has a strong sense of identity doesn't find it necessary to live through his or her children and is less likely to feel like "a failure" when his or her child misbehaves, according to Dinkmeyer & McKay, ("Systematic Training for Effective Parenting"). Considering ourselves more fully as people has allowed us to see our children as people, as unique human beings who are separate from us and as worthy of respect as we are. When we feel freer to reveal ourselves to them as developing, many dimensioned, imperfect human beings, we are able to give our children a more realistic picture of what being a person is all about.

A recent survey, "The Parent Test" by Ellen Peck, interviewed successful and satisfied parents who recommended the following: Don't try to be the Perfect Parent; Realize your child isn't perfect either; Keep your sense of humor; Be sure to have some job or activity outside the house; "Translate" child's behavior — sometimes a child seems to be saying, "No, I don't like your idea," when really he's saying "I need to have my own idea."

Other theories like P.E.T. (Parent Effectiveness Training), are designed to increase parent satisfaction by building communication skills. Parents learn how to encourage responsible behavior, get their own needs met and solve conflicts so that everybody comes out feeling a winner. Generally, these communication skills help the parent learn how to talk so his child listens and to listen so that his child talks.

Mothers are still the parent most often responsible for child-rearing (although fathers' involvement is on the increase). However, people frequently underestimate the importance of a mother's role. The truth is that the mother is the initial, single most important socializing influence on the child and the responsibilities and pressures are great.

In the final run, we tend to be pretty much the same type of parents that our parents were to us (for better or worse) because the parenting "instinct" is learned. And one of the real difficulties of parenthood is remaining flexible to all these new approaches to our changing kids in a changing world. Becoming the people who must set limits makes us examine our adult impulses to control our children. We have to ask which are selfish, which are fair, which are just old habits and which are appropriate.

Most people consider parenting important because of its formative effect on the child's self-esteem and future performance. By helping kids to establish a positive identity we also encourage their co-operative behavior. A happy child, who feels good about him/herself, has a sense of worth because he is contributing, cooperating, belonging to and being recognized by those he most admires, respects or needs . . . hopefully the parents. More parents today are concerned with how to maintain an influence on their child — how to avoid the recent "generation gap" and the challenge of media values. These parents are concerned with how to best communicate with their children and to encourage their child's self-confidence and positive behavior . . . because positive feelings about self equals positive behavior towards others. The child who is misbehaving is a child who is discouraged.

So, some of the basic needs of a child are to belong, to be accepted, to have an identity within one's family. Our relationship with our parents is the foundation of our self-esteem and feelings of worth. The importance of early nurturing (infant bonding) is dramatized in extreme cases: a child that is seldom held will be malnourished, emotionally disturbed, intellectually deficient or will even die. But how often we forget how fragile a child's feelings are . . . and how necessary it is to teach respect by showing respect. We are even admonished in the Bible to discipline with love: "Fathers, do not over-correct your children, or you will take all the heart out of them" — Colossians 3 . . . "Provoke not your children to wrath." — Ephesians 6 . . . because "children are the gift, a heritage of the Lord." — Psalms 127:3. And remember, we can accept a child without having to approve of his behavior — just as we "love the sinner but hate the sin." To indicate this difference and encourage warm relationship, cooperation and feelings of worth a parent must be skilled in good communication. It is important to express our love so that it is heard. But the most valuable thing of all that we can do for our children is value them.

Being A Parent

Where can parents go for more information concerning this tremendously important job of theirs? Listed below are the groups in our County that offer services for parents:

Adorable Adoptables

from the Garrett County Animal Shelter

RIN-TIN-TIN'S NEXT OF KIN — Most protective of breeds, this purebred male German Shepherd would enjoy being placed in a family setting. Remember though that a Shepherd needs lots of room, attention, and discipline—and they are not recommended for very young children, apartments, or a life of servitude guarding a gas station. This healthy young specimen is available for adoption from the Garrett County Animal Shelter, 334-3553, within the next three days. Last week's Springer Spaniel pups were adopted by Glen White and Terry King . . . which reminds us, "Adorable Adoptables" has been 100% successful since its advent—let's keep our perfect record.

Pennsylvania Duo Receive Heavy Fine In District Court

A Pennsylvania man and woman each faced three charges in District Court Monday, July 16 and walked out at the end of the trials with a total of $630 fine imposed by Judge Lewis R. Jones.

Joseph H. McGuire and Peggy J. McGuire, both of Donora, PA, were each charged with controlled dangerous subtance, unlawful manufacturing, possession of a deadly weapon, handgun; and CDS, unlawful possession. Both received a nolle prosequi determination for the first charge and a verdict of guilty on the third charge. Joseph McGuire was found guilty of the second charge while Peggy McGuire was given the determination of no prosecution.

In other court cases Monday, Julia A Crosco and Diane M. Logsdon, both of Oakland, were each convicted on the charge of shoplifting, under $100 and fined $40. The charges were filed by Sandy Flanigan, Oakland, and the arrests were made by Deputy P. J. Pratt, Oakland.

William J. Cline, Mt. Lake Park, was placed on probation before judgment and fined $15 for the charge of trespassing, school property which was filed by Jerome J. Ryscavage, Oakland.

In a preliminary hearing, the case of Harrison L. Greaser, Kitzmiller, was dismissed. He had been charged by James Whitacre, Kitzmiller, for larceny: grand, over $500.

The determination of nolle prosequi was passed in the case of Arlie R. Rounds, Accident, who was charged by Hagan Thomas, Accident, for battery.

Because restitution was made, Rebecca J. Perry, Oakland, was not prosecuted for the charge of false pretense: bad check filed by Walt Fearer, Oakland.

Darlene F. Cosner, Mt. Lake Park, received the determination of nolle prosequi for the charge of larceny: grand, under $500 filed by Ruby Witeman, Deer Park.

No prosecution was made for the charge of false pretense bad check made against Gladys M. Pifer, Mt. Lake Park, by Robert Timothy Taylor, Oakland.

"Hiring The Handicapped" Is Theme For First Employer Luncheon

Twenty-eight employers and committee members attended the Garrett County Committee to Promote Employment of the Handicapped's first Employer Luncheon on Wednesday, July 11.

A film, "A Different Approach," was used to introduce the main theme of the luncheon, "Thinking About Hiring the Handicapped." The focus of the film was to explore a variety of ways of presenting information to the public about employment of the handicapped. The first speaker was Richard Sheppard, from the President's Committee to Promote Employment of the Handicapped, who spoke about the "Legislation Affecting the Employer." Jerry Bullinger, from the National Association for Retarded Citizens, explained the "Financial Incentives for Hiring and Training Disabled Persons."

Each luncheon participant received profiles on eight Garrett County citizens who are disabled and eligible for employment. While the profiles were being reviewed, Dan Elmlinger, from the Western Maryland Consortium; Bill Wright, from the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation; and Dave Koontz, from the Appalachian Adult Activity Center, presented short statements concerning their agencies and services offered to both employers and those seeking employment.

The Appalachian Adult Activity Center's staff and clients hosted the Luncheon. The menu items of baked Hawaiian chicken, scalloped potatoes, green beans, apple custard, lemonade and coffee were prepared and served by the Appalachian Adult Activity Center's staff and clients.

The Maryland State Department of Education announced its liberalized policy for free and reduced price meal and free milk today. This policy is applicable to the 1979-1980 school year.

Entitlement to free and reduced price meals and free milk is determined by family size and income. A child from a family of four, for example, will be entitled to a free lunch and/or breakfast if the family income is below $8,940. Last year that figure was $8,110. A student pays the reduced cost for lunch (10 cents) and/or breakfast (5 cents) where income for a family of four is between $8,940 and $13,940. Last year's figures in that category were $8,110 to $12,660.

The service of free milk to eligible children under these guidelines will be at the option of the local school system. Other factors considered in determining which children are eligible, include unusual expenses for medical bills, shelter, special education expense, or casualty losses by the family. If a family is unemployed, the children of the family may be eligible for free meals and milk or reduced price meals.

Application forms with a letter to parents will be sent to all families with children in school at the beginning of the school year. Information provided on the form will be treated confidentially. No child will be discriminated against because of race, color, or national origin, or ability to pay. A copy of the new policy will be on file and accessible to parents in each school. Parents who are dissatisfied with the ruling on their children may appeal the decision according to procedures outlined in the policy statement.

Missionary Circle Discusses Depression In Christian Women

The Women's Missionary Circle of the Mt. Lake Independent Baptist Church heard a tape dealing with depression and worry in Christian women during their Friday, July 13 meeting which began at 7:30 p.m.

The tape was a speech by Marlene Nevins, chancelor of women at Jack Hyles University, Hammond, Indiana, on Biblical methods of handling the causes of depression and worry in Christian women.

Afterwards, the group read letters from missionaries around the world. Those letters read were from Dave Cooper, New England; Tommy Tellman, Louisiana; Verne Kirley, Alaska; Dennis Oatley, Peru; Bob Huffman, France; Dave Clark, Australia; Gary May, North Dakota; John Dean, the Philipines; the Hornbrooks, New Mexico; the Hope Bible Mission, and Shepherds Home for Children, Wisconsin.

The circle voted to send a special donation to the Deans to help pay their passage to the Philipines. They also made plans to inform the church of the needs of the missionary chest.

Several ladies volunteered to write personal letters to missionary wives.

Upon adjournament of the meeting, the group set up sewing machines to sew crib sheets for the church nursery.

Elisabeth Thayer Donates Collection To Education

By Carol Canan

A tradition of learning begun many years ago by Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer has now been guaranteed as a tradition for future generations to enjoy.

Mrs. Thayer recently donated her collection of sourvenirs from around the world to the county Board of Education, and the Board is displaying the pieces in specially-constructed cases in its Oakland headquarters, in the planetarium resource classroom.

According to Robert Rodeheaver, this display will insure that future generations of youngsters, and many adults as well, will have the opportunity to see firsthand some representative facets of life in foreign countries.

Board personnel are in the process of revising the social studies curriculum, and will incorporate visits to see the collection whenever feasible.

The Oakland site was chosen as it is adjacent to the planetarium, which is visited by approximately 5,000 students and adults annually.

Mrs. Thayer's Story

As Mrs. Thayer tells it, the collection represents a combination of her two favorite activities — traveling and teaching. The unique combination of the two led gradually to the accumulation of an outstanding collection used by Mrs. Thayer at every opportunity to educate her students about ways in other countries.

Mrs. Thayer began her teaching career at Center Street School, and after a few years moved to Prince George's County to teach.

A few years later, she returned to Garrett County and to teaching. She married Frederick Thayer, Jr. and resigned from her teaching post to be full-time housewife and mother to their son, now Judge Frederick A. Thayer III, and to church and volunteer work. Shortly after her spouse of 25 years died, Mrs. Thayer resumed teaching, in 1953, and taught again at Center Street before being transferred to Crellin. She had served as principal at Crellin for eight years prior to her retirement in 1970.

Almost every summer, Mrs. Thayer would join a tour group to one or more foreign countries. While on these tours, she said, she would try to gain as much from each opportunity as she could, whether it be kissing the blarney stone (in company with Mrs. Hildred Mulvey, former principal of Red House School), riding a camel or elephant, or sampling all the native dishes and festivals.

Mrs. Thayer has been completely around the world twice, with numerous side excursions to Mexico, India, Egypt, the Holy Lands, and many other exotic places.

Making the most of her opportunities included bringing home items and slides representative of the people in the countries she visited, their products, customs, and clothing. These she shared with children in her school, with parents from PTAs, and with club and organization members who wanted to share her experiences.

She gathered seven charm bracelets, and allowed youngsters to wear these as they learned the story behind each charm. Dolls were handled, as were clothing items. Items too fragile for handling were important, too, as youngsters learned to "touch" with their eyes.

Mrs. Thayer also instructed the children on various practical matters, such as applying for a passport, the innoculations necessary, how to pack for trips, and many other facts helpful to know when traveling.

Her slides depict as much as possible everyday life and customs in other countries, in addition to the more commonly photographed points of interest and historical monuments.

With all those miles behind her, which country impressed Mrs. Thayer the most? Africa, she says without hesitation. She vividly recalls a cruise around the perimeter of the continent, when she was the only American aboard. The ship stopped at many ports, and Mrs. Thayer also went on safari into the depths of the dark continent.

She also recalls the time her French cruise ship was docked in a Peruvian port, and during the night she heard a loud "Bang!" The sudden movement of the ship threw her out of bed onto the floor, and she carried a bruise to prove it. Cause of the crash was not collision with another ship, but an earthquake.

Mrs. Thayer's travels have taken her across the equator dozens of times, by plane or ship. Each trip has its own special memories, from her South Pacific cruise to a visit to Alaska when it received statehood.

With all her travel miles and experiences, however, Mrs. Thayer remains steadfast in her love of her homeland, "even its winters." She has put her passport away, upon the advice of her doctor, but regrets are fleeting for the wonderings of the past. "I love Garrett County best of anywhere," she concludes, "and it will always be home to me."

"Around the world" memories are as clear as yesterday's events to Mrs. Elisabeth Thayer . . .

The lookout tower was scarcely visible, and five miles ahead, straight up the mountain. With the whole afternoon ahead of me, I began the climb. It was a hot day, and the dry, winding road made the climb twice as difficult.

Then something wonderful happened. Sitting by the roadside in the shade of some friendly pine trees were an older couple and their grandchildren. They, too, were on the way to the lookout and were resting. I joined the group and continued the hike, chatting the whole way about families, places we had been, our home towns.

Before we knew it the fatigue was forgotten and two hours had flown by. We had arrived at the tower.

Life, too, sometimes feels like a different climb on a hot, dry day. Its demands and burdens can drain us of energy and the will to continue. God knows this, so He gave us His Church, a fellowship of believers to strengthen and encourage us along life's road.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THOSE WITH US

Background Scripture:
2 Kings 6:8-23.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 12:14-21.

Dr. Elizabeth Kubler-Ross is well known throughout the world today because of her pioneering work in thanatology, the psychology of dying. Her work has done a great deal to help us better understand what people experience as they face death and how we may more adequately respond to their needs.

Rev. Althouse

Dr. Kubler-Ross has also become a controversial figure because of some of her conclusions about what happens after death occurs. Interviewing large numbers of patients as they are about to die and even some who have been pronounced clinically dead and been resuscitated by medical means, the Swiss doctor has become convinced that there is a life after death. Another of her firm convictions drawn from her work is that the living are constantly surrounded by unseen, loving "guides" (often deceased loved ones and friends) who are sent to help us in our early lives.

Unseen Presences

Although these convictions have earned her a great deal of derision and rejection, many of her observations sound very similar to various passages in the Bible that testify to the reality of unseen and loving spiritual presences that surround us in our daily lives. Her words call to mind the affirmation in Hebrews 12:1 that "we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses..." and many of us repeat Sunday after Sunday our creedal belief in "the communion of the saints."

The story of Elisha and the unnamed kings of Israel and Syria in 2 Kings 6 gives us a similar testimony about a whole realm of spiritual reality that is unseen except by a very few. Disturbed to find that the Hebrew prophet Elisha has been picking up his inmost thoughts and plans and warning his Israeli rival, the king of Syria surrounds the prophet's house and community with his great army. "Alas, my master!" says Elisha's servant, "What shall we do?" (6:15)

Chariots Of Fire

"Fear not," answered the prophet, "for those who are with us are more than those who are with them" (6:16). This must have seemed a strange response to the servant for he could plainly see that he and his master were vastly outnumbered. But Elijah prayed that his servant would be enabled to see what he saw: "O Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes that he may see" (6:17).

Elijah's prayer was answered and suddenly his servant could see what his master saw: a vast unseen host of beings whom God sent to protect and aid his prophet. Regardless of how things had seemed before Elijah's prayer, the servant now realized that they were surrounded with love and faith hidden from normal eyesight.

Elijah's counsel to his servant is still timely for us: "Fear not, for those who are with us are more than those who are with them."

HELICOPTER FLIGHTS over the area are being scheduled by the Potomac Edison Company as part of their power line maintenance program and PE's Division Manager, R. A. Roschli, has asked that local residents not be alarmed by the copters since the flights are routine ones. The utility's division manager says company linemen in the helicopters will be checking for broken or damaged electrical facilities. If foot patrols attempted similar surveillance, the job would require "hundreds more hours" to complete. Should damaged equipment be spotted from the air, local line crews are dispatched to the area to make necessary repairs, thus preventing power outages and possible hazardous conditions.

Weather Advisory Service Includes Garrett County

Through the efforts of James McHenry, County Agricultural Extension Agent, the National Weather Service has expanded its agricultural weather advisory service to include Garrett County, according to a release from the Garrett County Board of Education.

The local cooperative observational point is located at Camp Hickory, Garrett County Schools' Environmental Education Center, near Accident. Weather data collected here daily includes maximum and minimum air and soil temperatures, rainfall and snowfall depth. The weekday observations are recorded by Joseph L. Winters, Coordinator of Camp Hickory. Weekend data is collected by Donna Ringer, a student at Northern High School.

Weather data from within Garrett County and surrounding areas is used to develop and issue daily agricultural weather advisories. Advisory information includes: hay curing forecasts, spraying conditions, rainfall and soil mositure forecasts, and other weather information related to agricultural activities. These advisories are issued to the media via a Weather Service teletype circuit or the press services. Mr. McHenry is also providing weekly crop stage data.

Pvt. Gerald Smith Training To Become Combat Engineer

A peavy, mattock, and goosenneck wrecker might sound like a group of rare and exotic birds, but a Crellin man knows they will soon become the tools of his trade.

Army Private Gerald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith, Crellin, is learning to be a combat engineer at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. Part of that training involves familiarization with more than 42 different hand and power tools.

One of the first "hands on" lessons taught during the eight-week engineer course is the safe use of power tools, such as saws, drill presses, and hydraulic jacks. Students must also learn how to care and maintain these tools which are designed to operate on portable power sources like air compressors and gasoline generators. "I think this training can help me a lot in the future," he said.

Only one phase of training included the use of tools. Army engineers must also learn the quick assembly and breakdown of many types of portable roadways. This includes floating footbridges and huge steel structures strong enough to support an Army tank. In addition to these skills, he must also learn crafts such as masonry, metalworking, and that of an electrician; crafts taught primarily to support combat operations, but also used to aid civilian communities during emergencies.

Smith, who attended Southern High School joined the National Guard in April of this year. On completion of the program he will return to his home unit.

English novelist William Makepeace Thackery was born July 18, 1811.

On this day in history:

In A. D. 64, Nero is said to have fiddled while Rome burned.

In 1938, Douglas Corrigan earned the nickname "Wrong Way" when he landed in Ireland instead of California after a flight from New York.

In 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated unanimously for a third term with Henry Wallace as his running mate. They won in November.

In 1951 Joseph "Jersey Joe" Walcott won the world heavyweight boxing championship by knocking out Ezzard Charles in the seventh round.

THE IMPACT OF EXTERNAL APPEAL

The external appearance of your home has an important impact on potential buyers. You will never get a prospect interested unless he stops to look. Don't rely on the inside of your home "selling" it. Your prospect may be "turned off" before he reaches the front door. So look at the exterior with a critical eye.

Give the house a fresh coat of paint if needed. Replace any broken or cracked windows. Replace loose shingles. Fix the fence. Keep the lawn mowed and the shrubs trimmed to give your house that "well-cared-for" look. Make sure your screen or storm door is in top shape and your wooden door is inviting with a fresh coat of paint or varnish. It is not uncommon to see a hundred dollars worth of improvements and some elbow grease increase the value of a house over a thousand dollars.

Put yourself in the buyer's shoes. He is looking for charm, comfort, location and a bargain. Give him the best show for the money.

Senate Committee Approves Funding For State Projects

The Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Energy and Water Development has approved the Army Corps of Engineers budget that includes $21.4 million for five Maryland projects, Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) announced last week.

Mathias, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said the Committee will consider the requests and sent them to the Senate floor. Any differences in the Senate version of the bill will then be resolved with the House of Representatives.

The bulk of the $21.4 million budget will go towards construction of the Bloomington Reservoir, for which $28,300,000 was appropriated. The reservoir is expected to provide flood control protection for the towns of Luke and Westernport in Allegany County, as well as for the towns of Piedmont and Keyser in West Virginia.

The remainder of the budget has been appropriated for a Chesapeake Bay Study, a feasibility study to widen the Chesapeake City Bridge, a Monongahela River Basin study and a Smith Island Erosion study.

When you're hot, and when you're not

By ANNE THAYER

Is it type-casting or right casting?

An actor or actress weighing the two sometimes comes up with a wrong answer, or two, or three.

Yul Brynner guessed wrong with his next-to-last stage show. But now that he has revived "The King and I," every city where the show plays, begs him to extend the run.

Mary Tyler Moore and Richard Chamberlain guessed wrong a few years ago when they went into rehearsal for the Broadway-bound musical adaptation of "Breakfast at Tiffany's." It never even opened, through no fault of its likeable two stars, both of whom went on to bigger things.

Chamberlain went to England to get a new start as a serious actor, and had to stretch his strength and voice when he was chosen by the Birmingham repertory group to star as "Hamlet." At that time it was a surprise to everybody, including Chamberlain.

What a pleasure it must have been for him, then, this winter, to have New York's leading drama critic describe him as "one of the finest classical actors on the boards today."

By limiting his stage runs to not longer than two months per show, Chamberlain can also take on occasional TV roles. It's very nice since only real big ones are dangled before him these days. In the recent past there was "The Count of Monte Cristo" and "Centennial," and right now he's on location in Japan for "Shogun," an NBC Big Event for next season.

As for Ms. Moore, her long run in her own series made her such a superstar that she won't be impoverished by a goof or two. And, of course, goofing twice is what she did when she rang down the final curtain on her Mary Richards character in favor of variety because singing and dancing personally give her more pleasure. She hoped her fans would feel the same way.

Not enough of them did, obviously. So she's putting away her tap shoes and huddling with idea people at her own MTM production company to see if they can develop a new series with that old Mary Richards' appeal for next year on CBS.

It won't be exactly in the Mary Richards' mold because Ms. Moore craves new challenges and chafed at being locked into a character that lacked growth potential.

Wanting to work is her problem, not having to.

It's different for a young chap like Daren Kelly who asked to be written out of the ABC serial, "All My Children," where for three years he "worked with wonderful people, all of them," and knew where his next paycheck was coming from.

TRAPPED? – Daren Kelly, seen here with Stacy Keach in the Broadway smash, "Deathtrap," made the move from television to the Broadway stage with no regrets. But he's still leaving the door to the TV studio open.

An actor's life, he reasons, is uncertain at best. So he might as well get used to its vagaries early.

Like Mary Tyler Moore, Daren felt his Dr. Dan Kennicott was stuck in a rut. Says Daren, "I don't know. Maybe the viewers like him that way. Certainly the writers did. They wanted him to stay at home in Pine Valley and listen to everybody's troubles. For myself I like change, evolvement."

And that's what he's getting via eight performances a week in the suspenseful play, "Deathtrap," on Broadway.

Though he has previously toured in four major shows, Daren says, "I consider myself still a student and in this play I've worked with two masters from whom I've learned a lot."

The bare bones of this mystery drama are as follows: A young writer gets involved in a deal with his mentor, played originally by John Wood and now by Stacy Keach. Things don't exactly work out as he planned. And that's when the fun starts.

Yes, Daren had to adjust. "They have totally different value systems," he says, "but both are valid."

Is Daren through with TV? No. He might even return to the Dr. Dan role if the writers give the character room to grow. How much? Daren grins. "I'd like him to turn into a sort of Heathcliffe who has mysteriously come into a lot of money."

Blue Barn

by Bart Naylor

"Murder mysteries always begin with a murder, but the murder is not really the beginning. The real story begins long before — years before sometimes. All the causes and events bring the people concerned to a certain place, on a certain day, at a certain time, and then, over the top—zero hour." So muses Thomas Royde, a character from Agatha Christie's thriller, "Towards Zero" running July 18-21, at the Blue Barn theatre. In this mystery, rather than beginning with a murder, Christie has constructed the plot in anticipation of one.

In many ways, this murder is the crescendo of a symphony for which the rest of the play is preparation: The beginning is quiet, solo characters expressing their intrinsic timbres, and ranges of emotions. As meditated as the murder plot itself, Christie then plays one or two characters off on each other, all the while darkening the ever more complicated melody with echoes and inversions of previous statements. The fuels of this tense counterpoint are then exploded in the final climax.

The elements of this murder symphony are handled masterfully under the expert direction of Cather MacCallum. She has tempted the volume during the early scenes, and at the same time paced the production quickly, so as to prevent any bleeding of tension before the crescendo.

MacCallum has a strong cast for this complicated play. Milburn Mehlhop plays the retired lawyer; his posture is appropriately refined, his expressions are intense. Joan Statkus, as the divorcee, is thoroughly professional with her accent and composure.

The characters are many, and MacCallum has supplemented her Blue Barn company with local talent. Pat Fischetti, Ginger Bailey, Michael Schirmicher, and Richard Orr all put in fine performances.

"Towards Zero" is fast, tense, convoluted, and, in the best form of an Agatha Christie thriller, surprising. The play is a fine complement to the seasons opening comedy, and the production is equally successful.

Between life and death

Astounding journey inside the brain

"The Body Human: The Vital Connection," the Peabody Award-winning dramatic special, gets an encore performance this Monday, July 23, on CBS. The special explores the brain and nervous system through awe-inspring photographic techniques. It also focuses on the personal dramas of three real people faced by different breakdowns in the intricate structure of the brain with the rest of the body.

"The Vital Connection" was the third episode in the Emmy-winning "Body Human" series. It has been cited as "a marevelous and exciting excursion into the workings of the human brain, with particular focus on medical miracles used to correct brain-related illnesses." The informational special also won a Writer's Guild Award for outstanding achievement for scriptwriter Robert E. Fuisz, M.D.

Based on a visual concept that enables the viewer to see himself from a totally unique perspective through the utilization of sophisticated electronic photography, it embarks on a journey inside the human brain, where 20 billion nerve cells interconnect at 10 trillion junctures, which store more than 200 billion memory bits. Those truly are figures to make your head spin.

In exlporing the universes of sleep, memory, medidation and speech, photographs never before seen depict human nerve cells, which send microelectrodes that translate brain impulses into intelligible messages.

Using high-speed photography, of a magician's sleight-of-hand variety, the brain's continual ability to coordinate muscles and fine movements is demonstrated. And the evloution of speech and correlative brain activity is traced through specially treated photographs. Such taken-for-granted activities as shaving, swallowing and punching an elevator button are shown as examples of the workings of the brain centers responsible for their control.

"The Vital Connection," like "The Miracle Months," "The Red River" and "The Sexes," the other critically-acclaimed specials in the series, demonstrates not only the details of revolutionary medical techniques, but also dramatic life and death crises of actual people.

In the first instance, Carol Culver, a young woman in her twenties, seeks relief from an uncontrollable "intentional" arm tremor resulting from an automobile accident. Dr. Irving Cooper, professor of neurosurgery at New York University Medical School, performs an intricate operation on her brain while she in entirely awake and coherent.

Barbralynn Roth, 10, is slowly going blind due to pressure on the brain pathways that control her sight. Dr. Russell Patterson, neurosurgeon at New York Hospital, removes a dangerous tumor at the juncture of her optic nerves.

There is one last resort for Patrick Riggs, a young athletic man, who, as a result of a sinus infection that damaged portions of his brain tissue, is plagued by almost daily epileptic seizures that do not respond to medication. Using radar-like scanning, the affected tissue is isolated and removed.

Miracles do happen – every day in medicine.

Joan Statkus:

Interview With An Actress

By Bart Naylor
and
N. P. Janopaul

In an early scene, she appears as an older aggressive New Yorker, defending a bus seat. Minutes later, she is a gossipy waittress in a classy restaurant. Not 15 minutes after, she is a Spaniard dancing the tango. Next, a Japanese restauranteer. Then, the headlights of a Ferrari. At the beginning of a subsequent scene, she plays a military like usher at a porn movie, directing people to their seats with a clacker, then returns as an old bag, self-appointed to prevent perversion among the audience, — and finally as a prostitute.

Of course the actress is Joan Statkus. She has been delighting Blue Barn audiences for five years now, enacting character roles in plays as diverse as "A Delicate Balance," "Taming of the Shrew," and the one described above, "Sunday in New York." She is known by her ever growing number of admirers as an artist of tremendous energy and talent.

The admiration is reciprocal; Statkus enjoys Garrett County. "When Gene Yell first asked me to come to his playhouse, I was really thrilled. 'Wow' I said, 'Let's go now' ". At the time, she was a student at the University of New Mexico, where Yell is a professor — Now Emeritus —, and where he taps most of his Blue Barn talent.

"The countryside is beautiful, and Gene takes care of us really well. We have our own playhouse, and our own place to stay. Sixty acres of virgin hemlock. Its really quiet, a great place to learn lines."

"It's work. We have six or seven weeks of shows, and each week is a new show. So while we're performing one at night, we're rehearsing for the next one during the day. Some people think we play around all the time, and then get up on stage four nights a week."

But while Statkus works very hard at her craft, she loves the stage. "That's where I get joy in life. I can't believe they're paying me to do it. When I'm between shows, I go crazy. I have to work."

Statkus came to acting by accident. At the University of New Mexico, she was studying to be an interpretor. As an elective, she took a theatre course. She was a natural. "I wasn't good at anything else, but I was good at acting." The combination of her native ability, and some inspiring teachers, such as Yell, reshaped her course of study. She began to appear in more and more plays, gaining valuable experience. "You can't learn acting from a book."

Though competition was keen, she was selected for engagements with professional companies, and has been a professional for four years now.

This year, she toured throughout the mid-west for nine months doing an adaptation of "The Taming of the Shrew for Ozark Productions. She played before all sorts of audiences — schools, clubs, etc., in all sorts of theatres. One was a gymnasium holding 800 people, with no audio system.

"I wasn't good at anything else, but I was good at acting."

"Coming to Garrett County is like a vacation . . ."

Statkus feels that live theatre is very important. "Everybody should see a live show. There's nothing like it. It's exciting. You're right there. Something could go wrong. You never know. It's real people. People should go at least once. They'll probably come back."

At times, during her tour this year, Statkus had problems. "Some of the audiences just didn't know how to act. They didn't know they were supposed to be quiet and listen. They didn't know how to act as an audience."

She is enthusastic, however, about the Garrett County audience. "They're very supportive. And they want to be involved. I've had people come up to me after a show and complement me. And then they want to know if they can help out, doing props and all."

And she is appreciative of friendliness. One theatre goer invited her sailing. "I thought we were just going out for a little half hour jaunt. I was pulling sails for three hours — we were in a regatta."

Statkus is game for such adventure. Her bouyant personality and laughing manner have won her many friends. "Coming to Garrett County is like a vacation. I am doing plays all the time, but it is in one place; I don't have to move around like on tour. And I have many friends. It's really great."

Mayhem in the mansion

Marx Brothers in 'Animal Crackers'

ON THE LOOSE – Where there's a Marx Brother, chaos is not far behind, as the four brothers – Chico, Groucho, Harpo and Zeppo – prove once again in their second film, the classic "Animal Crackers," being shown on television for the first time.

The crazy antics of the Marx Brothers – Chico, Groucho, Harpo and Zeppo – disrupt the lives of the uppercrust in "Animal Crackers,' the comedy classic, to be broadcast for the first time on television as a special movie presentation Saturday, July 21, on CBS.

The black and white movie was released theatrically in 1930 by Paramount Pictures and rereleased in 1974 by Universal Pictures.

Excitement runs high at the Rittenhouse mansion: Mrs. Rittenhouse (Margaret Dumont) has scored a social coup for her house party – the intrepid African explorer, Captain Spaulding (Groucho Marx), is to be her guest of honor and the renowned art collector, Roscoe Chandler (Louis Sorin), will unveil his latest acquisition, a famous French masterpiece.

The combination leads to comic disaster. Spaulding's barrage of insults and non-sequiturs leaves Mrs. Rittenhouse baffled. Her exasperation is tripled when a duo of antic musicians (Chico and Harpo Marx) come to her house, supposedly to entertain. Then her daughter (Lillian Roth) and her social rival (Margaret Irving), separately switch copies for the art masterpiece. Meanwhile, the authentic painting disappears. And the chaos truly begins.

Victor Heerman directed from a screenplay by Morrie Ryskind, based on a musical play by George S. Kaufman, Ryskind, Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby.

As for the Marx Brothers, although they had cult audiences rolling in the aisles with their antics in the '30s, it wasn't until later that audiences saw the enormous impact their craziness had on comedy.

Individually, the most famous of the brothers were: Chico (1886-1961) (Leonard Marx) played the piano with a rather bizarre verve and spoke for unknown reasons with an Italian accent that many people had a hard time deciphering. Harpo (1888-1964) (Adolph Marx) wore cherubic golden curls and played the harp, but never spoke. When he had something to say he used sign language, whistles, eye winks and an occasional horn honk. Somehow, he usually got his point across. Groucho (1890-1978) (Julius Marx) had a moustache (painted on), a cigar, a stooped-over, long-legged walk and more than his share of the wisecracks and jokes. In the end, it was Groucho's career that lasted the longest, leaving him idolized by millions in the end for his laughs and leers.

There were also two other brothers who worked in the early days: Gummo (Milton Marx) left the act early on, and Zeppo (Herbert Marx) never quite fit in with the madness, as the straight man and romantic lead, and left after the first five films. These first five films were, however, their best, and contain some of the funniest secenes ever captured on film.

"Animal Crackers" was the second of these early movies. Among the other goodies were: "Coconuts," "Monkey Business," "Horse Feathers," "Duck Soup," "A Night at the Opera" and "A Day at the Races."

Small Business Institute Ends Busiest Year Ever

The year ending June 30, 1979, was the busiest year in the history of the Institute for Small Business at Frostburg State College, according to an announcement by James F. DeCarlo, Jr., Institute Director.

A total of 576 clients received management assistance during the year. This represents an increase of 11 percent over last year's record total. Of those receiving assistance, 242 were located in Allegany County, 74 in Garrett County, and 110 in Washington County. The remainder were from other parts of Maryland and adjacent areas of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The most common problem area was that of financial analysis. Prebusiness assistance was the area which generated the second largest number of requests.

During the year, the Institute sponsored 42 training sessions which were attended by a total of 445 participants. "We redirected our resources so that we could spend more of our energies on training members of the small business community," DeCarlo said.

DeCarlo also said that the training schedule would be further expanded during the coming months.

Institute counselors were successful in securing financing for 26 client firms during the period. A total of $3,269,703 was provided to these clients. All of these loans were made by area banks and 25 of them were guaranteed by the U. S. Small Business Administration. The dollar amount represents a 72 percent increase over the amount provided a year earlier.

As a result of this financial assistance, at least 220 jobs were created or maintained. This compares to 129 jobs which were effected during the same period a year earlier.

The Institute for Small Business was founded as a community service of Frostburg State College's Center for Management Development in August, 1973.

In addition to support provided by the College, the Institute receives technical and financial assistance from the Appalachian Regional Commission, the U. S. Department of Commerce, the Regional Education Service Agency, and the U. S. Small Business Administration.

The Institute operates walk-in counseling centers in Oakland, Cumberland, and Hagerstown, in addition to the on-campus center in Frostburg.

Anyone desiring further information about the Institute for Small Business can call 301-689-4417, or write to the Institute at Frostburg State College.

Garrett County Continues To Lead In Bond Sales

Garrett County continues to lead the state in sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds.

As of the end of May, Garrett County had sold a 1979 cumulative total of $261,056 in bonds. This figure represents 67% of Garrett County's 1979 quota of $391,860, ranking the county number one in bond sales among the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City.

Baltimore City ranked second for the period, followed by Cecil County, Anne Arundel County, and Wicomico County. Allegany County ranked 12th.

By the end of April, the total sales for the entire state was $57.569 million, or 30.9% of the state's $186.6 million quota.

Federal Grant Boosts Surface Mining Control

Maryland has received a $122,412 Federal grant under the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, according to Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus.

The Secretary said the OSM allocation will assist Maryland in covering additional costs it has incurred in administering and enforcing the initial requirements of the Act. He said the new law was passed to help protect the environment, public health and safety from destructive surface coal mining practices.

Secretary Andrus stated he was pleased with Maryland's record of enforcing the Act's initial rules and also said "the additional funds will enable the State to further improve its regulatory program."

Maryland's Energy and Coastal Zone Administration, Bureau of Mines, headed by L. E. Zeni, will receive the grant. It will be used to employ five persons, including two inspectors and one inspector-supervisor, one hydrogeologist, one clerk stenographer; to purchase a vehicle, and to pay for an engineering review services contract.

The grants program is administered by Interior's Office of Surface Mining (OSM) headed by Director Walter N. Heine.

Prior to the new Federal law, Maryland had 11 persons employed in the surface mine regulatory program. It is expected to increase to 17 by 1981.

Since the Act was signed in 1977, Maryland received $158,640 to administer the initial requirements. The current $122,412 Federal grant provides funding until November 30 of this year when a third grant will be negotiated.

Maryland's coal industry in 1977 employed more than 890 persons, primarily in Garrett County, and produced an estimated 3,028,628 tons of coal.

Fire Marshal's Office Receives $39,150 Grant

The Maryland Department of Transportation has granted $39,150 in federal funds to the State Fire Marshal's Office for two programs to reduce deaths and injuries from accidents involving hazardous materials.

Since 1973, four deaths and 70 injuries have resulted from 610 hazardous materials accidents in the state.

The safety funds will be used to purchase Maryland's second Hazardous Incident Response Vehicle (HIRV) and to train emergency personnel to deal with highway, air and rail accidents involving acids, nuclear materials, flammable or poisonous gases, and other dangerous chemicals.

Maryland is the only state to operate an HIRV. Since it began operation on November 15, 1978, the original truck has responded to over 25 hazardous materials accidents.

According to State Fire Marshal James C. Robertson, a second HIRV is needed because of the long distances that the truck sometimes must travel from its home base in Bel Air to the scene of an accident.

"In the past few weeks, we've had two accidents near Hagerstown and it took over two hours for the truck to get there," he said.

The HIRV carries full protective firefighting clothing, equipment to plug leaking chemical tanks, monitoring devices to record dangerous chemical levels, chemical dictionaries, a power generator, and a direct communications line to the National Chemical Information Center.

The training program will teach fire, police and other public safety personnel how to safely deal with hazardous materials. Training will include instructions in fighting chemical fires; how to deal with ruptures and pressure buildups in tank cars; and the proper procedures for evacuating the public.

Fire and police academies and the University of Maryland's Fire and Rescue Institute will provide training throughout the state.

Under the Transportation Safety Grant Program, the Division of Transportation Safety at the Maryland Department of Transportation will commit over $3 million in federal funds for state-wide transportation safety projects during fiscal 1979.

Rep. Byron Seeks Commitment To Coal Production

Citing massive U. S. coal reserves and the need to sharply curb foreign oil imports, Rep. Beverly Byron has joined forces with congressional sponsors of a resolution urging the immediate and increased production and use of domestic coal.

"I just do not understand how we can continue to import over 40 percent of our oil and not make adequate use of the 300 to 500 year supply of proven coal reserves in our own backyard," Byron said.

"Expanded coal production is mandatory if we are to meet the energy needs of the next decade, because our economy just cannot withstand outlays like the estimated $60 billion we will be paying for oil imports in 1979.

"One of the ways we can hold down spiraling inflation and equalize our evergrowing balance of payments deficit is to end our dependence on the whims of OPEC. This can be done by moving ahead with a total national commitment to coal.

"I recently co-sponsored the House-passed bill calling for the production of 500,000 barrels a day of synthetic fuels by 1985, but the success of this oil substitute program depends chiefly on coal. Without it, our nation's synfuel goals just cannot be met," Byron said.

The 6th District Congresswoman, a member of the Congressional Coal Caucus, also pointed out that an emphasis on coal production would aid the economy of rural Appalachia.

"Western Maryland and other similar regions of our country have suffered from the depressed state of the coal industry and stringent environmental restrictions on the use of this natural resource," she said.

"Pursuit of a realistic national goal for more coal use would have a beneficial side effect by easing the chronic unemployment problems in this area," she noted.

"In short, we cannot afford to delay any longer," Byron concluded.

Wedding vows were exchanged July 14 in Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Frostburg, between Patricia Elaine Blocher, Morgantown, and Dr. Ronald Lee Cleavenger, Morgantown.

Her veil was of fingertip layers of illusion attached to a Juliet cap of Venise lace.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white daisies and white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Emma Jean DeWitt, sister of the bride from El Paso, Texas, was matron of honor. Mrs. Sally Williams, cousin of the bride, Swanton; Miss Louanne Porach, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Miss Lisa Beachy, and Mrs. Kay Layman, Grantsville, were bridesmaids.

Best man was Dr. David McCarus, Baltimore. Ushers were Dr. Charles Capito, Charleston, WV; Dr. David Bowman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Clifford Cleavenger, brother of the groom, Clarksburg, WV; and John Blocher, Jr., brother of the bride, Frostburg.

Ringbearer was Brian Patrick DeWitt, nephew of the bride, El Paso. Flower girl was Courtney Cleavenger, niece of the groom, Clarksburg.

A reception followed the ceremony at the American Legion, Grantsville. Music was furnished by J. C. Transit, Charles Town. Miss Sharon Norwich, Morgantown, and Miss Denise Vallet, Eighty Four, Pa., registered the guests and attended the gift table.

For her going-away costume, the bride chose a blue and white striped skirt and vest outfit accented by white jersey with strawberry applique. The couple is presently on a cruise from Miami, Fla. to Nassau.

The bride is a graduate of West Virginia University School of Nursing and is presently employed as a staff nurse at the Maternal and Infant Clinic, Morgantown.

The bridegroom is a graduate of West Virginia University School of Medicine and is presently doing his second year of residency in Family Practice at the West Virginia Medical Center in Morgantown.

To Represent Mt. Storm At Forest Festival

Mt. Storm will be represented in the annual Mountain State Forest Festival this fall by Jacqueline Marie Clark. Miss Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark, of Mt. Storm, and was appointed princess by Senator J. D. Hinkle, Sr.

The future princess is a senior at West Virginia University, majoring in physical education and later plans to pursue a career in industrial safety. The five-foot-eight-inch brunette is an avid sportswoman and member of the girls' rugby team.

The week-long festival which is dedicated to the preservation and conservation of the state's natural resources will be held in Elkins September 30 to October 7. As a part of the conservation emphasis, a tree will be symbolically planted during the coronation ceremonies when Grace Ann Gainer of Richwood, will be crowned Queen Silvia on Friday, October 5.

Merchants Plan Sidewalk Sale

The downtown Oakland merchants have scheduled their annual Sidewalk Sale for August 3 and 4.

Groups and organizations desiring to put up a street booth during the sale must have a permit, which will be issued by the Merchants' Association. Permits, and further information about the sale, may be obtained through Delores Ryanovich, at 334-9302, or Tom Ritchie, at 334-2321.

Energy Tip — Crock pots or slow cookers use more energy than other types of surface cooking. Using a higher temperature for a shorter cooking time requires 12 to 22% less energy than does a lower setting for a longer cooking time.

Know Before You Mow — Grass has a way of growing, whether you want it to or not. It seems that the only way to keep your lawn from looking like a jungle is to regularly mow those blades down.

The most powerful weapon in the homemaker's arsenal for this type of task is the power mower, or for larger areas, the lawn tractor. The trick is not to become a casualty yourself in the unending war against your lawn.

I recently received some information from Underwriters Laboratories on lawn mower safety that I would like to share with my readers. UL made the following recommendations:

*Know how to operate the mower before starting it and read the instruction manual.

*Wear proper clothing; safety-toe shoes are advisable.

*Fill the gas tank outdoors with a funnel, away from possible ignition sources. Firmly replace the gas cap.

*Check the lawn and remove any obstacles that could be thrown by the mower.

*Keep other people and pets out of the mowing area.

*Never cut grass when it is wet or when there is not enough light.

*Before starting, be sure the mower is on level ground, disengage all clutches and stand to one side. Keep hands and feet away from the blade area.

*Do not walk in front of the mower's discharge chute while the motor is running.

*If your mower is self-propelled, it was designed to go at a certain speed—DO NOT force it to mow faster than that speed.

*If mowing on an incline with a walk behind mower, mow across the incline, never up and down. If using a lawn tractor do the opposite, mow up and down to prevent overturning.

*Lay out the power cord of an electric mower carefully to avoid cutting it with blades. In addition, mow away from the electric outlet so that you will not be constantly crossing the cord and having to move it.

*Never leave your mower running unattended. Shut off and disconnect the spark wire or power cord.

*Store gasoline in a UL listed safety storage can.

*Never yank electric power mower cords from the outlet. Always use the proper UL listed extension cord with the mower.

*Always keep mower in top operating condition.

*If you should hit a foreign object, UL engines advise taking these steps:

1. Cut off the power or if electric, disconnect.
2. Inspect the mower for damage.
3. Have the damage repaired before restarting the mower.

If conditions as of July 1 continue through harvest, production should reach 56.3 million bushels, 2 percent less than last year's crop. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Walter L. Kamp who passed this earthly life 11 years ago, July 22, 1968.

The day the doctors told us we shed a million tears, for we knew you would be leaving, how we hoped it would be years. Then each day we saw you weaken, we knew you could not last, so we prayed Dear God in Heaven, do what You think is best. In tears we watched you lie there, watched you slowly fade away; they tended you with loving care but could not make you stay. But God in all His wisdom knew that you needed rest, and how it hurt to lose you, we know that God knows best. There is a bridge called memories from earth to Heaven above, it keeps us ever near you, it's the bridge that we call LOVE.

Homeowners' Tax Credit Available

Now that county property tax bills have been mailed out, the State Department of Assessments and Taxation reminded homeowners this week that they may be eligible for a Homeowner's Tax Credit of up to $900 from the State of Maryland. The Department said homeowners must apply in order to receive this credit, however, they should not think it is too late to receive the credit because the tax bills have already been mailed.

Application forms are readily available at all assessment offices, public libraries and banks. After July 20, 1979, the forms will also be available in display boxes at the major chain grocery stores.

Homeowners having questions about their eligibility for a tax credit may call the special statewide public information telephone number of the Homeowners' Tax Credit Program. Persons living in the Baltimore metropolitan area should call 321-3750 and persons living elsewhere should call, toll-free, 1-800-492-3790.

Judge Thayer Delays Decision In Bolden Vs. Commissioners Suit

Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer has delayed a decision in the case of Del. DeCorsey Bolden vs. the Garrett County Commissioners until he has had time to review the case, and until after final briefs are submitted next Monday.

He made his announcement at the conclusion of a 2½-hour hearing Monday, in which Del. Bolden and his attorney, Thomas Dabney, attempted to prove the commissioners had neglected to follow provisions of a revision in Article 81, Section 232 of the Annotated Code of Maryland in setting the county tax rate for fiscal 1980.

Although all three commissioners were named in the suit, Commissioner chairman Truman Paugh and Commissioner H. Lester Hunter retained the services of county attorney Jack Turney, while Commissioner Ernie Gregg, Jr. had elicited the services of his personal attorney, Robert Watson.

Del. Bolden had requested a temporary restraining order prohibiting the commissioners from imposing a $2.66 per $100 of tax rate for the coming fiscal year. This rate is a 21-cent increase over last year's rate of $2.45 per $100, and is 29 cents higher than the constant yield rate for the coming year.

In his suit, Del. Bolden had charged that the commissioners failed to observe the provision which declares that if the tax rate levied exceeds the constant yield rate, this must be announced in legal advertising prior to the public hearing. His suit also maintains that the commissioners failed to announce the day, time and place the tax rate would be adopted, as well as failed to observe a 14-day waiting period between the public hearing and formal adoption of the rate.

The public hearing had been scheduled for June 5, but was postponed until June 11 at the request of Commissioner Gregg so that the public would have a chance for greater input.

Mr. Dabney called Del. Bolden as his first witness. Del. Bolden pointed out that he had been a member of the General Assembly committee which had approved the revised annotated code sections dealing with adoption of the tax rates and the constant yield in 1977.

Del. Bolden stated that it was the intent of the revision to see that the public is kept informed of changes in the tax rate, and be allowed to increase input into the setting of the tax rate.

Commissioner Gregg took the stand at the request of his attorney. During cross examination, Mr. Turney asked Mr. Gregg if he was aware the commissioners were in possible violation of the revised annotated code, prior to adoption of the tax rate, and Mr. Gregg stated that he was aware of this, but that he did not point it out to the other commissioners because he considered himself a "minority member" due to his opposition to the tax increase.

Commissioner chairman Paugh and Commissioner Hunter took the stand in their defense, and both said they felt that although no actual date and time was announced at the June 11 hearing, to approve the tax rate, the date was implied by Commissioner Gregg when he said at the hearing that the rate would be adopted within "a week to a week and a half" from the time of the hearing. The rate was actually adopted at the June 19 Commissioner meeting, and later ratified by a 2-1 vote July 10. Commissioner Gregg has remained the dissenting voter on the tax increase.

Attorney Turney raised a formal objection to the fact that Attorney Watson is a partner in the law office of Mr. Dabney, counselor for the plaintiff. Judge Thayer said, however, that this was not an issue before the court at this time.

Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt did not call his client, county treasurer Arzella Parsons, to the stand. In her answer to the suit filed by Bolden, Mrs. Parsons had indicated that she would abide by any decision rendered by Judge Thayer.

Judge Thayer had ruled over two weeks ago that Mrs. Parsons could mail the 18,000 tax bills showing the $2.66 tax rate to property owners.

Jobless Rate For Garrett County Decreases Sharply

After reaching a high of 7.2 percent in February, Maryland's unemployment rate declined in May for the third consecutive month to register a 1979 low of 5.1 percent, according to a release from the Maryland Department of Human Resources. This figure compares with an April rate of 5.4 percent and a 5.3 percent rate recorded a year a go in May, 1978.

The jobless rate for Garrett County for May was 9.4 percent, representing more than a three-point decrease from the April figure of 12.6 percent. Garrett County's rate was fourth highest in the state. The number of employed persons in Garrett County increased from 9,769 in April to 10,152 in May.

Allegany County's unemployment figure for May was 9.6 percent. Howard County had the state's lowest rate in May at 2.8 percent.

In the Baltimore Metropolitan Area, the unemployment rate fell from 5.8 percent in April to 5.6 percent in May. This compares with the 5.8 percent rate recorded in May, 1978. The number of employed persons in the metropolitan area increased to nearly 998,000 persons.

Employment in the state continued to climb, with 93,000 workers added to payrolls between February and May. Seasonal expansion in construction, retail trade, finance insurance, real estate, and service industries accounted for much of the increase in employment, the Department said.

Gorman Water Project Bids Exceed Estimate By More Than $400,000

It was discovered Tuesday that bids for the Gorman water project were a substantial amount higher than the amount of grant and loan money obtained by the county to subsidize the project. The county had obtained $550,000 for the project which would serve 100 families, while the apparent low bidder was Walter N. Yoder, Cumberland, with a bid of $970,900.

The four bids submitted were opened Tuesday at 1:30 in the engineering office of the Garrett County Courthouse.

Tom Jones, who has been affiliated with the Sanitary Commission project for the past three years, said that apparently when the consulting engineering firm formulated the cost estimates, the company did not take into account the fact that union labor would have to be used, at the prevailing wage rates.

This, according to Mr. Jones, would account for some of the disparity in the two figures, but certainly not all of the amount.

Presently the consulting firm, Thomas B. Bourne Associates from Beltsville, is tabulating the bids. Dick Nace, County Engineer, is contacting the Yoder firm to compare engineering estimates, and to see where costs may be reduced.

A meeting between the Sanitary Commission, consulting engineers and the Farmers Home Administration had been tentatively scheduled next Monday evening to discuss alternatives.

According to Mr. Jones, presently there are several alternatives available, including substantially reducing costs where possible, applying for additional FmHA funding and grants, or, in light of cost feasibility factors, scrapping the project.

Members of the Garrett County Commissioners were present for the bid opening in addition to Sanitary Commissioner members.

Silver Knob Safe, Contents Stolen Tuesday Night

Thieves hit Silver Knob Sand and Block Company south of Oakland last night, carrying off the safe and contents. An estimated $5,000 in cash and checks are missing, along with company ledger sheets and payroll checks which had already been made out for employees.

According to Jesse Gnegy, plant manager, he noticed that the bathroom window had been pushed in when he arrived for work early this morning. The back door had then been opened, and he surmised that was how the safe was removed.

The safe, of gray metal, was approximately 18 inches wide and three feet high, and weighed approximately 100 pounds.

A chain link fence across the front of the property had not been tampered with, although authorities from the sheriff's department found a screwdriver at the upper gate. The gate was locked when Mr. Gnegy came to work, however.

Neighbors contributed the information that their dog had begun barking about 1 a.m., but actual time of the theft could not be pinpointed.

Swanton Man Hospitalized After Shooting Mishap

A Swanton area man who sustained gunshot wounds in an accident near his home last Wednesday remains in satisfactory condition in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Robert James Collins, 36, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by members of the Southern Rescue Squad.

According to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Mr. Collins reported he was deer hunting near his home on the Old Wilson Road, not far from Altamont, when he slipped. He evidently used his semi-automatic .22 calibre rifle to break his fall, and the gun went off. The bullet penetrated his right abdomen and exited above the navel, then went through his left forearm.

Charges are pending, according to deputies.

BLOCK TRUCK OVERTURNS — Elwood Sweitzer, 47, of Oakland, was only slightly injured yesterday morning after the Silver Knob Sand Company block truck he was operating overturned on U. S. Rt. 219, approximately two miles north of Red House. The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and the Oakland Fire Department were summoned to the scene at 7:56 a.m. Mr. Sweitzer stated that a spring on the right side of the truck broke, causing him to lose control of the loaded vehicle which then dropped off the shoulder of the highway. Sweitzer was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was checked for injury and released.

LOADS OF FOODS were donated each day for the House of Hope pantry by youngsters attending the annual Vacation Church School in Oakland. Wheeling the wagons up the street from the churchland center at St. Paul's on Friday were Jay Callis, Joy McCain, Barbie Nace, and Danny Peck, students of Gretchen Shaffer and Sandra Irving's second grade class.

Tax Relief Plan Formulated For Homeowners Near Martin Junkyard

The Garrett County Commissioners met with Max Messenger, chairman of the tax assessments appeals board, on Tuesday during the commissioners' regular session to formulate a tax relief plan for owners of properties located near county junkyards.

According to a spokesman for the assessment board, a straight-line percentage figure has been adopted for residents in the vicinity of the Adrian Martin junkyard near Deer Park.

Some 14 homeowners in that area will be notified next week of the reductions in their assessments. Several residents had complained about their assessments, declaring that the junkyard was lowering the market value of their property, and that the site was a visual eyesore.

The reduction will affect only dwellings and farm homes and their adjacent one-acre sites, and will not affect agricultural property.

A percentage figure for reducing assessments for homeowners in the areas of other county junkyards will be formulated on a separate basis, depending upon screening, size, and other factors.

Routine staff meetings were conducted the remainder of the day. Dean Bastianini, administrator for the incorporated towns of the county, briefed the commissioners on a meeting held last Thursday with representatives of the Department of Economic and Community Development, Oakland town officials and businessmen to discuss services the DECD might offer for revitalization of downtown Oakland. Additional details about that meeting are contained in a separate news story in this week's issue.

PSC Conducts Hearing On C & P Rate Request

A request by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for an altered rate structure aimed primarily at the Maryland business community was the subject of a public hearing held Tuesday night by the Public Service Commission in the Allegany County office building.

The company has requested changes which would increase revenues $36.3 million, six percent of its present rate of return.

Included in the request is implementation of time-based charges for business calls, a feature designed primarily to increase revenue from larger businesses in the Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area.

C&P is also seeking increases for auxiliary and other

Deer Park Couple Charged With $1,216 Forgeries

A Deer Park couple was arrested last week on charges of forging $1,216 worth of checks from the account of Joe Holtschneider.

According to police reports, Oliver Weimer, 50, and his wife, Georgia, 44, were charged on 47 counts of uttering forged checks. Other charges are pending, according to police and the state's attorney's office, which is cooperating in the investigation. Mr. Weimer has been released on $1,000 bond, while his wife is free on $500 bond.

The couple apparently was living with Holtschneider on Spring Glade Road when the alleged forgeries took place.

Truck Overturns Tuesday Morning On Route 219

The driver of a truck loaded with concrete blocks escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when his vehicle overturned on Route 219, shortly before 8 a.m., one-half mile south of Ben DeWitt Road near Red House.

Elwood Sweitzer, driver of the vehicle, reported to Tfc. L. N. Smith that he was traveling south on Route 219 when the U-bolts on the rear tandem on the driver's side snapped. This allowed the front tandems to move backwards, severing the brake lines. The vehicle then swerved off the right side and overturned.

The driver was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, where he was treated and released.

The southbound lane of Route 219 remained closed from the time of the mishap until 11:30, when a large tow truck from Cumberland righted the vehicle.

St. George Man Killed Tuesday In Mine Rock Fall

One man was killed and a second worker injured about 7:15 a.m. Tuesday in a rock fall at Island Creek's Dobbin Mine No. 1, not far from Bayard, WV.

Killed was Monty R. Hedrick, 27, of St. George, who was a roof bolter operator at the mine. He reportedly was struck in the head by the large section of roof which fell. Hedrick had been employed by Island Creek since 1977, and had worked at the new Dobbin unit since April of this year.

Injured was Beryle F. Lockie, 48, also a roof bolter. She was transported to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. She was admitted to the hospital and was listed Tuesday afternoon in "satisfactory" condition.

Members of the Petersburg detachment of the West Virginia State Police investigated the incident, along with Island Creek officials and state and federal mine safety workers.

Accident Given $61,824 For Community Park

John Nelson, of the Department of Zoning office, announced this week that the town of Accident has been awarded funds totaling $61,824 for the construction of the Accident Community Park. The request for funds, which had been submitted in May, was approved by the Board of Public Works on June 29.

The funds will be used for the purchase and surveying of 12½ acres of land located near Accident, owned by Gustav Baumann. Some of the tentative features of the park include picnic areas, hiking areas, a pavilion and tennis courts.

The funds were awarded via Program Open Space, through which there is an allocation to each county in the state.

Swanton Couple Arrested For Drug Possession

A Swanton couple has been arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and with manufacturing a controlled dangerous substance.

David and Crystal Shaffer, Green Glade Road, turned themselves in July 20 to the sheriff's department, after the department had recovered some 100 marijuana plants from near their residence the preceding day.

Mrs. Shaffer, 18, was released on bond on the 20th, while her husband, age 21, remained in custody until July 23.

Oakland Council Discusses Water Tank Restoration

Rehabilitation of the Oakland water tanks and a report on the quality of town water were among items on the agenda of the Thursday, July 19 meeting of the Oakland Town Council held at the town hall.

James Haskins, water consultant, presented his study of the rehabilitation of the town water tanks in which he listed four alternatives. Other than the option to do nothing at all, the differences in the alternatives were most obvious in the prices which ranged from $220,000 to $275,000. The council decided to further study the matter at a later date.

A report from Franklin Associates on the quality of Oakland water recommended a change in the lab techniques at the water plant as well as more training in chemistry provided to the plant operators.

In other business, the council approved the request made by the Jr. Women's Civic Club of Oakland to repaint the Center Street playground equipment and agreed to fund the paint.

The council also discussed the progress in the town's request to the Garrett County Sanitary Commission for permission to proceed independently to employ a consultant to perform studies of the Oakland sewer system. The town also requested permission to become a separate sanitary district. The commission had not yet responded to the council's request.

Other items on the council's agenda included:

—a preview of the presentation to be made that evening to the Oakland community by Mark Friedman of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development.

—discussion of the Bradley Run Sewer Project.

—discussion of the Ordinance for Abandoned Cars and Unkept Properties in which the council decided to review the ordinance before the next meeting.

—approval of the payment of workmen's compensation for town employees for the 1979-80 fiscal year. The total amount was quoted at $9400.

—discussion of the Broad Ford Dam during which the report was made that work was continuing on reinstallation of the spillway valve.

Stolen Vehicle Recovered Saturday

Members of the sheriff's department recovered a stolen vehicle and investigated several other larcenies reported during the past several days.

On July 14, deputies determined that a vehicle found abandoned the previous day along Route 560 was the property of Bell Brothers. The vehicle a 1965 Jeep pickup, had been hot wired and removed from the Bell Brothers used car lot earlier that week.

Guns and a power saw were removed from a pickup along Swallow Falls Road Monday night. Reporting the larcenies was Mark Mayle, who told police that a Stihl saw, a .357 magnum and a .22 magnum Marlin rifle were removed from the vehicle. Total loss value was $750.

Two residents from Hazelhurst Road near Swanton reported gasoline larcenies July 18. Charles and Lester Howdyshell estimated that someone had siphoned a total of $35 worth of gas from their tanks.

Frank Grayburn, Pittsburgh, reported that someone had entered his cottage off State Park Road between July 4 and 14. The back door had been kicked in, but it has not yet been ascertained if anything is missing.

Sylvia Stemple, Route 50 near Red House, reported July 23 that unknown persons had smashed her car windows and headlights. Total damaged to the 1973 Duster was estimated at $400.

Two Employees Meet Head On, Both Injured

Mettiki employees from different shifts met head-on Wednesday morning when their vehicles collided on Route 50 approximately a mile west of Table Rock.

Operators of both vehicles were injured, and were transported by Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

According to the Maryland State Police report filed by Tfc. L. N. Smith, Joseph Swerbinski, Oakland, was traveling to work, eastbound on Route 50, when his vehicle apparently crossed the center line and collided with a 1973 Gremlin operated by Charles David Upole, also Oakland. Upole was enroute home after work.

Both drivers sustained cuts and abrasions. Swerbinski, operator of a 1975 Volkswagen, was the more seriously injured, with a cut under his chin which required numerous stitches.

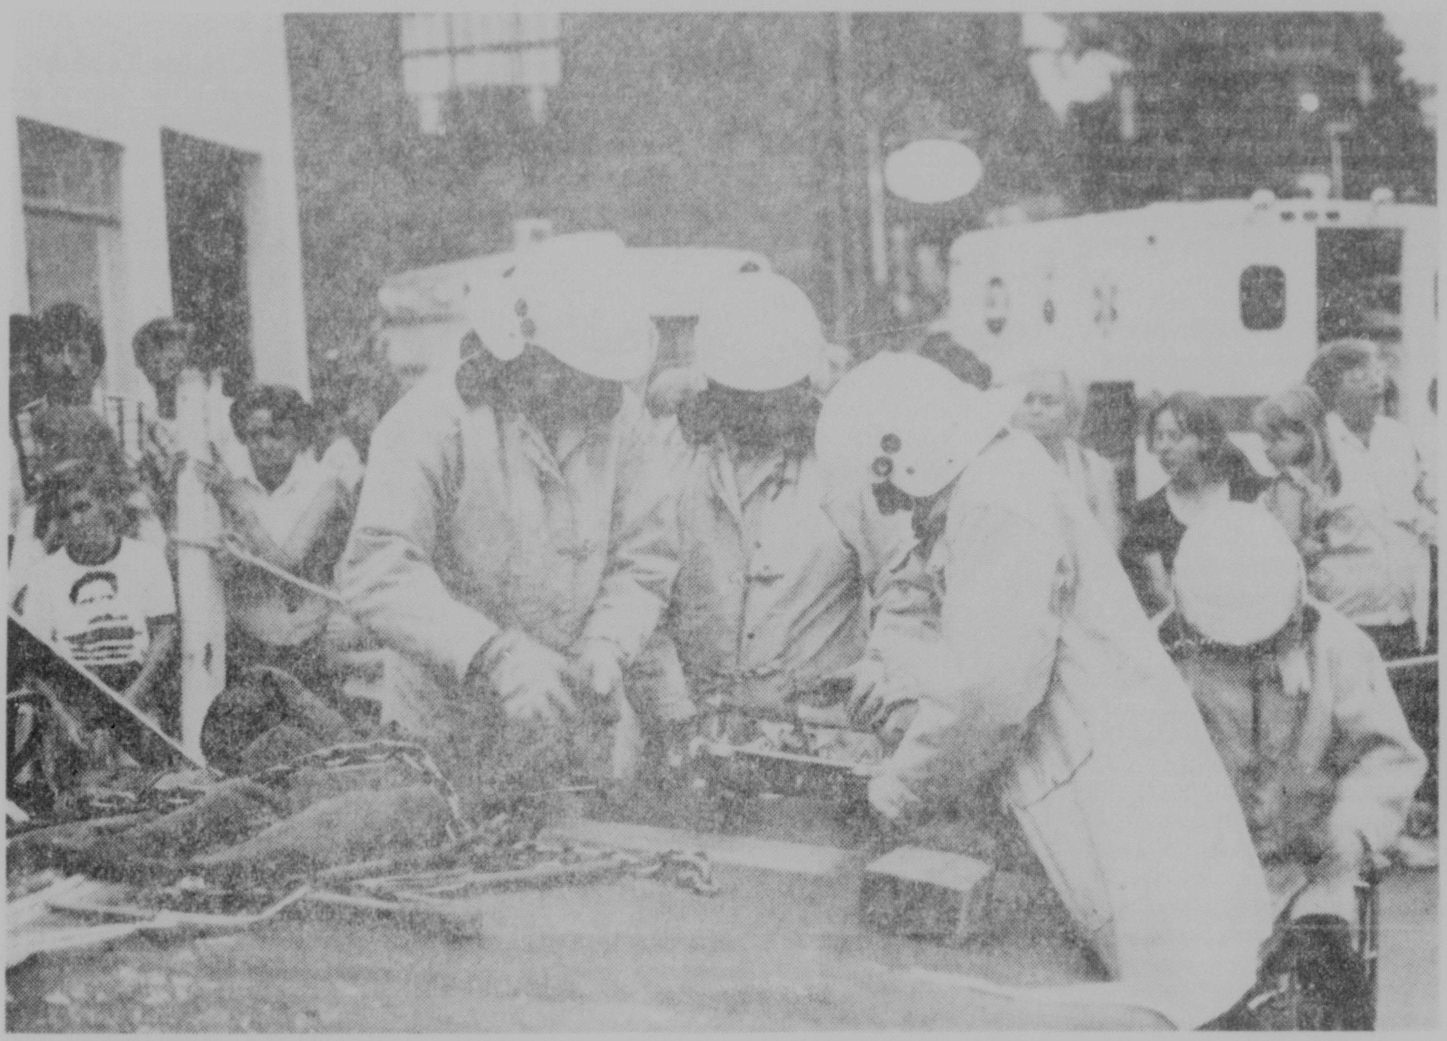
Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad Holds Open House July 13



SOUTHERN RESCUE HOLDS OPEN HOUSE — What appears to be a group of aliens from the motion picture Star Wars is actually a car extrication team from the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad showing off their expertise for the benefit of approximately 200 persons who attended Southern Rescue's Open House on July 13 at the squad hall on Oak Street, Oakland. Various techniques in first aid, communications, and rescue work were demonstrated by members of the squad to allow the general public to become more acquainted with the capabilities and functions of the organization. Blood pressures of visitors were recorded and refreshments were served. The team pictured above literally tore an automobile to pieces within minutes and carried out a mock rescue of other members of the squad "trapped" in the car. Below, the team peels off the roof of the car as if opening a can of sardines.

EOA DEMONSTRATION — Southern Rescue First Lieutenant David Evans, a cardiac rescue technician, demonstrated to interested visitors the use of the esophagial obturator airway (EOA) a piece of first aid equipment used with patients suffering from cardiac and respiratory arrest. The EOA maintains a clear airway by preventing stomach contents from passing into the lungs.

optional and luxury services, such as yellow pages advertising and installation of special equipment and a charge for excessive use of the "411" directory assistance system.

Under the terms of C&P's request, the average residential customer would realize a reduction of about 65 cents per month. Additionally, residential customers would be entitled to 12 free directory assistance calls per month.

Mobile and pay phones would be exempt from the limit of 12 calls to "411" per month. Customers with handicaps which would make them unable to use phone directories would also be eligible for exemptions.

Speaking in opposition to the request was Irving Seltzer, president of Modern Communications Corporation, an Altoona-based firm which operates a telephone answering service in Cumberland.

Seltzer said the PSC should require C&P to "produce for its inspection the physical equipment" which is responsible for the request for the rate increase "and to fully explain the function that it performs."

"While these charges for the moment bear most heavily on business telephone subscribers," Seltzer continued, "I would urge the telephone consuming public to beware of the implications of these outlandish charges, for some day they may apply to you."

Also present to oppose the request was Homer Berry, 221 Mary Street, Cumberland, who said while the proposal now under consideration was aimed primarily at the business community, "they're not fooling anyone as to who will really be paying for it."

Berry said the proposed increases, while not imposed directly on residential customers, would be passed on to customers of the businesses affected.

Assistant People's Counsel Philip Shapiro said the utility was entitled to substantially less than the $36.3 million in additional revenues it is seeking, and said a maximum of $12.4 million was determined by the people's counsel office to be a more reasonable figure.

Shapiro went on to say, however, that figure is reduced to $6.775 million when the company's anticipated growth rate is included in the computation. That figure still allows the company's rate of return to remain at 9.25 percent, a rate set by the PSC in May 1977.

The hearing, which was the sixth in a series of ten on the request, was conducted by former Garrett County Commissioner Wayne Hamilton, appointed to the PSC this year by Gov. Harry R. Hughes.

West Virginians Collide Tuesday On Route 50

Two West Virginians collided on Route 50 at the Red House intersection with Route 219 about 2:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Cited in the mishap was Rhoda Muriel Root, 72, of Thomas, WV, who was northbound on Route 219. Mrs. Root was charged with failure to yield right of way by Maryland State Police Tfc. L. N. Smith. According to his report, Mrs. Root stopped and said she had stopped and looked both ways, but did not see a car operated eastbound on Route 50 by Thurston Wilson Stemple, 23, of Tunnelton.
